Lincoln has always aimed to make available to the public a motor car as nearly perfect as it is possible to produce. . . . In this age of mechanical progress, a natural evolution of this policy is the Lincoln V-12 cylinder. . . . Its background is the traditional Lincoln background . . . expert engineering, painstaking testing, unburied manufacture, world-famous precision methods, and in every activity, the support of the entire Ford organization. Prices of the Lincoln 12 cylinder motor car range from $4300 at Detroit

Engine of 12 cylinders cast in two blocks of six and set at a V angle of 65 degrees to give out-of-step firing and insure smooth operation. Three-point suspension mounted on rubber. Brake horse-power, 150. Bore and stroke— $3\frac{1}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$. Dual down-draft carburetor with special intake silencer and air cleaner. Ignition distributor mounted at rear end of engine. Exhaust pipe carried forward of and below engine to keep heat from front compartment. Silent camshaft drive chain with automatic adjustment, requiring no attention. Soft-acting double-disc clutch. Free-wheeling unit controlled from dash operative in all forward speeds. Transmission equipped with a special synchronizing unit to facilitate gear shifting. Helical second-speed gears insure quiet operation. Wheelbase, 145 inches. Tread, 60 inches. Brakes equipped with vacuum booster to augment foot pedal pressure. Thermostatically controlled radiator shutters and hood ventilators. Springs semi-elliptic—rear, 62 inches; front, 42. Welded steel-spoke, one-piece demountable wheels, diameter, 18 inches, with $7\frac{1}{2}$ -inch tires. Steering, worm and roller. Twenty-three custom and standard bodies.

MIAMI

MIAMI'S sixth annual season of jai alai, the thrilling old Basque game, is under way at Biscayne fronton, its American winter home. Jai alai has long been a popular sport in Miami, attested by the fact that thousands of winter visitors turn out for the games and home folks grow so interested they reserve the same seats for the entire season. The jai alai players here are recruited from Spain, Cuba, Mexico, Peru and Brazil.

* * * *

Miami's seasonal fleet of pleasure is being joined by new recruits daily. The latest big yachts to dock in placid Biscayne Bay include the Vagabondia, 222-foot craft of W. L. Mellon of Pittsburgh, and the Marnell, 135-footer, owned by M. H. Alworth, Duluth, Minn. Both crafts will use Miami as a base this winter.

* * * *

Forty professional golfers will share in the $10,000 prize money to be offered in the new Miami Biltmore open golf tournament here March 18-20. To the winner will go the lion's share of $2,500. The second prize is $1,250, and the third, $1,000. The other prizes, 37 in number, range from $750 for fourth prize down to $25 for the thirty-first to fortieth prize winners. The $10,000 purse makes the Miami Biltmore Open the largest money tournament in the country this year.

* * * *

Young Bob Godwin, the Daytona Beach scrapper, and Joe Knight, the Georgia mauler, will mix gloves in Pa Stripling's first venture since taking over the Madison Square Garden arena here for the season. The scrap, long considered the greatest "natural" south of the Mason-Dixon line, is scheduled for late in January. The two light heavies have met four times and are known as the bitterest rivals in their ranks.

* * * *

Upward of 10,000 delegates will visit Miami to attend conventions of some 16 organizations during the first few months of the year. Probably of greatest importance to Miami will be the convention of the eastern members of the National League of Commission Merchants, scheduled for January 12 to 15. This meeting is expected to bring 2,000 persons to the city for at least a three-day stay.

January will bring the convention of the Select Circle Club to Miami. The club is composed of the quota-winning agents of the Security Mutual Life Insurance Company of Binghamton, N. Y. The Florida Association of School Boards will conduct its sessions here in February with Fred Paradise, Dade County school board member, in charge of the program for the meeting. Several thousand World War veterans are expected in Miami April 7, 8 and 9 for the annual gathering of the Florida department of the American Legion.

Tuesday's racing attracted the largest crowd since the opening of the new track. Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the Mayor of New York, had Mrs. May Bloomfield with her. Col. Sydney M. Shoenberg, of St. Louis; Mrs. Shoenberg and their sons, John H. and Robert M. Shoenberg, occupied a box with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Newburger. Mrs. Frank J. Bruen gave a small luncheon in the clubhouse before the races for a party of friends, others joining the party later to view races.

FOUR COMPLETELY NEW LINES OF MOTOR CARS

We are now presenting for your inspection a distinguished family of four completely new automobiles—a La Salle V-8, a Cadillac V-8, a Cadillac V-12 and a Cadillac V-16.

Nothing that Cadillac has ever accomplished could compare in importance or significance with the introduction of these four new cars. In their obvious fidelity to the highest ideals of conception and construction; in their wholly new and original Fisher and Fleetwood styling; and in the rich luxury of their performance and comfort—they establish standards which no other Cadillac built automobiles have ever approached.

In fact, in all those vital elements which make a motor car more useful and desirable, they go beyond any conceptions the world has thus far had reason to anticipate.

Yet—due to the savings which have been made possible by the greatest manufacturing program in Cadillac history—all four lines of these distinguished new cars are offered at unusually attractive prices.

We join with the Cadillac Motor Car Company in extending you a most cordial invitation to see and drive these new creations. And we ask that you come with high anticipations—for we firmly believe that Cadillac has achieved a very real and fundamental advancement in the development of land transportation.

The following basic improvements are typical of the advanced engineering and construction found throughout the new Cadillacs and La Salles: Triple-silent Syncro-Mesh transmission √ √ Full-range ride regulator √ √ Controlled free wheeling √ √ Six-point rubber-cushioned engine suspension √ √ Cast-molybdenum safety brakes √ √ Super-safe, three-filament headlamps √ √ Exclusive Cadillac no-flex frames √ √ Fixed-adjustment, compression-type spring shackles √ √ Air-cooled fuel lines √ √ Air-cooled generator √ √ Completely new exterior appearance √ √ Increased body dimensions √ √ Thirty per cent greater vision for the driver √ √ Dual-insulated flooring √ √ Sound-proofed bodies √ √ Full-vision Cadillac instrument panel, with watch-crystal dials √ √ Comfort-contour seats and cushions √ √ Free-vision, tri-spoke steering wheel √ √ Custom interior appointments, of new motif √ √ Finest available upholstery fabrics, tailored in the Continental mode √ √ Increased power √ √ Increased gasoline economy √ √ Greater ease of control.

THE SEASON IN PROSPECT

PALM BEACH winter residents are flocking "home." Palm Beach is more nearly "home" to this interesting group of cosmopolites than their summer cottages or town houses. They have a much keener affection for it than for any of the American or European resorts that they visit in their pleasure migrations. It is as peacefully restful as a chalet overlooking Lake Geneva, a chateau on the Marne or an atelier high in the hills at Siena with the added advantage that it affords opportunities for all the pleasures that are most desirable. Everything in entertainment is possible here from the quiet inter-family dinner to the elaborate dinner dance with a complete opera, ballet or full variety programme as incidents of the evening and from a quiet rubber of bridge to the thrill of dog or horse racing within a short drive; with a wide range of sports from clock golf to prize fights.

These opportunities afford broad scope for the ingenuity of hosts and hostesses during a long season under unequalled climatic conditions and few opportunities are overlooked with the result that life at Palm Beach is a symphony of satisfaction, a poem of pleasure and a picture of exotic restfulness all rolled into one and leaves a memory so pleasant and appealing that the moment one season closes winter residents begin looking forward to the next season here.

No other resort in the world is so completely owned by its seasonal residents as Palm Beach and no resort has benefited as much through the interest, activities and material help of the winter colony.

From an obscure village, Palm Beach has risen to its present high estate with an assessed property valuation of $55,850,281 with an annual tax list of a little more than $520,000, all of which, with the exception of $10,000, is paid each year by the winter residents without the aid of a bill collector. The town has a budget of $597,550 for 1932, which is higher than the previous year by $32,840 with a tax rate of nine and a half mills or one-half mill lower than 1931. There is no town debt. The financial municipal status of Palm Beach is higher than that of any other municipality or town in the United States and it has no unemployment problem. Of the approximately one thousand persons employed in and by Palm Beach every one is paid in full on an undiminished scale.

That Palm Beach is the most picturesque of all resorts is due to the active interest of the women of the winter colony who have conceived and carried to a wonderful completion at their own expense elaborate plans for improvements and beautification.

Three notable features of beautification this season are the continuation of work on the Lake Front Park extending 660 feet south of Royal Palm Bridge with a 300-foot fill out from the old shore line, the elimination of the objectionable board walk and shacks in front of the public swimming pool at Worth Avenue and the continuation of the same plan of tree and grass planting and stone wall protection that has so improved the ocean front from Royal Palm Way south to the pier and also the plan and preparation for a new public park and beauty spot two blocks by one block in size, to be completed just south of the public swimming pool on the ocean front.

Careful attention during the summer months to the palms, shrubs and grass on Royal Palm Way and in other sections of the town has further enhanced the natural beauty of the resort. Along the ocean front restrictions now govern satisfactorily new construction work so that no objectionable groynes nor beach encroachments are possible. And few realize that by a state legislative act the limits of the town of Palm Beach have been extended to a point eight miles north of the inlet and to a point ten miles south of Jupiter Light.

With many winter homes now opened, some as early as November, and with others opening each day and all ready for the season, 1932 promises to be even more charmingly lively than in previous years.

From the far northerly reaches of County Road to the seclusion of the Harold Vanderbilt estate, the art of the landscaper has so changed the "picture" aspect of Palm Beach that the early cottagers of the resort in the days of its infancy would hardly recognize it.

While few large homes have been added to the colony during the past summer, virtually every place, both large and small, has been beautified and in such a manner that the schemes of tree, plant and flower ornamentation blend harmoniously with neighboring estates with the enviable result that from end to end Palm Beach presents an exotic panorama of fascinating beauty unequalled in the French or Italian Rivas or elsewhere within the same area limits.

With better aviation facilities and the Port of Palm Beach now sanctioned as a place of entry from foreign countries by air and with road improvements for the motorist and better anchorages for yachts, even of tremendous size, the prospect is that outdoor activities will occupy Palm Beach winter residents more this season than ever and they have always been noted for living much in the open.

Golf, tennis, polo, boat racing and a revival of archery with important tournaments in the major sports of greatest interest at Palm Beach will keep the athletic members of the colony busy both as participants and as spectators.

On the ocean side the various private swimming clubs have increased their facilities and comforts with surf boarding as a feature when the ocean is rough enough to give a real zest of this thrilling imported sport.

Dinner and luncheon clubs are prepared optimistically for a lively season and have attempted to meet more nearly the requirements and wishes of patrons, while the local motion picture theaters have booked the best of the newest pictures; and hotels and other places where dancing is possible have made new bids for patronage on the basis of better music and more satisfactory dance floor regulations.

No phase of the life that Palm Beach likes to live during the winter has been neglected by private estate stewards or commercial purveyors of entertainment.

At the bank, at the Casino and other common meeting places, there are seen daily little reunion gatherings at which the talk drifts to foreign resorts, ocean cruises, summer cottage activities and an interchange of personal gossip with invariably an expression of pleasure and content at being "back home" in Palm Beach.

AVIATION

PALM BEACH and Miami tourists are traveling extensively to Havana this season by means of what is actually the world's most adequate and most luxurious air transportation service, rendered by the American and Caribbean Clipper flying boats of 40 passengers each. These are the largest planes ever built in America and the largest and most luxurious air transports used anywhere in the world in regular air passenger service.

Among the remarkable features of these flying palaces are the instantaneous two-way radio communication between the ships and ground stations, the crews of six men on each ship, the individual over stuffed arm chairs for each traveler, the special smoking lounge and the ultra modern equipment, including life boats inflated by compressed air.

These huge flying boats weigh 17 tons each and have 2300 horsepower, provided by four powerful motors. The cabins are two feet wider than a Pullman car and have a seven-foot ceiling.

* * * *

Visitors to Palm Beach have available daily service to Nassau by means of the 20-passenger flying boats of Pan-American Airways. This is only a two-hour trip from the Dinner Key Seaplane base at Miami. The plane leaving at 8:30 in the morning arrives at the quaint British capital at 10:30. Returning, departures are at three in the afternoon, daily, arriving in Miami at 5, in plenty of time for dinner at Palm Beach.

* * * *

America's largest aviation meet was staged January 7, 8, 9 at Miami's Municipal Airport. More than 100 military planes gave exhibitions of amazing formation flying and commercial and private planes brought the total number of aircraft to well over three hundred.

* * * *

The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of the United States held a three-day conference at the Columbus Hotel in Miami, January 4, 5 and 6, culminating with a large public banquet at which the principal speakers were Clarence Young, Chief of Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce at Washington, and President Juan T. Trippe, of Pan-American Airways system, from New York.

* * * *

Notables arriving in Florida from Havana by air during the past ten days included Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana; John J. McGraw, manager of New York Giants; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Street, Jr., son and daughter-in-law of the noted novelist; Ann Harding, motion picture star; Helen Morgan, singer; "Seth Parker" (Philip Lord), of radio fame; Gar Wood, speed boat king, and Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit.

* * * *

For the first time in history, New Yorkers traveling on various steamboat cruises in the Caribbean will this season have New York newspapers delivered to them when their vessels touch at Nassau and Jamaica. This unusual service is made possible by air express from Miami. More than 50 shipments of newspapers will be made in this manner during this season.

ORMOND BEACH

R. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER arrived at his home, The Casements, before the holidays. He is in splendid health and can be seen each day on the golf course. Among those arriving the first of the season from New York were Miss Helen Rand and Mrs. Louise Crespi. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Albro are among those making reservations for the season from Rye, N. Y. Mr. S. B. Matthews, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Eleanor Matthews, will be at the Hotel Ormond for the entire season. They were among the first arrivals this year and will not return to their home in Rye until late spring.

Arriving from Scarsdale for the season were Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb, of Cleveland.

Mr. C. L. Haines, vice president of the Florida East Coast Hotel system, accompanied by his sister, Miss M. G. Haines, was at the hotel early in the season.

Among the New Yorkers who have made reservations at the Hotel Ormond are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Albro, of the Westchester Country Club, Rye; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Roberts, of Brooklyn; Mrs. R. H. Moister, of Brooklyn; Miss Helen Rand, of New York; Mrs. Sophie Regnier, of New York; Mrs. R. R. Bamber, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Speer, of Englewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jones and Mrs. Cyrus D. Jones, of Brooklyn; Mr. O. C. H. Weatherby, of Englewood, N. J.; Mr. Joseph Hesdorfer, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Benedict, of East Orange, N. J., and Dr. George A. Taylor, of New York.

Others who are to be at Hotel Ormond include Mr. Grant McCargo, president of the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, and Miss E. A. McCargo, both of Pittsburgh; Mr. A. D. Pomroy, of Lockport, N. Y.; Mrs. C. H. Selick and Miss Elsie Selick, of Glen Ridge, N. J.; Mrs. G. M. Whitin, of Whitinsville, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. McKean, of Troy, N. Y.; Mr. F. K. Moore, of Cleveland; Miss A. S. Guthrie, of Washington; Mrs. A. D. Fell, of Pittsburgh; Mr. G. C. Nimmons, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John Schoenewolf, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Muller, all of Baltimore.

Mr. Ray McCarthy, director of promotion and advertising of Florida East Coast, has arranged an elaborate sport program for Ormond Beach, consisting of 11 important golf tournaments, three major tennis tournaments, and two big archery tournaments.

The Florida East Coast championship will be played off at the Ormond Beach Tennis Club, March 14-19. This event is sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Many of the foremost women golfers of this country will enter the women's South Atlantic championship to be held February 23-27 at Ormond.

The schedule of golf events at Ormond Beach is as follows:

January 21: Mixed putting competition. Best eight to qualify for match play. Prizes for winners.

February 2: Men's and women's tournament. Nineteen holes match play against par handicap. Prizes for winners.

February 9-13: Ormond Beach championship. Gold medal qualifying score. Prizes for winners and runners-up in each sixteen. Prizes in each consolation. Qualifying round and finals, 18 holes.

February 16: Ormond Hotel guests, 18 holes handicap medal play for C. D. Jones Memorial Cup.

GOLF AND TENNIS AT PALM BEACH

WITH all signs pointing toward a perfect Palm Beach sports season, aided materially by the superb weather conditions, resort members are concentrating on outdoor diversions which golf and tennis will predominate. Golf, of primary importance, will take the lead. The usual imposing array of tournaments, with players of national and international importance, will give the attractions a special significance and produce a large following.

The first event on the golf program will be the Lake Worth tournament, January 25-29, to be held at the Palm Beach Golf Club, popular resort course, which has been completely revamped this season.

The Palm Beach Country Club, one of the sportiest courses in Florida, opening January 15, will be the scene of one of the outstanding tournaments from point of popularity, when the Artists and Writers gather the week of February 7, for their annual conclave on the Country Club course.

The South Florida Championship, attracting a number of local stars and a large gallery, will hold attention at the Palm Beach Golf Club, February 8-12, terminating the season's tournament play on that course.

Two very important events, the Women's Championship of Florida, February 15-19, and the Championship of Palm Beach, February 29 to March 4, will occupy Palm Beach golf enthusiasts at the Palm Beach Country Club, both matches slated to attract large crowds.

THE PALM BEACH COUNTRY CLUB

The Palm Beach Country Club course, opening January 15, is in the finest condition ever and promises to attract an unusual amount of play this season. With the stage all set for the Annual Artists and Writers Tournament, which will be played here in its entirety instead of the first half in Havana, as it was last year. The personnel of the club will undoubtedly be kept busy checking the flights and taking care of the large gallery which always follows this tournament. Among the groups of American authors and illustrators who will be seen in play are included Grantland Rice, Rex Beach, Clarence Budington Kelland, Rube Goldberg, John Golden, John LaGatta, Jefferson Machamer, Octavus Roy Cohen, H. T. Webster, Arthur William Brown, C. D. Williams, and others of equal fame.

Alex Ritchie, veteran pro, is again in charge of the Palm Beach Country Club, and Gordon Smith is secretary-manager of the club, having the responsibility for the improvement and excellent condition of the clubhouse and grounds. Other members of the personnel are the same as last season: Louis Forte, in charge of the golf shop; Joseph Fuller, starter; Fred McCreery, caddy master; Alex Hanner, ranger; Frank Klein, greens-keeper, and H. H. Witt, cashier.

PALM BEACH GOLF CLUB

The Palm Beach Golf Club, known as the "Poinciana course," oldest and one of the most popular courses at the island resort, has re-opened after having been completely revamped during the summer.

Miss Bessie Fenn, well known Palm Beach professional, has returned after a most successful summer at Poland Springs, Me. Mr. E. Thompson Starr, secretary of the club, is on hand and busy completing arrangements for tournaments to be held on the course this season.

George Gordon and Charles Kelly have returned as Miss Fenn's assistants. Mr. Gordon, who is professional of the Wanamoisett Country Club, is back for his sixteenth season, and Mr. Kelly, of the Milburn Country Club, is here for his sixth season. Other members of the personnel include Wilbur Hutchison, at his regular place as cashier; Jack Walsh, caddy master; Dennis O'Connell, in charge of the pro shop, and Charles Keyes, starter.

Players on the course have been lavish in their praise of the reconstruction of the fairways and greens, and complete arrangement to facilitate the game.

The short ocean hole, No. 7, has been eliminated and has thus made only one trip across Ocean Boulevard necessary on the first nine, compared with two trips made formerly.

All the other holes have been re-numbered and changed just a bit, but with a vast improvement in the run of the course. No. 1 hole starts, as usual, just north of the clubhouse, but is a bit dog-legged to the left, the green situated along No. 9 tee. No. 2 makes a 90-yard pitch, taking the place of the par three ocean hole. No. 3 is south of No. 2 green, near the sidewalk, and No. 3 green is old No. 4 green. No. 4 tee takes the place of the former instruction tee in the southwest corner of the course. The fairway extends along the road with the green in the southeast corner. For No. 5 hole, the player crosses road and uses old No. 6 hole, and from there cuts over to old No. 3 for No. 6, par being three; comes back east on old No. 2 for No. 7; old No. 8 and new No. 8 being the same, and re-crosses the road for No. 9 tee, which is the same. The nine holes on the return are the same. The new instruction tee will be just south of the clubhouse, where No. 5 tee formerly was, and will be solely an instruction ground and not for practice. New traps and bunkers have been placed on No. 3 green and along the fairways on No. 3 and No. 4.

Perfect weather and ideal condition of the Palm Beach Golf Course has attracted many members of the hotel and resort colony for their daily round of golf.

Among those noted on the course since its opening have been Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, Mr. and Mrs. F. Homer Smith, Mr. Arthur Somers Roche, Messrs. Elbert and Randolph Hearst, Messrs. Clyde and Jeffry Roche, Messrs. George and Alfred Vanderbilt, Miss Grace Amory, Mr. Charles Munn and Maj. Barclay Warburton; Dr. Edward Martin and his house guest, Dr. Frank Aydelott, president of Swarthmore College; Mr. John C. King and Mr. J. Leonard Replogle; Dr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Ream; Mrs. Nettie Livermore and her brother, Mr. Elmer L. Jordan; Mr. Clarence Hall, Mr. B. H. Kroger, Mr. Archibald MacNeil and Mr. Harry Rosenfeld; Mayor John Shepard, Jr., and Mr. H. C. Woodruff, members of the Old Guard; Mr. J. M. Preston and Mr. W. C. Peet, Jr., of Rye, N. Y., who are stopping at the Breakers; Mr. Joseph Hutchison and Mr. William Henry Harrison; Dr. Sherman Downs and his son, Roger; and many others.

OLD GUARD SOCIETY OF PALM BEACH

Many members of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers have arrived for the season, and have enjoyed play on the Poinciana course. Among those registering at the clubrooms are Mayor John Shepard, Jr., Dr. Edward Martin, Mr. Harry Oakes, Mr. George Altmeyer, Mr. Elmer Jordan,

Dr. Charles Temple, Mr. Albert R. Hakes, Mr. Charles Temple, Mr. Phil H. Sawyer Mr. Charles M. Hall, Mr. Bernard H. Kroger, Mr. W. B. Langford, Mr. Clarence Hall, Mr. Nathan D. Bill, Mr. Harry Rosenfeld, Mr. Byron Chandler, Mr. O. L. Brailey, Mr. Walter C. Powers, Dr. Edmund Leroy Dow, Mr. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mr. George Dobyne, Mr. J. E. Rumbaugh, Mr. C. W. Copp, Mr. Loring Q. White, Mr. George T. McCarthy.

Officers of the club are Mr. Bernard H. Kroger, president; Mr. George H. Keim, vice president; Mr. Clarence Hall, secretary and treasurer; Mr. Frank P. Wilson, assistant secretary.

EVERGLADES GOLF CLUB

The Everglades Golf Club, which has always attracted extensive play on the part of its members, is in the finest condition ever this season. The links are used for members and their friends, with no tournaments being held. Greens and fairways are in much better condition than is usual at this season of the year, due to the frequent rains.

The same personnel as last year is in charge, Mr. Arthur M. Goss being the pro, assisted by Alec Tait, and with B. J. Berry in charge of registration, Clyde Bowser as shopkeeper, and James Fleming in the locker room.

Members noted on the course since the opening include Dr. Edmund Leroy Dow, Mr. Nathan D. Bill and Mr. Frank Vernon Skiff, who played an interesting threesome; Mrs. George Warren Fuller and Mr. Jack Cooper; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herendeen, who engaged in a spirited match; Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., and Mrs. Guy Noll; Mr. Arthur Somers Roche and Mr. Charles M. Fair; Mr. G. Horton Glover and Mr. F. W. Johnston; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kolb and Mrs. R. Brooks; Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds and Mrs. W. G. Noll; Mr. J. Terry West, Mr. George A. Dobyne and Mr. A. W. McDougall; Dr. C. C. Morrison, Jr.; Mrs. Charles Amory, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, Col. A. A. Stewart, Mr. C. P. Stewart, and others.

SEMINOLE GOLF CLUB

The Seminole Golf Club, exclusive resort club, located just south of Jupiter, on the Federal Highway, has opened its third season to club members.

According to V. R. Rosseau, greens manager, the course is in excellent condition. Greens and fairways now have the appearance of always having been there and the foliage surrounding the course has grown to be a part of it.

Gil Nichols, well known professional, has returned after a successful summer at Deepdale Club, Great Neck, Long Island, with Basil Finn as assistant.

Among those who have frequented the course since the opening have been Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, Mr. and Mrs. F. Homer Smith, Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius P. Ordway, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, Mr. Arthur Scmers Roche, Clyde and Jeffry Roche, and Miss Gloria Baker.

Miss Grace Amory, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer, recently hung up a record on the Seminole course when she made a hole in one on the seventeenth green, while playing with Mr. Ector Munn. She cupped the ball on the 155-yard shot, using a No. 4 iron. Her total score for the round was 86.

GULF STREAM GOLF CLUB

The Gulf Stream Golf Club, just south of Boynton, on Ocean Boulevard, is as popular as ever with its members who motor down for a round of golf or for luncheon preparatory to attend a polo match at Phipps fields.

Charles Murray, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, has returned as pro, assisted by his son, Kenneth. M. L. DeParlier is superintendent of the club.

Officers of the club are Mr. William G. Worden, president; Mr. Edward T. Stotesbury, vice president; Mr. Edward Shearson, secretary and treasurer.

PALM BEACH TENNIS CLUB

Tennis has much to offer this season, with the Palm Beach Tennis Club (Poinciana courts) presenting a highly interesting program, with nationally-known players participating in tournament play.

George Agutter, dean of the tennis pros in Palm Beach, has returned for his twenty-third season, and with his assistant, Rudy Noble, is busy supervising the finishing touches on the courts and instructing players.

First on the card will be the Women's Championship of Florida, singles and doubles, February 29 to March 5. The Men's Championship of Florida will follow, March 7-12, with mixed doubles to be played the week of the men's tournament, if the committee so rules. The final event of the season will be the Southern Professional Championship, singles, March 15-19.

Among members of the resort colony who may be seen frequently on the court are: Mr. Luther A. Wait and his daughter, Miss Katherine Wait. Mrs. Edith Cheek may also be seen brushing up on the fine points, and Miss Sonia Phipps, a prominent figure in mid-winter matches, has been playing for the past week.

Mr. Peter L. Ordway, son of Mr. Lucius Pond Ordway, plays several sets daily, and Mr. John S. Millen, a crack tennis player who participated in the men's championship tournament last season, has been noted frequently on the courts.

THE BATH AND TENNIS CLUB

The Bath and Tennis Club, frequented by members of the resort colony, offers many diversions for its members, with chief activities at the club centering around swimming in the pool or in the surf, tennis on the perfect playing courts, boxing and classes in physical training; all under the watchful eye of expert instructors, as well as a most unique miniature golf course within the confines of the club.

According to John Cardegna, tennis professional in charge, the courts are in excellent condition for play. He has as his assistants, Jack Rogers, of the Atlantic Beach Club, and James Kenney, of the Newport Casino. There will be the usual tournament play and round robin matches.

Swimming instruction is given under Nat Gardella, and boxing and physical instruction under the direction of Walter Monaghan.

EVERGLADES CLUB TENNIS

The tennis courts of the Everglades Club, which are among the best to be found at the island resort, are the scene of much active play during the winter.

Mr. James Bevans, who spends the summer on Harris Hammond's estate, Trenton, N. J., has returned as professional and is being assisted by Bob Murray, of Forest Hills.

Courts have been newly re-surfaced and many of the club members may be seen in play. Among those who are seen in daily sets are Mr. Kenneth G. Smith, who plays an excellent game; Miss Clara Glover, who is as efficient with the racquet as with a rod and reel; Mr. Lawrence Tower, and others.

AMONG THE PALMS

THE BREAKERS, the annual opening of which starts the wheels of the Palm Beach season, started the 1931-'32 season on December 20. The magnificent ocean-front hotel is again under the management of Mr. John W. Greene, who is assisted by Mr. Sheridan W. Scott, manager of the Hotel Sam-o-Set at Rockland Breakwater, Me., and Mr. Thomas J. O'Brien, manager of the Mt. Kineo, Moosehead Lake, Me.

The social season at the Breakers was launched with the annual Christmas party under the direction of Miss Lilian Baldwin, who has returned for another season as hostess.

Perfect Palm Beach weather found many guests of the hotel as well as members of the cottage colony gathered to spend the twilight hour on the terrace, which is at its loveliest at dusk.

The wealth of opportunities for rest and recreation which the Breakers offers its guests, as well as the varied and amusing social program provided for their amusement, has made this hotel a favorite among the elite of two continents. On its register each season are found the names of visiting notables to this country, who count a sojourn at the Breakers as one of the pleasant experiences without which their visit to America would be incomplete. Many members of European nobility and of foreign diplomatic corps have made the Breakers their headquarters during their frequent visits to Palm Beach and the beauty of the spacious Italian-style hostelry and its sub-tropical surroundings, the delicious cuisine and faultless service have been praised in many languages.

* * * *

Mr. Henry T. Sloane, of New York, was cordially welcomed upon his arrival at the Breakers shortly before New Year's. He has been a prominent member of the winter colony for years and is usually one of the first sun-searchers to arrive, and among the last to depart. Mr. Sloane spent the summer months at his Newport home, where he entertained his daughter, the Baroness de la Grange, and her four young children, who were here from Paris. The Baroness visited her father at the Breakers two seasons ago. Another daughter, Mrs. George D. Widener, of New York, visits Palm Beach every winter, and is generally a house guest of Mr. Joseph E. Widener, at his beautiful new estate on South Ocean Boulevard. Mr. Sloane is a member of the Everglades and Gulf Stream Golf Clubs.

* * * *

Interesting holiday guests at the Breakers included Mrs. E. Vivian Gabriel, of New York; her daughter, Miss Jean Preston, and her son, Mr. John McAfee Preston, a student at Harvard. Also Miss Alice Mary Anderson and Mr. Creighton Peet, of New York. They took a cabana at the casino and spent hours every day lounging in the sunshine and swimming, and enjoying beach luncheons, served at the cabana.

* * * *

Col. and Mrs. Thomas E. Murphy, of Philadelphia, who for many years have wintered at their estate, Isleridge, at Hobe Sound, have decided this year to join the Breakers colony for the winter. However, they make daily motor trips to their island home. Their annual reception and luncheon given on St. Patrick's Day at Isleridge has been one of the most eagerly anticipated events of the social season and attended by hundreds of friends from Palm Beach.

Mrs. Frederick Dwight, of New York, is a well known member of the winter colony who came to the Breakers early in the season. She was accompanied by her brother, Mr. Frank W. Davis, Jr., who also plans to remain for the winter. Mrs. Dwight has made her Palm Beach home at the Breakers for several years, and is a member of the Everglades Club, where she entertains extensively throughout the season. She and her brother passed the summer months at her cottage in the Catskills, which is one of a group belonging to the exclusive Onteora Club.

Mrs. Laura A. Day and her sister, Mrs. Irene Merritt, of New York, were among the first guests registering at the Breakers for the season, as has been their custom for many years. They were accompanied south by Mrs. Merritt's daughter, Mrs. Edward Valier, formerly Polly Merritt, who for years spent the holiday season in Palm Beach at the Breakers. Mr. Valier motored down from Hanover, N. H., where he is studying at Dartmouth, and upon his arrival they joined his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Valier, on Sea Breeze Avenue. Their romance had its beginning last Christmas at this resort, and their marriage took place last July in Boston.

* * * *

Arriving at the Breakers in time for the holidays, was Mrs. D. W. Mabee, of Saratoga Springs, who was accompanied by her son, Mr. David Mabee, and her grandson, Mr. Douglas Compton. The latter has returned to Yale University, where he is a student. Mrs. Mabee's daughter, Mrs. Ranulf Compton, will join her here shortly to spend several weeks. The Mabees have been regular winter visitors in Palm Beach for several years.

* * * *

A distinguished guest at the Breakers during the Yuletide season was Lieutenant-Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of Albany, who was accompanied by Mrs. Lehman and their son, Peter G. Lehman, down from Choate School. It was their first visit to the new Breakers, although Mr. Lehman stopped frequently at the old hotel. Mr. Lehman is a partner in the prominent banking firm of Lehman Bros., and a director of many noted corporations. He had a distinguished career during the World War and was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. He is interested in philanthropical enterprises and a trustee of the Henry Street Settlement, New York Foundation, Hebrew Sheltering Society; vice chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee of Palestine Economic Corporation and a director of the Welfare Council of New York, Surprise Lake Camp and Child Welfare Committee of America. Among his clubs are the Army and Navy, National Democratic, Williams, Bankers, Century, Harmonie, Phi Gamma Delta, Fort Orange and Albany Country Club.

* * * *

An interesting foursome passing the holidays at the Breakers included Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brownell and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Groesbeck, of New York. Although they have visited other Florida resorts frequently, this was their first stay in Palm Beach. Golf, fishing and hours spent at their cabana, formed pleasant pastimes during their sojourn.

Greatly beautified with additional tropical plants, flowers and shrubs, the New Palm Beach Hotel, on Sunrise Avenue, opened for the winter informally on the first of December and two weeks later meals were served in the sunken dining room, marking the formal opening of the 1931-'32 season. Mr. Samuel J. Littlegreen, formerly of the Grove Park Inn at Asheville, N. C., is the new manager and he has been active since arriving here last month in making every possible provision for the comfort and entertainment of guests. Mrs. Rives Richey is acting as hostess and making plans for bridge parties, clock golf tournaments in the east patio, and concerts in the portico which will be held later in the season.

* * * *

One of the improvements which visitors immediately notice in the New Palm Beach Hotel this year is the floral centerpiece in the lobby leading to the Spanish dining room. A graceful palm tree has been set in the midst of ferns, geraniums and vivid fresh cut flowers, illuminated at night by an artificial moon, and glowing during the day in sunshine from the skylight. Gladioli and roses used in profusion are furnished from the new gardens on the opposite side of Sunrise Avenue, as well as from those in the back of the hotel which have been cultivated for several seasons.

* * * *

Mrs. A. Minford Bond and her son, Mr. Minford Wolcott Bond, were welcomed on their arrival from the Waldorf-Astoria in New York by many of their old friends at the New Palm Beach Hotel. The Bonds have been wintering in Palm Beach for several seasons, but were absent last year, remaining at the Berkeley Carteret in Asbury Park, N. J. This summer they were members of the cottage colony in Easthampton, L. I.

* * * *

Brig. Gen. Edward P. Meany and Mrs. Meany are other season guests at the New Palm Beach Hotel, having recently arrived from the Hotel Savoy Plaza in New York. The General is widely known as a lawyer and financier and in 1905 was appointed judge advocate general of New Jersey. Much of his time in late years has been spent in Paris.

* * * *

Mr. William Fitz Hugh Whitehouse, of New York and Stone Villa, Newport, R. I., is a well known member of the winter colony who came to the New Palm Beach Hotel, accompanied by his attractive daughter, Miss Adelaide Whitehouse, and his son, William F. Whitehouse, 3d. The trio has enjoyed sailfishing with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, of Casa Loma on Sunset Avenue. Mr. Whitehouse was formerly state senator in Rhode Island. His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Perdonnet, are now in Europe, and not expected in the colony this winter. She was the former Miss Beatrice Whitehouse, whose recent marriage was a social event that interested the elite of the East.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, of the Savoy-Plaza in New York, returned before the formal opening of the New Palm Beach Hotel, to occupy the same suite which they had last year. Mr. and Mrs. King summered at Southampton, L. I., and later went to Europe for a brief sojourn. They have been coming to this resort for many years and have hosts of friends in the cottage colony. For years they occupied Trailside, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replogle. The Kings entertain frequently at Patio Lamaze and also in the Green and White dining room of the Beach Club. They are members of the Bath and Tennis and the Gulf Stream Golf Clubs.

Among the important events of the week is the opening of the Royal Poinciana on Friday, January 15. For the fortieth consecutive season, the spacious and comfortable hostelry will welcome its returning guests, many of whom have been coming to the hotel for years. Mr. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, vice president of the Florida East Coast Hotel Company, is again manager.

The first tea-dance will be held at the Cocoanut Grove on Friday afternoon. Mr. Jack Hobby is again in charge of the Gorge. Around the hotel, all is activity in preparation for the opening day. The dance floor has been put in the pink of condition, the cocoanuts all taken from high among the palm fronds so that none may drop down on the dancing throng. Hedges of blooming plants border all the walks through the grounds, which resemble a tropical garden in the variety and luxuriance of their planting.

A pleasing program of entertainment is always provided for Poinciana guests. The Poinciana-Breakers Casino, with its new cabanas and broad beaches, is at their disposal. The Palm Beach Golf Club course lies almost under their windows.

Ball games on the field between the Breakers and the Poinciana, cake walks by Southern negroes in the evening in the Cocoanut Grove, orchestral concerts by the Howard Lanin orchestra, and nightly dancing on the porch, all add to the sum of enjoyment to be found at this home-like resort hotel.

Whitehall, the beautiful lake-front hotel that includes the palatial home of the late Henry M. Flagler, will open on January 15, with Mr. Martin Sweeny again manager. Among those who have made reservations are Gen. and Mrs. Quincy A. Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William F. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tim, the Hon. Lindsley M. Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Maltby, Dr. Seth Gregory, and many more of the winter visitors who delight in the elegance and quiet atmosphere of this spacious hostelry.

Tea dances in the lake-side terrace, and gala dinner dances in the Palm Court are features of Whitehall's social life that are enjoyed both by guests and members of the cottage colony.

TASTES AND TOILETTES

CLOTHES have many virtues besides being an absolute necessity, to many of us, if we are to look fit to be seen. Clothes, new and good-looking, are a tonic, a pick-me-up as powerful as a side-car. You can't talk depression to a woman who happens to possess a new frock, and the man who has just acquired some good-looking togs isn't half as likely to believe the country is going to the dogs!

So the only thing to do is to get out and buy some new clothes. The shops are full of them and the price tags are calculated not to frighten one so much as last year. If you think it will be extravagant because you have so many, there is one grand solution—give your old ones away! Clothes are given away in direct ratio to their goodness and the rank of the receiver. Those almost too good to part with gravitate toward poor relations and personal maids, who have probably worn them before anyway. They in turn give them to some one a little more needy until finally the Salvation Army boxes are filled with things that bring warmth and comfort to their pensioners. So don't hesitate to start the avalanche of clothes. Begin at the top and have some fun out of it yourself. Wealth brings obligations, one of them being that while it may be smart to be thrifty, it never was to be stingy, and giving away your clothes and buying more will help solve a lot of financial problems.

Smart people in England and France are realizing the obligations of the wealthy and are providing lucrative employment for hundreds of workers by again favoring lavish hand-embroidery on their clothes, as well as by the revival of Irish lace and other hand-made laces as trimming.

Mrs. Alfred D. Bell, of Sea Spray Avenue, looked charming at the opening dinner-dance of the Everglades Club in a simple gown of cream colored lace that flared below the hips and was belted of self material at the high waistline. Cut-out sandals of green satin provided a colorful touch.

Black chiffon was chosen by Mrs. Robert M. Stewart-Richardson, of El Vedado Lane, who was hostess at one of the dinner parties given at the opening night of the Everglades Club. An oval decolletage was edged in a band of chiffon that rippled gracefully. A black velvet girdle tied in a bow at the side.

* * * *

Mrs. John C. King, who is spending the season at the New Palm Beach Hotel, was noted at a dinner party recently clad in shell pink evening pajamas worn with a sky blue bolero jacket and matching sandals.

* * * *

New color emphasis, rather than ornamentation, gave distinction to clothes seen at the recent Phipps' field polo matches at Gulfstream. Young Mrs. James Cox Brady, Jr., sat on the sidelines, wearing a canary yellow silk sleeveless dress and hat of knitted white wool, turned down to shade her eyes. When the bell rang at the end of the seventh chukker as the sun set, she donned a Nassau blue jacket that created a striking contrast with her dress.

The crimson of a wide patent leather belt worn with a white sports dress by Mrs. Hubert Phipps at a polo game, last week, was echoed in the background of her flowered jacket. The V neck of her frock was made interesting with wide filigree work, and bell-shaped sleeves marked the loose jacket. A medium brimmed, turned down white panama, banded in black, and white linen sports sandals, completed her costume.

* * * *

Mrs. John S. Phipps drove down from Casa Bendita to watch her sons, Michael and Hubert, play polo, and chose for the occasion a sleeveless silk frock of lemon yellow. Wide pleats falling from a scalloped hip line gave it a sporty air. A matching tailored coat of the same material was worn for the return trip up Ocean Boulevard.

* * * *

White, which continues to reign supreme in the matter of attire, whether for beach, street, sports or evening wear, was chosen by Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, of Banyan Road, when she attended a recent Tuesday night program at the American Legion Arena. Her silk dress was made with short scalloped sleeves, pleated skirt and revere collar terminating at the high belt line. A jaunty hat of loosely woven white straw was turned up on the right side, drooping low on the left.

* * * *

Mrs. David Hugh McCulloch, who is wintering at her villa on El Brillo Way, selected a costume in tones of pink when she attended the boxing bouts at the American Legion Arena, lately. White chiffon cuffs trimmed the short sleeves of her shell pink crepe dress, and the same material was used for the collar. Diamond and sapphire bracelets were revealed when she threw back a rose color coat collared in blue fox.

* * * *

* * * *

Mrs. Edward P. Meany, who is here for the season with General Meany, was noted in the dining room of the New Palm Beach Hotel recently, wearing jacket of jade-green velvet that tied at the throat with a scarf collar of ermine. This was worn over a chiffon dinner dress.

* * * *

Frosted in tiny silver beads, the shimmering gown worn by Mrs. Bula Croker, of South Ocean Boulevard, enhanced the regal beauty of this Everglades Club hostess at the New Year's Eve dinner-dance. A flowing white skirt of chiffon fell from the gleaming jacket-bodice.

* * * *

Also choosing black, was Mrs. Thomas Edward Murphy, the gracious, hostess of Isleridge, one of the historic old Hobe Sound estates, who with Colonel Murphy is spending the winter at the Breakers. Mrs. Murphy wore a gown of black net combined with black lace.

* * * *

Mrs. Alfred Feltman wore a gown of fragile black lace, accented by a large bow of jade green velvet posed above the waistline and trailing its ends to the bottom of the skirt.

You can play on the beach on a cool day in this two-piece flannel pajama from Best & Co. It has a very short jacket and the trousers are tailored just like a man's. The scarf is a St. Tropez handkerchief and the knit beret is red, white and blue.

Pale blue and a deeper shade make this heavenly three-piece bouclette outfit. The sleeveless blouse has an open-work design in darker blue. It is one of Mrs. Franklin's hand-knitted suits.

NEW ORGANIZATION HAS NO LAWS

HAT determined look, the constrained mien and that air of general aloofness is not hauteur. It is not a sign of a new exclusiveness in Palm Beach this winter. No, it is merely indicative of an effort to keep from breaking the New Year resolutions just made. That crackling sound like the snapping of pine twigs in a Maine camp fire in October is the sound of the breaking of resolutions that simply would not stay kept.

And that gaunt, cheerless wanderer trudging dejectedly through the highways and by-ways with faltering footsteps and furtive glances is not the Sceptre of Depression but merely the Ideal Resolution that nobody would adopt.

You've noticed these things too? Most people have. It's a seasonal condition but it will pass as we either grow accustomed to the restrictions of our resolutions or discard them as really unnecessary, ill advised or just bothersome.

Pleasantly different as it is from all other winter resorts, Palm Beach is still no more immune to New Year resolution breakage than Cannes, Nice, Paris or Paducah, Ky. Those fragile mental reservations, born with the death of the old year or long contemplated and put off until then, often are as short lived as the hopes of the social climber.

Seems odd, and a little unfortunate, that the resolutions we determine to make—and sometimes do make and actually keep—deprive us of the things we enjoy most thoroughly.

And all we get out of this martyrdom is a sickening feeling of self-righteousness and personal superiority—together with a lot of regrets.

So it had to come!

Permit us to introduce the latest in social reforms—the Society for the Abolition of New Year Resolutions. Like all uplift movements, it bears a lengthy title but its members are already calling themselves Abolitionists.

It was formed on the beach of the Casino the morning after New Year Day by an enthusiastic group of young matrons and more or less care-free benedicts and a few unclaimed bachelors.

It is not necessarily exclusive, rather democratic in fact because of its universal appeal. It was formed without formal resolution, because resolutions are taboo with its members, but its principles, aims and high objectives are clear and purely humanitarian.

If one of the 1932 Nobel prizes is awarded to the Society for the Abolition of New Year Resolutions it will be accepted modestly as a deserved recognition of its world importance.

Want to be a member?

Simple. Just renounce the resolution habit, toss into the discard any irksome resolutions you made this New Year in a moment of benighted moral exhilaration and pledge yourself to make no more.

Now you are a member.

Now you are free to question the score of your golf opponent—and to keep your own score in your own way. You are free to accept or reject—according to the hand you hold and the dummy—any new contract rules that may grow out of the Culbertson bridge marathon and to measure yourself any Gulf Stream fish that you—or your guide—catch in the annual “big fish” contest.

Feel better? Yes? Naturally!

But your privileges as a member do not end there. By no means!

And then that matter of the new car. Of course you had resolved to make the old wreck last for a full twelve months but now you can follow your wise judgment and buy that new car and know that nine months of service is all that you can reasonably expect from any car. Of course that economy resolution seems rather foolish now. The one with the silver trimmings will be all right.

Economy, as you have learned as a member of the new society, means getting the most for your money, not saving money by eliminating the luxuries that are really essentials—when viewed in the new light. Therefore, it is, you now realize, perfect economy to have those opera stars run down from New York for your next dinner dance rather than deprive your guests unnecessarily of the pleasure they can add to the evening. Of course! And of course that applies as well to the lawn fete and to bringing the larger yacht down for a couple of weeks of really comfortable deep sea fishing. Certainly!

And so the almost limitless benefits of membership unfold themselves pleasantly to you as you contemplate the vast possibilities for peace, pleasure and ease of mind under freedom from the resolution evil.

Another beauty of the Society for the Abolition of New Year Resolutions is that both sexes have equal rights under its lack of constitution and by-laws. No longer is it to be thought needful nor conciliatory for either man or wife to reach home before the other following a late affair. They may now go home together without criticism or pre-slumber argument.

Elimination of deception—no matter how polite—is another uplifting note struck by the new society. No longer shall the resolutions, based on the “I’ll give up that if you’ll give up this” agreements, hamper the free spirits of Palm Beach, because no longer will such resolutions be secretly broken and the breakage be covered by polite deception. Both the “that” and the “this” will be enjoyed with clear consciences and the world be merrier for it.

Not since the late Mr. Henry W. Flagler built a railroad down here so that he could go fishing has any uplift movement of such promising future been started in Palm Beach.

A screen of palm trees partly hides this lovely lake-side estate from curious eyes.

ON SUNNY PALM BEACH SANDS

HE Poinciana-Breakers Casino opened on December 20. This internationally-famous Casino has a beautiful new beach, second to none on the east coast, which was built up during the summer by groynes along the ocean front at the Casino. Facing this shining stretch of beach are the gay blue, green and white striped cabanas, each with a separate walk and beach for the owners. Colorful sun umbrellas bloom like gay flowers along the golden sand beaches and add a festive appearance.

Since Palm Beach has become increasingly cabana-conscious, the ideal cabana arrangement at the Casino this season is attracting a great deal of attention. Large enough for two families to share, if so desired, each cabana has two fresh water showers and perfectly equipped dressing rooms. Large verandas, delightfully furnished in wicker, and canopied lounging beach chairs for the sands are interesting features.

Another innovation this season is the private driveway for cabana owners, leading directly from Barton and Bethesda Avenues to the beach, with ample parking facilities.

Luncheons, picnic and buffet style will be served this season, both to the cabanas and at the numerous small tables with canopied tops, which are scattered on the wide lawn adjoining the pool.

For the convenience of the Casino patrons, two new entrances from the swimming pool, leading directly to the beach boardwalk, have been built this season. A new seawall along the ocean boardwalk was also erected during the summer and additions made to the spectators gallery at the north end of the beach, which will afford the recliners a panoramic view of the beach and cabanas.

The Casino, pool and beach have never looked so immaculate and enticing as they do this season. The Poinciana-Breakers Casino promises to play an even more important part in the recreational life of Palm Beach than heretofore.

Activities at the swimming pool will again be under the direction of Mr. Charles Norelius, of the Greenbriar Hotel at White Sulphur Springs and the Atlantic Beach Club on Long Island. He is one of the outstanding instructors in the country and has been at the Poinciana-Breakers Casino since the opening of the new pool.

Among the first of the winter colonists to reserve a cabana for the season were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, of Clarke Avenue, who have taken the same one they had last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kolb, of Clarke Avenue, have again taken the adjoining cabana and entertain at many luncheon parties during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes, of Barton Avenue, well known members of the cottage colony, became cabana owners this season when they leased number seven.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, of New York, season guests at the Breakers, are again taking cabana number six, and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Corby, of Washington, who arrive the latter part of this month, have again reserved the adjoining one.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McIntyre, of the Vineta Hotel, joined the cabana colony this season, taking one adjoining that of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Brien, of New York, who are expected to arrive at the Royal Poinciana this week.

Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis' cabana is at the far southern end of the row, while Mrs. John W. Greene, of the Breakers, has cabana number three.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Albee, of New York, have again reserved a cabana adjoining that of the Frank Kolbs, while Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Lauder have taken the next two.

Mr. George Altmeyer, of McKeesport, Pa., a member of the Old Guard Society, was the first visitor at the Poinciana-Breakers Casino to register for a season locker. Mr. Frank L. Breckenridge and Mr. Charles L. Perkins, of the Mayflower Hotel, registered soon afterward.

Among the Breakers guests who have season reservations for lockers are Mrs. Frederick Dwight, Mr. Frank Warden Davis, Jr., Mr. Charles M. Brett, Mr. David L. Luke, Mr. Henry Hinde, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Groesbeck, and Mr. D. W. Mabee.

Holiday visitors who enjoyed the sunny days of Christmas week at the Poinciana and Breakers beach included Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, and their son, Peter G. Lehman; Mrs. Vivian Gabriel, of New York, and members of her party, including Miss Jean Preston, Miss Alice Mary Anderson, Mr. John MacAfee Preston and Mr. W. C. Peet, Jr.; Mr. Douglas Compton, Roger Downs, James Austin Wall and John Austin Witter, Maj. and Mrs. William Kennelly, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brownell, and others.

THE PALM BEACH PLAYHOUSE

HE blue and silver curtains of the Palm Beach Playhouse will rise tonight on the first performance of its second season, and the brilliant audience, including many of the supporting members and their guests, will witness Rachel Crothers' sparkling comedy, "Let Us Be Gay." Through the sterling achievements of its initial season, the Palm Beach Playhouse has won a high place in the affections of the resort and an enviable standing in the theatrical world. Founded with the aim of providing artistic and worthwhile dramatic entertainment for the public and given the co-operation and support of a group of the outstanding members of the winter colony, it has come to fill a definite place in the social life of Palm Beach. The opening of its second season is awaited with sincere and widespread interest.

Since last year, the business administration of the Playhouse has been reorganized. Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, the former Miss Muriel McCormick, founder of the Playhouse and president of the corporation in charge of its business affairs, will have associated with her this year her husband, Major Hubbard, as first vice president. Mrs. Harry H. Shearson, of Chicago, is second vice president; Mr. George Birse, treasurer, and Mr. J. Field Wardlaw, secretary. The executive staff of the Playhouse includes Mrs. Hubbard, managing director; Mr. Daniel Reed, who returns for his second season as director of productions; Mrs. Reed, who is his assistant and also technical designer; Mrs. Shearson, assistant to managing director and press representative; Mr. W. H. Rogers, stage and technical manager.

"Let Us Be Gay" is a happy choice for an opening play, not only because it is a joyous comedy, well calculated to dispel any atmosphere of gloom, but because it introduces in a body the entire acting company of the Playhouse, of whom all but two—Miss Scott and Mr. Adams—are new to the Playhouse this season. They are an enthusiastic group of young professionals who bring to their work an abundant experience in the theater, an appreciation of its ideals and a buoyant faith in its future. They have been recruited from many sources. Miss Emily Ross, who plays "Kitty Brown" in "Let Us Be Gay," started her professional career as a dancer, went into musical comedy, then alternated leads with Peggy Wood at the Cape Playhouse. She was in "The Silver Cord" with Laura Hope Crews, was leading woman for two years in the Detroit Civic Theater and has done 25 plays for the radio. Howard Bailey, who will make his first appearance here as "Bob Brown," has played everything from young juveniles to old men characters with the Carolina Playmakers of the University of North Carolina, from which he was graduated. He has played with the Cape Players for three seasons. His recent New York appearances were in the Theatre Guild production of "Green Grow the Lilacs" and the leading romantic role in "The Venetian," which was brought over from London by the Shuberts and Maurice Brown, this fall.

Miss Agnes Elliot Scott, who appears as "Mrs. Boucicault," is remembered for her excellent character work at the Playhouse last year. She was born and educated in South Norwood, Surrey, England, and her first four years of theatrical experience were at the Savoy Theatre, London. She was leading lady with Robert Mantell and with Cameron Mathews in Bernard Shaw's and Oscar Wilde's plays. Miss Francesca Bruning plays the role of "Dierdre Lessing." Miss Bruning studied dramatics with Mme. Jeanne Grumbach, of Antoine's Theatre in Paris, and has appeared with Mrs. Fiske in "Merry Wives of Windsor;" in Stockbridge for three seasons, also with the Theatre Guild and the Jitney Players.

Stephen Appleby, born in Glamorganshire, South Wales, plays "Townley Town." He has appeared in "The Silent House," "Young Woodley," "77 Park Lane," has been associated with the Cardiff Summer New Theatre, in repertory in Birmingham and in stock in Richmond, Va. He made his film debut in "His Woman" for Paramount. Chase Adams, who was with the Playhouse company last year, is cast as "Bruce Keen." Mr. Adams is with the Surry Players during the summer and has appeared in "Ghosts," "March Hares," "The Play's the Thing," and so on, also in the National Theatre, New York, in the cast of "A Farewell to Arms." Miss Zama Cunningham started as prima donna of "Hitchy Koo," played with D. W. Griffith four years, was in stock in Rochester, with Tommy Ross in "Jonsey," and with Jefferson De Angelis in "Apron Strings" and "The Vagabond King." She is playing "Madge Livingston" in "Let Us Be Gay."

Gerald Cornell, who plays "Wallace Grainger," is a Texan by birth and was graduated from the Royal Academy, London. He has had many New York engagements, and last season played Boris Feldman in "The Greeks Had a Word for it." Other parts include the Reverend Davidson in "Rain" and Teddy in "The Ghost Train." "Whiteman, a servant," is played by Allan Tower, who describes himself as a New Englander from Massachusetts. A graduate of Brown University and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts; he has toured the south as "Chico" in "Seventh Heaven," played with Violet Heming in "The Snob" and this past winter was in Gilbert Miller's production of "The Sex Fable" with Mrs. Patrick Campbell. Clarence Chase, who plays "Struthers," was born in California and has played in stock companies in San Francisco and other western cities, also Philadelphia and Boston. He has made New York appearances in "The Last Mile," "Hobo," "Steel" and other modern plays. "Perkins" is played by Miss Mary Darrach, and Mr. Frank Woodruff is "Williams, the chauffeur."

Mr. Daniel Reed, the director, began his theatrical experience in stock, under the Belascos and Oliver Morosco. He has been active in the Little Theatre movement and founded the Columbia (S. C.) Stage Society and directed its Town Theatre for eight years. He is a playwright of note and an actor of ability. Early this season he appeared in "The Unknown Soldier" in New York and other large cities. Mrs. Reed (Isadora Barrett) is a member of a noted theatrical family. She has written poems, literary criticisms and a volume of negro plays, which have been produced successfully within the month, and has acted in a consultant capacity for New York productions. Mr. George Birse, general manager of the Playhouse, was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, of Scotch parentage. He is a graduate of the Moscow Philharmonic Society and has sung at the St. Petersburg Opera House and the Odessa State Theatre. He came to this country in 1922 with Balieff's Chauve Souris Company, which he managed for five years. In 1928, he joined the American Laboratory Theatre in New York, as its general manager, and last year came in the same capacity to the Playhouse.

Among the plays to be given this season are "Philip Goes Forth," an American comedy by George Kelly; "The Gates of Paradise," an old Persian romance by Cloyd Head, which will have its world premiere at the Playhouse; "June Moon," a satiric farce by Ring Lardner and George S. Kelly; "Saint Joan," by George Bernard Shaw; "The Silver Cord," by Sidney Howard; "Holiday," by Philip Barry; "The Concert," a Continental farce by Hermann Bahr, and others of equal interest to the theatre-going public.

The Playhouse has made some very important changes in policy this season in relation to prices of subscription tickets and time of performances. Tuesday and Wednesday performances will begin at 9:30 p. m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday performances at 8:30. Although the cost of supporting memberships has remained the same as last season, the price of certain other subscription tickets has been materially reduced and good seats for the last three days of the week and the Saturday matinees may be obtained for as little as ten dollars for the twelve weeks' season. This places the entertainment of the Playhouse within the reach of all. Many of the supporting members attend the latter evenings of the week, either because of other social and sports affairs on Tuesday, or because they prefer the earlier opening hour on these nights. Subscription as well as single tickets may be obtained from the box office, which is open every week day at 10 a. m.

Supporting members of the Palm Beach Playhouse, up to the day of going to press of the first issue of Palm Beach Life, include:

Col. Edward R. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Foster Carey, Dr. and Mrs. Leland E. Cofer, Mrs. John E. Dietz, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Leroy Dow, Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen, Capt. and Mrs. John H. Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. G. Horton Glover, Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Harris, Mr. William Henry Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herendeen, Mr. Theodore C. Hollander, Maj. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, Mr. Otto H. Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Kay, Mr. and Mrs. A. Atwater Kent, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel J. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. George Luke Mesker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. Arthur Orr, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Rasmussen, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearson, Mayor and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mrs. Charles R. Sherlock, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mr. and Mrs. John Cary Spring, Mrs. Henry Morgan Tilford, Mrs. Samuel H. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Warden, Dr. and Mrs. Hobart E. Warren, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Waterman, Mrs. William Seward Webb, Mr. and Mrs. John J. White, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Q. White, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yarnall.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

RS. WILLIAM SEWARD WEBB, of Shelbourne House, Shelbourne, Vt., arrived in Palm Beach before Christmas, accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hamlen Jones, of Sunnybank, Hyde Park, Mass. Mrs. Webb's brother, Mr. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, has been dividing his time between Mirador, Mrs. Webb's home on Dunbar Road, and his yacht, the "Eala," which is anchored in Lake Worth, near the Ambassador Hotel.

Mrs. Webb is the grandmother of Miss Electra Webb, whose engagement to Mr. Dunbar Wright Bostwick, of Gilbertsville, N. Y., was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson Webb, on December 21. Miss Webb, on her father's side, is a great-granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt and the late James Watson Webb. On her mother's side, she is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer.

Miss Webb attended Miss Chapin's School and Foxcroft School, in Virginia, and made her debut three years ago. She is a member of the Junior League and the Colony Club.

Mr. Bostwick is a grandson of the late J. A. Bostwick, and on his mother's side he is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Stokes, and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark. He attended St. Paul's School at Concord, N. H., and he will be graduated next spring from Yale University. He is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity and of the Scroll and Keys Society. In New York, he is a member of the Meadow Brook Club and the Racquet and Tennis Club. For three years he has been a regular member of the Yale varsity hockey team. The wedding will take place next June.

Among the large number of early returning colonists were Mr. and Mrs. A. Kinnaird Tod, of the Hotel Berkshire, in New York, who are again at the Bandbox, their attractive cottage on Chilean Avenue. The Tods spent an interesting summer, touring Scotland and England, motoring 10,000 miles through the British Island. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence C. Fuller, of Ardmore, Pa., were members of the cottage colony at Narragansett Pier, R. I., where they entertained extensively. They will be down early in the new year to visit Mr. and Mrs. Tod and are also expected to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Work, who will open El Cabana, on South Ocean Boulevard, next month. They are also planning a short excursion to Bermuda. The Fuller home on Sea Spray Avenue has been leased to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Bell.

Giving impetus to the social season was the recent arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman, of New York and Shorelands, Elberton, N. J., who have re-opened Casa Mia, their charming villa on Sunset Avenue.

Mrs. E. Hope G. Slater, of Washington, D. C., has arrived at Casabiela, her home, which is fronted on the ocean side by an unbroken stretch of smooth, green lawn, outlined with a hedge of clipped Australian pines. Luxuriant gardens are confined to the western side of the villa. Mrs. Slater summered at Hopedene, her residence at Newport, R. I., going to Europe for the early fall. On returning, aboard the Olympic, she stopped at the Savoy-Plaza in New York for a while before proceeding to her home in the capital city.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn have arrived from New York and are at Villa Oheka, on the ocean front, where their sons-in-law and daughters preceded them. Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Jr., came down before the holidays and will remain until the end of the season. Capt. and Mrs. John C. O. Marriott followed soon after the New Year, and are also expected to remain for several months. Grand Duke Dmitri and his wife, Princess Anna Ilynski (the former Miss Audrey Emery), also joined the house party.

* * * *

Fernanda and Gurnee Munn, Jr., who were with their parents at Louwana, on the ocean front, for the holidays, were hosts at one of the many entertainments given during the vacation period for members of the younger set. The guests included Mary and Frances Drexel Munn, Lillian and Mary Louise Feitner, Gloria Baker, Ruth Marian Quigley, Florence, Alice and Joan Wyeth, Rosemary Warburton, Betty Ordway, Marie Antoinette Bassett, Grace Amory; Charles Munn, Jr., Rodman Arturo de Heeren, who is visiting at Mr. Charles Munn's home; Clyde and Jeffry Roche and their house guests, Randolph and David Elbert Hearst, Quentin F. Feitner, Jr., John Ordway, Teddy Noll, Teddy Sawyer and Barclay Warburton, 3rd. Also present were Maj. and Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Mr. Charles A. Munn and his house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ector O. Munn, Mrs. Baldwin Browne and Mr. Noel Munn; Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replogle and Mrs. Anna Breniser.

Of interest to the elite here is news that Mr. and Mrs. Howard Phipps, of New York and Westbury, L. I., will be at their home on Ocean Boulevard, near Gulfstream, this month. The couple recently returned from a wedding trip in Europe, going to the Hotel Pierre in New York.

The marriage of the former Miss Harriet Dyer Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hazeltine Price, to Mr. Phipps in October, was one of the outstanding social affairs of the fall season in New York.

Only near relatives and a few close friends were present at the ceremony, performed by the Rev. Dr. Karl Riland, rector of St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square.

The marriage united representatives of families that for many years have been identified with the affairs of this country. The bride is of southern ancestry. Through her mother, she is a granddaughter of the late Gen. Alexander B. Dyer, U. S. A. Her father, one time editor of Commerce and Finance, for many years has been identified with the cotton industry in this country.

Mr. Phipps is a son of Mrs. Henry Phipps, of New York, Palm Beach and Lakeville, L. I., and the late Mr. Phipps, noted philanthropist, one time president of the United States Steel Corporation and a director and official of many other corporations.

The bride is a niece of Walter Winston Price, and the sister of Mrs. Archibald McM. Richards and Theodore H. Price, Jr., all of New York. Mr. Phipps has two sisters, the Hon. Mrs. Frederick Guest, and Mrs. Bradley Martin, and two brothers, John S. and Henry Carnegie Phipps. His clubs include the Meadow Brook, Metropolitan, Links, Racquet and Tennis and the Piping Rock.

Mr. Phipps belongs to the Everglades, Bath and Tennis, and Gulf Stream Golf Clubs here.

One of the most important holiday celebrations was the dinner given by Mrs. Dodge Sloane at Concha Marina, her lovely villa facing the ocean. About 30 members of the elite were entertained, among them Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams and their house guests, Miss Louise Iselin and Mr. Milton W. Holden; Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Amory, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio and Mrs. Charles Curry Chase, Miss Sarah Jane Sanford and Messrs. Stephen Sanford, Morris Legendre, Harold S. Vanderbilt with the members of his house party, Miss Gertrude L. P. Conaway, Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Cutler; Mr. Howard Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Pond Ordway.

Following a summer spent at Haddington, Scotland, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Shaughnessy, of Jackson, Mich., have returned to Villa Felicia, their home on Clarke Avenue. The family, including her son and daughters, Harry Hood Bassett, and Marie Antoinette Bassett, and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds with Annette and Wiley R. Reynolds, Jr., occupied Lennoxlove, a famous castle dating back to the Fourteenth Century. One of the tales surrounding the impressive edifice concerns a lovely lady, ancestor of Major Baird, the present owner. Her portrait hangs in the castle's picture gallery, and her ghost is said to haunt the corridors of the ancient structure.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen and their sons, Henry O. H. Frelinghuysen, Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, Jr., and George G. Frelinghuysen, of Morristown, N. J., will occupy their new home on El Bravo Way and County Road this month. The villa is a handsome addition to the colony of homes. Designed by Marion Sims Wyeth, of New York and Palm Beach, it is of a tropical Colonial architecture, called by Mr. Wyeth "Bermuda-Georgian," as the pleasing simple lines recall motives prevalent in Charleston and Bermuda. The exterior is of stucco just off a white shade, to be relieved with green shutters and a darker green sash and shingle tile roof, an unusual feature. Two gates will give admittance to the cobble paved court facing the front and a Colonial doorway, outlined in red brick, opens on the entrance hall.

Oak flooring used throughout the house is something of a departure for this locality, where tile and marble floors are extremely popular. The house contains six master bedrooms, a library, dining room and gallery, with servants' quarters in the east wing and adjoining garage. Coral stone from Key Largo, known as quarry stone, has been laid in the patio on the south side of the house. A concrete pond has been built in the center, while trees, surrounded with flowers, will ornament the four corners. Typical of the sub-tropical climate, the trees include rubber, sea grape and palms.

To the west of the patio is a 50-foot swimming pool which will be filled with water from a pipe running down to the ocean. Huge lights have been built into the sides of the pool, so that night bathing parties may be enjoyed, and there will also be illumination from artificial moons placed beneath the eaves of the house.

When here in past seasons, the Frelinghuysens occupied La Peruce, on Grace Trail. They are members of the Everglades Club, the Bath and Tennis, and in the north belong to the National Golf Links of America at Southampton, L. I.

Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, who recently returned from England aboard the S. S. Olympic, have arrived from the Ritz Carlton, in New York, and are now settled at their villa in Vita Serena. The swimming pool on the ocean side of their property is one of the larger private pools in the resort. Captain and Mrs. Wilson frequently entertain their many friends in the colony with parties at home and also at the Gulf Stream and Bath and Tennis Clubs, to which they belong.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, who spent the summer at The Fens, their lovely home in Easthampton, L. I., returned last month to Quinta Marina, on Singer Place. Their daughter, Mrs. Carter Randolph Leidy, is expected to join them later in the season.

Mrs. Woodhouse is noted for her patronage of the arts and was largely responsible for the John Drew Memorial Theater and Community Hall which was opened in the Long Island village this summer. The building is an important cultural center, containing a wing for a permanent exhibition of art work executed by residents of the community, and another wing for temporary exhibits for visiting artists. The center portion of the structure is occupied by the theater, one of the most attractive of its size in the country. At the opening ceremonies, this summer, Otis Skinner, life-long friend of Drew, made a dedicatory address, and Mrs. Woodhouse was presented with a gift by the townspeople in appreciation of her generosity.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse belong to the Everglades, Racquet and Tennis and Metropolitan Clubs.

Mr. Lawrence Waterbury, who has leased a villa on Hibiscus Avenue, was host at Patio Lamaze recently, taking his guests later to the American Legion Arena for the boxing matches. His guests included Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, Mrs. Reginald Boardman and Mr. Charles A. Munn with members of his house party, Mr. Noel Munn and Mr. and Mrs. Ector O. Munn.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, of Newport and New York, who are occupying Casa Loma, on Sunset Avenue, after a brief stay at the New Palm Beach Hotel, entertain frequently at Patio Lamaze, which this year provides a more delightful background than ever before. At a recent dinner party, Mr. William Fitz Hugh Whitehouse, with his daughter, the attractive Miss Adelaide Whitehouse, and son, William Fitz Hugh Whitehouse, 3rd, were the honor guests. Mrs. Thomas' son, J. Townsend Sackett, who has since returned to the Pomfret School, was also a member of the party.

* * * *

The first of the Sunday afternoons at home will be held January 17 by Mrs. Edward Randolph and her mother, Mrs. Edward Balbach, at Balbrook South, their home on North Lake Trail. During the summer, extensive improvements were made to their villa. Mrs. Randolph and Mrs. Balbach returned early in the season after spending the warm months at Balbrook, in Bernardsville, N. J., going to their Park Avenue residence in New York for the fall. Their popular receptions are attended by large numbers of the cottage colony and week-end guests who stop in to enjoy music and a social hour.

The pleasant custom of exchanging friendly greetings on New Year's Day was observed by interesting gatherings in the villa colony. For the fifteenth season, Mr. Addison Mizner was host at one of the most interesting of these affairs. Receiving with him was his niece, Mrs. McKim Hollins, of Pebble Beach, Calif., who has since been joined by her husband.

Refreshments were served in the dining room that probably has the most interesting history of any in the resort. The walls, brought from Spain, witnessed the signing of papers by Queen Isabella which led to the discovery of America by Columbus. Stately candles glimmered on a handsome antique buffet and a wealth of flowers was also used for decorations.

Guests invited included Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Amory, Mrs. Reginald Boardman, Mr. Clifford V. Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bryden, Mrs. Bula Croker, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Mr. and Mrs. William Dietsch, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Davies, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fabbri, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin F. Feitner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Fair, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Grant, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Phipps, Miss Lillias Piper, Mr. and Mrs. Porte F. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replogle, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mr. and Mrs. H. Halpine Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. Homer Smith, Mr. John L. Sanford, Miss Jane Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Speidel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaughnessy, Mrs. Edward Shearson, Bishop and Mrs. N. S. Thomas, Mrs. John Charles Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Thomas, Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Major and Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, Mr. Milton W. Holden, Mrs. Glenn Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Halter, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin L. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Kroger, Mr. and Mrs. George Luke Mesker, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Ector O. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Major, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Mr. and Mrs. David Hugh McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Maj. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard are newcomers to the cottage colony this year. As Miss Muriel McCormick, Mrs. Hubbard made many friends in the resort, where she wintered for several seasons. A cordial welcome is being extended to the recently wedded couple who are occupying Carlitos, on Jungle Road. They were married in September at Deep Cove, the Bar Harbor home of Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock.

Last year, Mrs. Hubbard organized the Palm Beach Playhouse, Inc., which is opening its second season today. The purpose was to encourage a taste for music, literature

Mr. and Mrs. John M. L. Rutherford, of Sea Spray Avenue, have entertained frequently during the past fortnight, usually selecting the Restaurant Flamingo on Phipps Plaza for their parties. Recently they gave a dinner for their house guests, Mr. William Walton Rutherford, Mr. Robert McC. Butt, and Mr. Harry Baker. The first two have since left for New York, whence they sailed for Europe on the Saturnia to spend the winter on the Riviera.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, of Lake Forest, Ill., returned early in the winter to Casa Alejandro, in Vita Serena. They spent the summer at Bar Harbor, Me. Mrs. McKinlock is president of the Garden Club, which will hold its first meeting this week at the home of Mr. Edward Lowber Welsh, on South Lake Trail. The annual Flower Show, sponsored by the club, will be held in the Royal Poinciana this year, February 19 to 21.

In keeping with the times, emphasis this year will be placed on small, economical gardens, designed for average homes. The thrift idea has been carried out previously in the "economy tables" sponsored by the club, when members entered tables attractively set with inexpensive china and decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dobyne returned early in the season to Casa Beata, their attractive villa on El Brillo Way, near South Ocean Boulevard, after spending the summer at Ingle, Beverly Farms, Mass. With them for the Christmas holidays was her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. John Charles Thomas, noted baritone, and Mrs. Thomas, and also Mr. James Bell Dobyne. The many friends of this popular family meet on Sunday mornings to enjoy a dip in the outdoor pool at Casa Beata, and to be entertained by various members of the Romany Chorus, which the Dobyne's organized last year. The group has been incorporated this season, and elaborate plans are being made for a musical entertainment which will be given in February. Rehearsals are now being held in the ballroom of the Royal Poinciana, through the courtesy of Mr. Henry Ellsworth Bemis.

Mrs. E. Gray Pendleton has arrived from Ventnor, N. J., and is at her home on the Lake Trail, where she will remain for the season. Miss C. Agnes Dyer, who accompanied her from the north, will be a house guest for the winter. They made the trip south on Mrs. Pendleton's private car, "Reverie."

More than 200 guests were entertained by Mayor and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., on New Year's Day at their annual open house tea. They were assisted in receiving by their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard, 3rd, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shepard.

ST. AUGUSTINE

THE closing date for entries in the fifth annual National Championship of Golf Club Champions, which will be staged on St. Augustine Links for February 1 to 6, has been set for January 23. Johnny Farrell, former U. S. Open Golf Champion, is in charge of details for the tournament. Owing to the large field of entrants, Farrell's committee will need more than a week for final arrangements instead of the customary four days between the closing of the contestant lists and the opening of the tournament. The Middle West delegation promises to be a record one, and New York's representation will exceed that in any previous club championship. The West Coast also has produced the largest number of entrants for its section since the championship was inaugurated.

It has been decided that matches in the first three rounds of the tournament will be at 18 holes, and that the test in the semi-final and final rounds will be for 36 holes. On Saturday, February 6, a medal-play handicap of 18 holes, for prizes, will be held.

Eight prizes, from the gold medal for the winner of the qualifying round to the medal play handicap event, are announced by the committee. The Walter J. Travis Memorial Trophy will go for one year to the club whose representative wins the tournament, and other prizes will be awarded to the runner-up, winner and runner-up in second flight, and winner and runner-up in the third flight.

Florida East Coast Company officials are cooperating, the committee further points out, to assure contestants the utmost in entertainment and comfort at the Hotels Ponce de Leon and Cordova. St. Augustine Links has reached the best early-season condition in its history, and a few minor alterations have improved fairways and approaches to greens. One of the notable changes has been a lengthening of the seventh hole.

Between now and the closing date, some of the foremost amateur stars in the country are expected to file their entries. In quality, as well as numbers, this season's field will outrank previous championships.

The list of annual golf fixtures at St. Augustine Links to be played this season are as follows:

January 19-23—Annual Florida East Coast Men's Championship.

February 1-6—Fifth Annual National Championship of Club Champions (Walter J. Travis Memorial Trophy).

Winter homes are being made ready and a number of them are occupied. Among those already here are Mrs. Elbridge Gerry Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, Mrs. Leonard Outhwaite, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buckner Barret, Mr. and Mrs. Homer McKeehan, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril C. Spades, Mrs. Myron H. Spades, Mrs. Martin D. Hardin, Mrs. Theodore M. Livesay, Mrs. Robert Neil Dickman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Devlin, Mrs. William T. Dickson, Miss Mary Smethurst,

Miss Marie L. Buckner Barret, Mr. J. Louis Ketterlinus, Mr. Edward B. Mears and Mr. E. Terrance McGovern.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly D. Causey have opened their winter home for the season. Their sons, Messrs. John, James and Beverly, Jr., spent Christmas with their parents.

* * * *

Mrs. James L. Barber, of Eau Clair, Wis., entertained at a delightful luncheon at the St. Augustine Links Clubhouse one day last week. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. Farwell, of Boston; Mrs. W. Thornley Dickson, of Nyack, N. Y., and Miss Margaret Grannis, of Pine Orchard, Conn.

* * * *

Mr. George Worthington, of Cleveland and Old Bennington, Vt., arrived last week from Cleveland. Mr. Worthington, who has been making his winter home at the Ponce de Leon for the past several years, is again at this hotel. His many friends here are delighted to welcome his return.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Rodenbaugh gave one of their delightful parties, when they entertained at Marviento, with a buffet supper for Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Outhwaite, one day last week. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cyril C. Spades, Judge and Mrs. George W. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Henderich, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lamont and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Roe.

The famous Ponce de Leon Hotel, known the world over for its exquisite Spanish architecture and its beauty of design, was formally opened for the season Thursday afternoon of last week, under the management of Bernard R. Howe. The Ponce de Leon is one of the oldest and best known palatial resort hostelrys in the world. It was constructed by the late Henry M. Flagler in the year of 1888 and serves as a very fitting memorial to the man who did so much for Florida. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the usual custom of raising the gates was followed. The impressive ceremony was witnessed by several hundred persons. The massive wrought iron gates which guard the entrance were slowly raised while Carl Gunther's New York orchestra played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever." At the same time the American and Spanish flags were unfurled, and another season was officially begun.

The Play Readers of the cottage colony gave its first entertainment in St. Augustine, Saturday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, of New York. The play, "Enchanted April," was produced by Mrs. Jennings. The cast included Mrs. Beverly D. Causey, Mrs. Arthur Buckner Barret, Mrs. Malcolm Leslie Stephens, Mrs. Henry N. Rodenbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Outhwaite, Miss Amey MacMillen, Charles F. Hopkins, Jr., Fred A. Henderich and Anthony D. Marlo. More than 75 guests were present.

NASSAU

VISITORS from the north who were privileged to pass the Yuletide holidays in Nassau were enchanted with the perfect weather. Long, languorous, sunshiny days and nights of magic with a full moon and star-lit sky. As has long been the custom at the Royal Victoria Hotel, when the guests descend to the lobby on Christmas and New Year's nights, they find a table to the entrance of the dining room on which is placed a huge bowl of Christmas rum egg nog. It is surrounded by many attractive appetizers and as the visitors gather around the table and drink a Christmas toast old acquaintances are renewed and fresh contacts made. After dinner, a portion of the dining room was cleared and there was dancing to the music of Knowles' orchestra until a late hour.

Among those who were at the Royal Victoria for Christmas was Mr. Alexander Wells Peck, of New York, who for three winters has brought his young sons, A. Wells Peck, Jr., and George T. Peck, from Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass., for the school holidays. Mr. Peck is well known in Palm Beach, as his firm, of which he is senior partner, has a winter shop there. On Christmas Eve, Mr. Peck arranged a midnight moonlight bathing party at Paradise Beach.

Dr. and Mrs. George H. Powers, of Boston, with their daughter, Miss Katherine Powers, were at this hotel for the holiday season.

Mr. Kintzing P. Emmons, of New York, and his son, Peter H. Emmons, a Princeton student, are vacationing here.

An interesting family party includes Mr. and Mrs. Reuben B. Robertson, of Asheville, N. C., with their sons, Reuben B., Jr., and Logan Robertson. Over the week-end the men of the family went on a fishing expedition towards Andros Island.

Mr. Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Mrs. Breadon, are interesting visitors at the Royal Victoria.

Mr. Thomas Ludlam, manager of the Cornell Club in New York, and Mr. A. C. Robinson, a classmate, were here for the Yuletide and Mr. Ludlam was taking pictures and will write a story of Nassau for the Cornell College Magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. William Iselin, of New York, are honeymooners who are enjoying glamorous Nassau.

Mr. Conral Traverso, first secretary of the Argentine Embassy at Washington, is at the Royal Victoria with Mrs. Traverso.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood Johnson, of Princeton, are guests who came via the Caledonia and left the cruise at this point.

Miss Edith Dunton arrived on the Munargo recently to resume her duties as social correspondent to the New York and other metropolitan papers in the States.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stahl, of Stamford, Conn., who are well known in Palm Beach, as they visit the Breakers each season, arrived at the Royal Victoria Monday. They had been waiting in Miami for nearly three weeks for a boat to convey them across.

Recent arrivals at the Royal Victoria include Mr. Claiborne M. Garrett, Dr. Alfred Blaze, Mr. Otis Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Harris, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Armstrong, of St. Paul, who have been at the Royal Victoria for three weeks, are prolonging their stay.

On Christmas Eve, Miss Mary Moseley, editor of the Nassau Guardian, held her annual holiday cocktail party at which a guest once invited is always privileged to attend, and the best of Nassau society is represented. The affair begins at 6 o'clock and continues until 8—or longer—and is held in the hostess' lovely tropical walled garden. Many of the shrubs and the bouganvillea vines over the piazza are illuminated with red lights, and on this holiday a full moon cast its radiance over the scene. The hot rum punch is made from an age-old recipe and with it is served many delicacies, but the flip are the raisins, served in blazing brandy on a large silver platter. These are termed "snapdragons" and are eaten for good luck during the coming year.

The New Colonial Hotel opens on January 19 and shortly before its opening Mr. C. W. Wannop, manager of that and the Royal Victoria, will arrive with Mrs. Wannop. They remained at Kingston, N. Y., in order that their twin sons, Ward and Wilbur, who attend Suffield School, might pass the holiday vacations with them.

The Bahama Islands has a new Governor. Capt. Bede Edmund Hugh Clifford, C. M. G., M. V. O., has been appointed to succeed Sir Charles J. Orr, and already has begun his duties. His Excellency is the younger son of Lord Clifford of Chudleigh of Ugbrooke Park, Chudleigh, Devon, who is the tenth Baron, the title having been created in 1672.

Miss Elizabeth Collins, who attends Miss Finch's School, and her brother, Junior Collins, who attends Hotchkiss, came down via the Munargo to spend the holiday vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Collins, who are spending the winter in Nassau.

LIVELY POLO AT PHIPPS FIELDS

POLO, played at Phipps Fields, Gulfstream, most perfect playing fields in the country, demands a place of primary importance this season, because of the regular matches to be held each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. Some of the ranking players of the country, who have been members of leading college and cup-defending teams, are seen in play and provide thrills a-plenty.

In the first polo match of the season, played recently at Gulfstream, the Whitebirds nosed out a crack team of Redbirds, 7 to 6. On the winning Whitebirds were H. C. Phipps, Leonard and Raymond Firestone and T. Warren. Making up the Redbirds were J. S. Phipps, Michael Phipps, Hubert Phipps, and Stewart Preece.

Michael Phipps played like a demon throughout the game, riding them down and placing five of the six goals made by the Redbirds. Three of these were tallied during the last chukker and he was in a fair way to make another and tie the score when the gong rang, ending the match. The other lone tally for the Reds was made by Hubert Phipps. Excellent defensive work was done by Stewart Preece and J. S. Phipps.

On the winning Whitebirds, H. C. Phipps made three tallies; Raymond Firestone, two; Leonard Firestone, one; and T. Warren, one. Both members of the Firestone family distinguished themselves with their excellent play and splendid horsemanship, making it largely possible for their side to win.

In the early chukkers, the Whitebirds led by a wide margin and up into the fourth chukker appeared to have things their own way, but in the last of the fifth and throughout the sixth, Michael Phipps, working with the splendid defense of his team-mates, threatened to turn the tide.

In a special eight-chukker polo match, held for the benefit of the West Palm Beach Community Chest, the Gulfstream Redbirds nosed out the Palm Beach Whitebirds, 9 to 8, winning four beautiful cups, donated by Mr. Harvey Firestone, as victors' trophies.

On the Redbirds were Hubert Phipps, Stewart Preece, Michael Phipps and Laddy Sanford. Whitebirds were James Cox Brady, Jr., Raymond Firestone, Leonard Firestone and William Post. Godfrey Preece played the first two chukkers on the Redbirds until Michael Phipps arrived from Miami.

The match was one of the fastest seen here in some time, although the Redbirds had things much their own way in the first half. From that time on, however, the Whitebirds tightened and staging a concerted rally were in a fair way to even the score when the match ended.

Michael Phipps rode at his usual fast pace and scored five goals for the Reds, aided by the excellent teamwork of his brother, Hubert. Stewart Preece made two of the most sensational plays of the game when each time he took the ball the length of the field. He slightly overreached on the first try and was unsuccessful, but the second play gave him a tally.

Hubert Phipps also made an exceptional shot for a goal, when he caught the ball right off the mallet of Michael Phipps and placed it at right angles for a tally. Stewart Preece made one goal; Hubert Phipps, two, and Laddy Sanford, one.

Raymond Firestone was the outstanding player for the Whites, scoring four of the eight goals made. He also carried the ball twice almost the length of the field before making the tallies. William Post played an excellent defensive position and rode through his opponents for two difficult goals. Leonard Firestone, with his long shots, also scored twice. James Cox Brady, Jr., the other teammate, played well.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps motored from Casa Bendita to the Phipps polo field at Gulf Stream to watch various members of their family play eight chukkers of swift polo for the benefit of charity. Noted in the car with Mrs. Phipps was her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hubert Phipps, whose husband played with the Redbirds. Mrs. James Cox Brady, Jr., and her brother, Arnold Chace, visitors at the Phipps' ocean-front villa, were rooting for the White team, of which Mr. Brady was a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone, Sr., drove up from Miami Beach, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Elizabeth I. Firestone, and Mr. John Hendrick, to view the polo matches at Phipps field in which members of the Firestone family played on the White team.

SPORT FISHING

SPORT FISHING, one of the "big three" in outdoor divertimento at Palm Beach, and considered of much importance in the successful sport season here, is finding favor with many of the winter visitors and residents, as well as with the hotel guests. One of the greatest thrills of a Palm Beach season is to land a huge eight-foot sailfish after a hard fight in an open boat in the Gulf Stream.

One of the most complete sport fishing fleets in Florida waters is quartered at the Poinciana basin, sponsored by the Sailfish Club of Florida and under the command of Capt. Herman Gray.

From here, resort visitors, hotel guests and winter residents may obtain boats daily for one of the most enjoyable day's fishing to be experienced anywhere. All the craft are 35 feet or over with roomy cabins, fresh bait wells and powerful motors, built extremely seaworthy for these waters. They are also manned by captains who have been here for many seasons and are fully familiar with the waters and special haunts of all varieties of fish.

The "Orca," trim sloop with powerful dual motors and a most roomy cabin, suitable for long cruises, is in charge of Capt. Herman Gray, who directed the Vanderbilt expedition to Panama this summer. Other boats at the dock include "Black Jack," owned by Capt. Rudy Steinhauser; "Osprey," owned by Capt. Eddie Moore; "Florence," owned by Captain Crosby; "Sunny," manned by Capt. Jimmy Dodge; "Miss Sally," captained by George Fizell, and the "Imp," with Harry Hunt as captain.

The "Diane," personal craft of Mr. Frank Duff Frazier, is also quartered at the basin with Capt. Walt Githens as captain, along with the "Chelsea," private craft of Mr. John F. Harris.

Ideal weather for sailfishing has been greeting anglers for the past few weeks and a number have returned from the Gulf Stream with sizeable "sails" to show for the day's sport.

An interesting party was that of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer, Miss Grace Amory, and Mr. Charles Amory, Jr., who went out on the "Orca," captained by Herman P. Gray. Miss Amory landed two beautiful "sails" and Mr. Charles Amory, Jr., brought one sailfish to gaff after a spirited struggle. According to Captain Gray, there was plenty of evidence of sailfish and blues, as well as other varieties.

Mr. David Mabee, of New Haven, Conn., who is stopping at the Breakers, landed a sailfish measuring 88 inches while out with Mr. Roger Bacon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sweatt and children, Martha and Billy, spent the day out on board the "Osprey," with Capt. Eddie Moore, and brought back an excellent specimen of sailfish as a trophy of the day's exciting fishing expedition.

Among the junior anglers of the resort colony, Ted Sawyer and Frederick P. White are vying for honors. Ted Sawyer, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sawyer, proved himself an able angler recently when he performed the hitherto unheard of feat of hooking and landing a 7-foot, 5-inch sailfish unaided on light tackle in 16 minutes. The fish put up a stiff fight but the lad was too much for it and in a very efficient manner soon brought it aboard. He was out with Capt. Eddie Moore on board the "Osprey."

Frederick P. White, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Q. White, landed a 7-foot sailfish, weighing 45 pounds, and a hammerhead shark of 103 pounds while out in the Gulf Stream. Both were caught with rod and reel, a smart task for an 11-year-old angler. He went sport fishing with Captain Brophy, aboard Mr. Arthur Hugeley's yacht.

Aquatic events, which also attract a great deal of interest because of the ideal, natural conditions existing here for them, will include the annual Washington's Birthday regatta, sponsored by the Palm Beach Yacht Club, featuring fast hydroplanes, sporty outboards, runabouts and yacht racing. The Sir Thomas Lipton regatta, to be held early in March, will bring some of the best known outboard racers in the country to participate in the various class events.

Anglers will be given an excellent chance to test their prowess with their contemporaries, in the annual Sailfish Club of Florida fishing contest, which is now open to members and will close early in March, with beautiful trophies to be awarded to members contending, in light and heavy tackle, and also in weight class.

First entries in the senior class of the annual Sailfish Club of Florida's fishing contest, which opened January 1, were made known recently by Capt. James McAskill at the Poinciana basin. Mr. Harry C. Woodruff, well known angler and Palm Beach resident, entered the first sailfish for length, which measured 7 feet, 6½ inches, and Mr. William Vey, also a member of the Sailfish Club, entered a "sail" of 56½ pounds in the weight class.

In the junior class, Frederick White entered a fish that will be hard to outclass, measuring 8 feet, 1 inch. Miss Clara Glover also entered a 7 foot, 4-inch "sail."

Rough water outside recently prevented many anglers from trying any deep sea fishing, but several groups tried their luck in the lake and along the Loxahatchee river.

Mr. Frank Duff Frazier, veteran angler, who brings in his quota of sizeable game fish each year, had a pleasant afternoon's sport in the upper end of the lake aboard his boat, "Diane." He brought back a number of hefty "blues."

METROPOLITAN SOCIETY NOTES

THE holiday season always sees the launching of many new stars on the horizon of society. A dozen debuts a day occupy the hectic attention of the younger set and their mothers. Of special interest to Palm Beach are the following accounts of the coming out parties of a number of young women whose families are well known in the winter colony and who have visited here in former seasons.

Miss Susie McR. Hopkins, of 1035 Fifth Avenue and Irvington, N. Y., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fox Hopkins, was presented to society on December 24 with a supper ball given by her sister, Miss Josephine L. Hopkins, in the main ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton.

Miss Hopkins visited her brother, Mr. John R. Hopkins, at his North Lake Trail home in Palm Beach last season. She attended the costume ball at the Everglades Club during the winter, and was awarded a prize for her distinctive costume.

The ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton was bounded by a hedge of pink azaleas and the walls were festooned with garlands of silver leaves and pink flowers. The stairs and entrance to the ballroom were decorated with cedars and boxwood trees and masses of red poinsettias. In the middle of the dining room stood a huge Christmas tree and the supper tables were decorated with red roses. Two orchestras played alternately for dancing and during supper there was Hawaiian music and an entertainment program. At midnight an orchestra played Christmas music in the darkened ballroom while "snow" fell.

The debutante received with her sister, her step-father, Brig. Gen. John F. Daniel, Mrs. Arthur Poillon and Mrs. C. C. Arosemena. She wore a gown of ivory velvet and carried American Beauty roses.

At Miss Hopkins' table were the Misses Julia Delafield, Jane Ewing, Elizabeth Starring, Elizabeth Englar, Margot Stevenson, Eloise Robinson, of Philadelphia; Sally van D. Kilbourn, Carol L. Barnes, Shirley Myrick, Miriam Hall, Maida Lee Mason and Christiana Torlonia.

Also Messrs. William Morgan Hobbs, Russell Tucker, Melville Hall, Hudson B. Lemkau, Arthur Ware, jr., Mayson Tucker, John Milliken, Charles B. Halsey, Horace Tucker, Gail Macomber, John Aiken, Harry Brooks, Robert W. Prosser, Laurens R. Bowden, Douglas Owens and Frederick Wall Finn.

Among other guests were the Misses Constance Terhune, Elizabeth Vought, Edythe Sterling, Louise Powers, Dorothy Q. Paine, Helena McCann, Dorothy B. Mallory, Marjorie Jones, Mary L. Lansing, Barbara Hutton, Doris Duke, Gigiotta Bertelli, Leta Clews, Veronica Belfe, Elizabeth Sinclair, Jane Swope, Adele Palmer, Irene Allen, Honour Dickerman, Trina C. Marshall, Sarah Barrows, Gertrude Bailey, Amy V. Aspegren, Elizabeth D. Campbell, Natalie Mai Coe, Helen dePeyster, Barbara Fish, Isabel Gardiner, Marion F. Gray, Betty Hall, Adaline Havemeyer, Georgine B. Hunt, Wilhelmine S. Kirby, Alicia Ludlow, Caroline Townsend, Frederica Webb, Eliza Kent Wolfe, Elizabeth S. Young, Lucille T. Thieriot, Vernon Siems, Elizabeth Steele, Georgia Schmerhorn, Mary A. Phipps, Mary D. Plunkett, Mary Cary Monks, Leta Morris, Julie C. Parks, Barbara Mason, Agnes McCrea, Barbara Lewis, Isabel Lemkau, Mary Pat Kelley, Mary Louise Hatch, Gladys Graham, Veronica E. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Havemeyer gave a dinner dance on December 23, in the main ballroom of the Ritz-Carleton, for their debutante daughter, Miss Adaline Havemeyer.

Because of mourning in the Havemeyer family, Mrs. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen was the hostess for the evening. She received with the debutante, who wore a gown of white flat crepe with red velvet sash and bow and carried lilies of the valley and anemones.

Tiny lanterns set among silvered branches, poinsettia plants and cedar and Christmas trees formed the decorations. A large bunch of mistletoe hung from the chandelier and there were Christmas centerpieces on the tables.

At the debutante's table were the Misses Helena McCann, Trina Marshall, Peggy Russell, Florence Roome, Elizabeth Saunders, Julia Macy, Lila Webb, Irene Allen, Hope Brown and Mary Canfield.

Also Messrs. PALM BEACH CLUB ACTIVITIES

THE EVERGLADES CLUB, one of the most important social centers in the resort, opened for the season on New Year's Eve with a dinner dance, a custom which it has been observing for the past 15 years. Mr. Paris E. Singer was elected president of the club at a recent meeting in New York. Mr. Singer has headed the club ever since its founding. Other officers chosen are: A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., vice-president; Lewis Quentin Jones, vice president; George A. Dobyne, vice president; A. W. MacDougall, secretary-treasurer.

Executive Committee: A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Lewis Quentin Jones, Horton C. Rorick, John M. L. Rutherford, A. W. MacDougall.

Board of Governors: Paris E. Singer, A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Hugh Dillman, George A. Dobyne, Francis P. Fleming, Capt. J. H. Gibbons, Franklyn L. Hutton, Lewis Quentin Jones, Alfred G. Kay, A. W. MacDougall, Cecil M. Singer, Horton C. Rorick, Marvin H. Rorick, John M. L. Rutherford, John Shepard, Jr., F. Homer Smith, Ralph Beaver Strassburger, William Waller, Jr., Horace H. Work, Charlton Yarnall.

Committee on Admissions: Paris E. Singer, A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Hugh Dillman, George A. Dobyne, Capt. J. H. Gibbons, Lewis Quentin Jones, Alfred G. Kay, John M. L. Rutherford, Cecil M. Singer, Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Horace H. Work, Charlton Yarnall.

The formal social season was inaugurated at the New Year's Eve opening dinner dance, which was attended by a throng of members and their guests who greeted the advent of another twelve months with gaiety and an exchange of friendly greetings.

The magnificent Spanish dining room with its mural paintings of historical subjects, formed a handsome background for the brilliantly-gowned women and their escorts.

Snapdragons, gladioli and roses in profusion decorated the tables, and at each place was an elaborate fancy hat.

Dudley Doe and his orchestra played for dancing in the lounge, where guests danced between courses, and after dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. George Warren Fuller were hosts at one of the largest parties of the evening. Their guests were Senator and Mrs. Alfred H. Wagg, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Gail G. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McNeil, Dr. and Mrs. Bailey B. Sory, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hayes, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Ream, Dr. and Mrs. Vincent D. Callahan, Commodore and Mrs.

Vincent B. Ward and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. C. Jerome Pickering and Mrs. Joseph Fahys; Mrs. Earle Deakin, Mrs. Nettie Livermore, Mrs. Nell Kendall, and Mrs. James C. Kane; also Messrs. William Kane, Elmer Jordan, John Hampton Cooper, Joseph Braun, Harry Lee Creary, C. C. Woodworth, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. George Horton Glover, of Nido deAmor, on El Brillo Way, were hosts to a party of four, and Mrs. Frances Barnes entertained for the same number. Mr. and Mrs. H. Hardcastle Pennock, of Sea Spray Avenue, were noted among the merry-makers on this gala occasion and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hakes were seen at a table for six. Eight guests were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herendeen.

* * * *

Col. and Mrs. Thomas E. Murphy, who are wintering at the Breakers, had as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Downs, who are also at the Breakers for the season.

* * * *

Mr. Hanson F. Randle had as his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mrs. Reginald Brooks, Mr. Joseph Shean and Dr. L. Biddle Duffield.

* * * *

With Mr. and Mrs. John M. L. Rutherford, of Sea Spray Avenue, were their house guests, Mr. William W. Rutherford, Mr. Harry Baker and Mr. Robert Butt; also Lieut. J. B. Lynch and Lieutenant Southward, who came up from the naval base at Miami.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. F. Homer Smith had among their guests Mr. Addison Mizner and his niece, Mrs. McKim Hollins.

* * * *

Mrs. Bula Croker, of South Ocean Boulevard, entertained 40 guests in honor of her sister, Mrs. Gonia Tinnin, whose birthday was celebrated on the occasion.

* * * *

The regular Thursday and Sunday night dinner dances in the Orange Garden of the Everglades Club were resumed January 7. The luxuriant shrubbery and flowers in the garden are more beautiful than ever before, and interesting lighting effects enhance the charm at night.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Alexander, of Lake Forest, Ill., who were former Breakers guests, will arrive about January 20 to occupy an apartment at the Everglades Club. Mr. and Mrs. J. Lorimer Worden, of New York, will occupy an apartment in Blue Villa.

* * * *

The Oasis Club opened for the season on New Year's Day, with informal open house for club members and their guests.

Mr. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., the genial and popular president of the club, is returning to Palm Beach this season after an absence of two years, and will again take an active part in the social and sports activities of the club.

Other officers of the club include Messrs. Jules Bache, Maurice Fatio and Col. James A. Blair, vice presidents; Mr. Christopher Dunphy, secretary and treasurer.

On the board of governors are Messrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Jules S. Bache, Walter P. Chrysler, Gerard M. Dahl, Christopher Dunphy, Harris Hammond, Milton W. Holden, Robert Goellet, Clarence H. Geist, Ogden Reid, Alfred Wagg, Col. James A. Blair, Jay F. Carlisle, Thomas Durant, Maurice Fatio, Robert Norris, Rodney Thayer and Wiley R. Reynolds.

Organized primarily as a residential club for bachelors, the Oasis Club now holds open house for feminine guests during the afternoon, when tea is served in the patio. Always a lovely spot, the patio this season is even more beautiful, with a number of stately palm trees, tropical plants and shrubs added. The new dance floor runs the length of the patio, and is of multi-colored Zina tile, a composition material that not only is exceedingly effective from an architectural standpoint but has proved excellent for dancing. The 12 new palm trees, the gift of the president, are flourishing wonderfully.

Thursday evenings will be again devoted to the "beef-steak" suppers which have proven so popular an entertainment feature at the club for several seasons.

Boxing of high order, always held at the Oasis, will in more frequent recurrence, be a considerable part of the club's program of entertainment during the winter. The boxing teas, with dancing between bouts, given twice a month are outstanding events of the winter season.

Turner, steward at the Oasis Club since its opening, is again in charge.

The Sailfish Club of Florida, with clubrooms above the Poinciana-Breakers Casino, was among the first of the resort's clubs to open for the season, when members entertained informally on Christmas Day.

The popular tea dances, so delightful a feature of the entertainment program of the Sailfish Club, are to be resumed again this season, the first one will take place the latter part of this month.

The annual fishing contest of the club opens January 1 and closes March 15. The handsome array of trophies donated by club members will be on display after Christmas in the Breakers Hotel store of Greenleaf and Crosby.

Mr. David H. McCulloch, of Port Washington, L. I., is the new president of the club, elected to office last spring. Mr. Ward Ames and Mr. Wiley R. Reynolds are the new vice presidents, while Mr. Francis A. Shaughnessy is again secretary and treasurer. Mr. Ward Ames is chairman of the fishing committee and acting with him are Messrs. Niles S. Babbitt, David H. McCulloch, Horace H. Work and Marion Sims Wyeth. Mr. Harry C. Woodruff is chairman of the house committee and will be assisted by Mr. James R. Emery, Mr. Wiley R. Reynolds and Mr. Francis A. Shaughnessy.

As in preceding years, the fishing fleet of the Sailfish Club will be at the Royal Poinciana basin, and is available for club members, hotel guests, and winter visitors. James MacAskill will again be the steward in charge at the basin.

Beautiful Hair

LEND A CHARM and DISTINCTION not obtainable in any other way. There is no better evidence of culture and refinement. Lucky Tiger frees your scalp of dandruff, overcomes sluggish blood circulation, and gives to the hair a new life and lustre.

AFTER SEA BATHING

Use Lucky Tiger Freely!

THERE'S where you will get your real thrill. Lucky Tiger is marvelous for the hair and scalp. It means more life and more energy. Being a germicide, it goes to the seat of scalp trouble. Those miserable itchings are replaced with tingles as pleasing as the beautiful moonlight and the sparkles of the stars.

LUCKY TIGER

Lucky Tiger has proven its merit over nearly two score years. It is used by millions. It easily has the largest distribution of any similar preparation in the world. Exhaustive bacteriological tests have proven both the safety and germicidal efficiency of Lucky Tiger.

JITTERS
the NIGHT BEFORE!

THERE is no cold, grey dawn in the lives of Jitters users. Whether they over-eat, over-drink, or over-smoke, a tablespoonful of Jitters in a glass of water before retiring makes them wake up with head clear, stomach settled and nerves calmed.

All night long, the million little sponges in Jitters are at work absorbing the toxic poisons that over-indulgence brings. When morning comes, there is no trace of the night before. Not a drug—not a laxative—Jitters is simply a product which nature began and science completed. It has no bad after-effects. Jitters is good on the morning after—better the night before.

NASSAU

OF OUTSTANDING interest this week was the banquet given at the Royal Victoria Hotel Tuesday evening to the Right Honourable Winston Churchill, P. C., C. H., M. P., by the Bahamas Legislature. As the recent Governor had departed and the new Governor not yet arrived, the acting administrator, His Excellency, the Hon. Charles Dundas, O. B. E., was in the chair. The lower end of the dining room in the hotel was screened by a graceful arrangement of palms and tropical foliage presenting the effect of a tropical jungle, with scarlet hibiscus and trumpet flowers adorning the wall brackets. Only choice native roses were used on the long table surrounded by maiden hair fern and the exquisite blue sky flower.

Each member of the Legislature was standing behind his chair as the police band, stationed in the gardens, played "God Save the King" and the acting administrator, Mr. Dundas, attended by Captain Holland, A. D. C., entered with Mr. Churchill and were received by Hon. Harcourt Malcolm, speaker of the House of Assembly, and Hon. Dr. G. H. Johnson, president of the Legislative Council.

Orders and decorations gleamed on the breasts of the majority of the assemblage, Mr. Churchill's breast presenting a glittering array.

The menu was composed entirely of native Bahamian dishes, selected with "Buy British" week in mind, and included the Bahamas' national dish, turtle baked in its shell. The wine list began with Jamaica rum swizzles and ended with Nassau sorrel liqueur.

Toasts were proposed to His Majesty, the King, and followed by one to Her Majesty, the Queen, the Prince of Wales and members of the Royal family.

Excellent addresses were made by the president of the legislative council, the Hon. Dr. G. H. Johnson, and by the speaker of the House of Assembly, the Hon. Harcourt Malcolm.

A vein of sentiment ran through the toast given to Mr. Churchill by the acting administrator, Hon. Charles Dundas, since it was through him that the then young Mr. Dundas received his first appointment to the British Colonial service, 25 years ago.

Mr. Churchill's address was inspiring. Although plainly showing the effects of his accident in New York and bearing a bright red scar across his forehead, the English statesman spoke with great force and feeling.

Referring to the Bahamas and the United States, Mr. Churchill said "I feel that there is a crimson streak of kinship flowing across the waters of the seas which joins us together in making a union of the English-speaking peoples."

At the close of the banquet, Mr. Churchill moved around the tables and shook the hand of each guest as he departed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Andrews have arrived from New York with their daughter, Miss Theodosia Burr Andrews, and they will remove to the New Colonial when it opens.

Mrs. Harry D. Tuck, of Kittery Pointe, Me., and New York, is a guest of former seasons who has returned. She arrived on the Britannic.

HAVANA

ALLURING and enchanting as old Havana may be for the visitor, the new Havana is proving no less surprising and seductive when our visitors see the new city within the old, with all its attractions, conveniences and beauties that are found in the great capitals of the United States and Europe. Havana is growing and spreading miles beyond the original confines, where captivating suburbs and beautiful residential districts appear, gay with artistic chalets, lovely grounds and admirable parks and promenades. The Malecon, a driveway along the seashore, bordered with splendid buildings, is one of the most beautiful promenades in the world. It has been likened by night to a "fantastic glow-worm bathing in the waters" and one never tires of seeing the ships pass in and out, falling into single file between Morro Castle and La Punta—an endless line of vessels, with flags of all nations floating at the mastheads, with the glorious sky overhead, Morro Castle in the background, and the rippling blue waves in the fore, giving the impression of a curtain in the theatre.

The Plaza Hotel is sharing the role of host to the many tourists who are visiting Havana daily. It is evident that many American notables are to make Havana their homes this season.

* * * *

The Duke and Duchess of Manchester were among those arriving early in the season to spend their honeymoon in Havana. The new Duchess—Miss Kathleen Dawes—is very attractive and has much charm. The Duke has always felt very much at home in Havana, as Cuba is the country of his mother, Consuelo de Yznaga de Valle.

Capt. and Mrs. Langlay, of Seattle, Wash., are among the recent visitors, having arrived here on a cruise through the Panama Canal and Havana to New York.

Reposing at the Plaza Roof Garden you hear from afar the thundering crashing drives of lapis-blue surfs on the beaches, where long ago swashbuckling sea-rovers and buccaneers of the Spanish Main swarmed on piratical and untamed coasts, where Columbus himself cast anchor, where nations fought for possession, and where Cuba obtained her independence. Way back in 1898 the United States fought for Cuba's freedom, now come down and enjoy it!

"STANDARD OF THE WORLD"

Twenty-seven years ago, the Cadillac Motor Car Company won the famous British Dewar Trophy for excellence in design, performance and precision manufacture. And with the award went the judges' citation—"Standard of the World." Not once in all the years that have intervened has Cadillac forgotten this premier ranking. Always, its products have been designed and built to offer everything which makes a motor car useful, as well as desirable. Today, in the four new cars which comprise its distinguished family, Cadillac has given its greatest emphasis to this established leadership. In fact, it is Cadillac's honest opinion that these four new creations represent the greatest general advancement ever effected since the automotive industry began. You are cordially invited to verify this at your Cadillac-LaSalle dealer's—today. LaSalle prices range from $2395, Cadillac from $2795, f.o.b. Detroit.

ST. AUGUSTINE

OLONISTS have turned from a busy week of social affairs to join the most elaborate winter program of sports ever planned for this resort. Six major tournaments for men and women are scheduled in golf, and in tennis at least five events, including the tenth annual Southeastern championship for men, will be held. The first golf tournament of the new year, the annual Florida East Coast men's championship, will be held, beginning today and lasting until Saturday, the 23rd.

Topping the week's social activities here was a bridge party, given recently by Mrs. George Miller at her home on Bay Street. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, Mrs. Elbridge Gerry Snow, Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncan Puller, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buckner Barret, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lamont, Mrs. William T. Durrett, Mrs. Theodore M. Livesay, Miss Amey MacMillan, Mrs. Edward B. Mears, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Henderich and Mr. George Worthington.

The Play Readers will give their second performance here tonight. Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, the president, is assisted in preparations by members of the managing board, who are Mrs. Robert Erskine Wright, Mrs. Theodore M. Livesay and Miss Amey MacMillan. A rehearsal took place recently for the play "Loyalties," by John Galsworthy. Those in the cast include Mrs. Robert Neil Dickman, Mr. Fred A. Henderich, Mr. Bertram C. Mickler, Mr. George B. Lamar, Miss Edith Taylor, Mayor T. Rogero Mickler, Mrs. Knight McClintock, Mr. Charles F. Hopkins, Jr., Mr. Tyler Van-Campen, Mr. Sterling Marsh, Dr. J. R. Moseley, Mr. Albert J. Watt, Mr. Malcolm Leslie Stephens, the Rev. L. Fitz-James Hindry, Judge W. A. MacWilliams, Mr. J. W. Hoffman and Mr. Edward B. Mears.

Luncheon guests at the Ponce de Leon this week included Mr. Garrett Chatfield Pier, author and archeologist, and Mrs. Pier, of Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. Elbridge Gerry Snow and her son, Mr. Sterling Marsh, of New York, who opened their winter villa on the sea wall early this season, returned recently from a short motor trip to the southern part of the state.

Mr. William R. Kenan, Jr., president of the Florida East Coast Hotel Company, and Mrs. Kenan arrived recently at the Ponce de Leon to remain for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. August Heckscher and Mr. and Mrs. William Fahnestock, of New York, will arrive this week to open their homes for the winter.

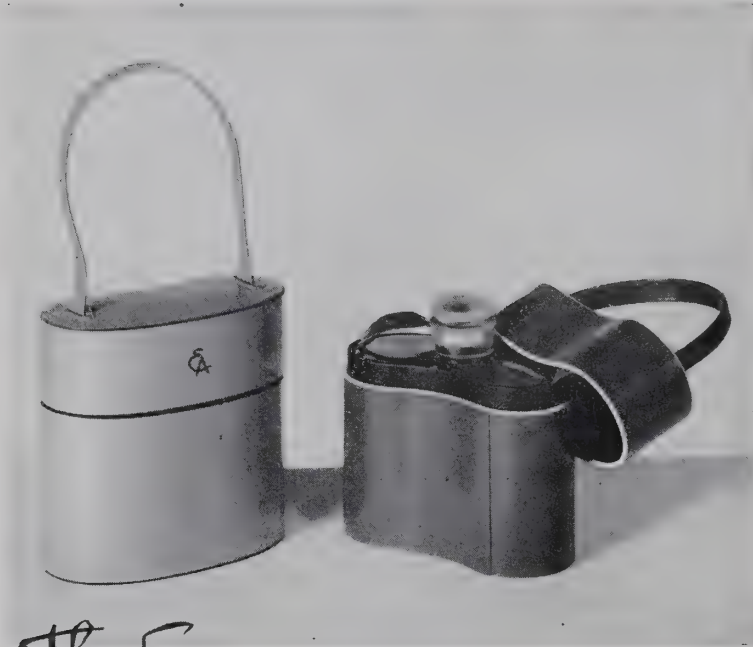

Mrs. Robert Neil Dickman, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. William M. Wherry, in New York, arrived Tuesday and opened her cottage on the bay front.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCarthy, of New York, and their daughter, Jane, arrived recently and will be at the Cordova for the season.

The program of social activities at the Ponce de Leon is in full swing. Three concerts are held daily under the direction of Mr. Carl Gunther.

Capt. Valerian Yavorsky, former tennis champion of south Russia, who will be in charge of the Alcazar and Ponce de Leon tennis courts this season, is planning a number of tournaments.

The schooner, "Sylvia" with its owner, Mr. Francis Howard; his brother, A. H. Howard, Jr., and Douglas Fox, of Port Washington, departed Monday for a cruise in southern waters.

Golden Days of Sunshine

OUT of the continuous procession of days, year after year, there are certain ones in life which stand out with serenely pleasant memories. These are the days of health, ambition, contentment and happiness. They are the June days when cares are forgotten and one almost unconsciously joins in blissful harmony with nature. They are the "Golden Days of Sunshine," and in Palm Beach its people enjoy 359 of these days each year.

Residents of Palm Beach are able to enjoy more hours of sunshine and daylight during the days of the winter season than those who live in the cities of the north. More sunshine means more time to enjoy the pleasures of life. It means better health by living more in the out-of-doors under natural influences.

More and longer days of sunshine in Palm Beach are caused by the fact that this fashionable winter resort is situated nearer the equator where the days and nights, the year around, are of equal length. The closer one is to the equator, the more daylight one will enjoy in the winter months. The farther away, the opposite condition will exist and at the poles the year is divided between six months of darkness and six months of daylight. At the North Pole there is no sunshine during the winter season.

The shortest day of each year in Palm Beach is 10.5 hours and the longest day is 13.8 hours. In New York, Boston, Detroit and other cities of the northern climes the variation is much greater. The difference in New York, for instance, is 6.8 hours between its shortest and longest days. The shortest day is on December 21 and the longest comes on June 21.

The average winter temperature in Palm Beach is 72 degrees and in the summer 83 degrees. In New York, the average winter temperature is much lower, the annual average for January showing 31 degrees. The January record for Palm Beach is 66 degrees.

Combined with the long "Golden Days of Sunshine," which bless Palm Beach, is the Gulf Stream, whose warm waters have a soothing and extremely healthful effect on its climate. It has been said that the Gulf Stream influences the temperature of Palm Beach to the extent of 10 degrees of warmth during the winter months and supplies the cool breezes with the opposite effect during the summer time. This condition exists here for reason that the Gulf Stream passes nearer to the shores of Palm Beach than at any other point along the Atlantic Coast of North America, as it travels its course from the Gulf of Mexico towards the British Isles. At Palm Beach this warm river of the Atlantic is less than one mile from the shore line.

The absence of extreme temperatures, the almost unbroken chain of long, balmy days of sunshine, the prevalence of trade winds from the ocean all combine to give Palm Beach a climatic setting, not to be equalled anywhere else in the world and which is responsible for this paradise, recognized as the most comfortable and fashionable winter resort place in America.

Visitors to Palm Beach have the call of the out-of-doors. It is the days of sunshine, with the waving palms, the smiling flowers and the singing birds that greet and welcome one to the open, and induce all to join in the sports and recreation for which the island resort is noted. They are the Palm Beach days, the many days of golden sunshine.

ON SUNNY PALM BEACH SANDS

OPENING on December 1, the Sea Spray Beach Club has been one of the popular rendezvous of the early season. Cottagers are partial to spending the early part of the day on the sands, absorbing the warm sun's rays after a plunge in the ocean or a swim around the pool, and usually make a trip to the beach the first consideration on the program of entertainment for northern guests.

The boxing matches given each year at Sea Spray are among the interesting events of the late season.

These early season days find the broad white sands dotted with yellow, blue and orange wind-breaks and striped umbrellas, providing back-rests and shade for large and small groups of members and guests.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert M. Stewart-Richardson, of England, who are spending their first season in this resort, are among those who have recently joined Sea Spray.

* * * *

Juan Riano, former Spanish Ambassador to the United States, accompanied by his host, the Rev. Roderick Terry, and Mr. Roderick Terry, Jr., were recent guests of Mr. Stuyvesant LeRoy, of Newport, who has leased an apartment for the season. Dr. Terry and his son, with their distinguished visitor, are aboard their luxurious houseboat, fishing in the Keys, and will return soon to spend the rest of the winter here.

Among others who have lately taken membership at Sea Spray are Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, of the New Palm Beach Hotel; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer, who are at Sea Side cottage with her daughter, Miss Grace Amory; the Rt. Rev. Nathaniel Seymour Thomas, rector of the church of Bethesda-by-the-Sea, and Mrs. Thomas, with their house guest, Mrs. William Guy Noll; Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Morrison, of Clarke Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. A. Kinnaird Tod, of Chilean Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Fair, who have the former McCulloch residence in Golf View Road for the season; Miss Anne Towle and her sister, Miss Mary Stewart Towle, of Newport; Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West, who are in a new house this winter, the former home of Mrs. Frederick A. Glidden, which is now called Villa Tramonto, "Sunset House," as the lake in front of their domicile is most picturesque at sundown; Mrs. Katherine P. Avery and daughter, Miss Ann Avery; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Tate Anthony and their children, Mary, Clarke, Winifred, Virginia and Roscoe T. Anthony, Jr.; Miss Millicent Bancroft, Miss Dorothy Battie, Mrs. McAlpin Barton, Mrs. Reginald Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Bell, Mrs. A. Minford Bond, Mr. Minford Wolcott Bond, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Bennett, Mr. Jack Butler, Mrs. Edith Cheeks, Mr. L. Phillips Clarke, Mr. Louis S. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Dolge and their sons, Peter and Alfred; Mrs. Oscar G. Davies and daughter, Miss Anne Askew Davies; Mrs. Earl Deakin, Mrs. B. C. Darling, Mrs. George Warren Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Goding, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Gwynne, Mr. and Mrs. Gail G. Grant, Miss Doris Hofheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Homer, Miss Margaret Hood, Miss Helen B. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herendeen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hall and daughter, Sally Lou Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Jarvis, Mr. W. H. Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Kroger, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver T. Keep, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kohl, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph I. Lewis, Mrs. Walter Scott Leeds, Mr. Stuyvesant LeRoy, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lloyd, Mrs. Charles Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Joel W. Massie, Mr. Benjamin B. McCormick, Mrs. Harry P. McGinley, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes, Nancy, Sydney, Shirley and William Oakes; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Odman, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hardcastle Pennock, Constance Lois and Jerome H. Pennock; Mr. and Mrs. Porte F. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quigley and daughter, Ruth Marian Quigley; Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn, Mr. Hanson F. Randle, Mrs. Edward Randolph, Maj. and Mrs. Robert M. Stewart-Richardson, and their daughter, Betty; Dr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Ream, Mr. Cecil Parker Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sweatt and Marta and Bill Sweatt; Dr. and Mrs. William Y. Sayad, Mr. Alexander M. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Avy B. Smith, Mrs. H. Halpine Smith and her daughter, Joan Smith; Mrs. Samuel H. Valentine, Mr. Edward Lowber Welsh, Mr. Jerome E. Wideman, Mr. and Mrs. Luther A. Wait, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Woodworth, Miss Dorothy K. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West, Commodore and Mrs. Vincent Bloss Ward, Mrs. Roland S. Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Massie, of El Nido on Chilean Avenue, are frequently noted at the Sea Spray Beach Club with their daughters, Patricia and Olive. They are among those who enjoy the delightful custom of remaining after their morning swim to lunch al fresco and to absorb their full share of the warm sunshine. Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Massie were joined by Mr. Edward Crozer, of New York, who is now at the Boca Raton Club for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Crozer passed a few days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Fair, of Golf View Road. Another interesting member of the Massie beach parties is Mr. Gerald Cornell, who played the part of Wallace Grainger in "Let Us Be Gay," by Rachel Crothers, the opening production of the Palm Beach Playhouse.

* * * *

Mrs. A. Minford Bond, and her son, Mr. Minford Wolcott Bond, who joined the club soon after their arrival from the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, usually come down to the beach on Sunday after attending services at the church of Bethesda-by-the-Sea. Mrs. Bond, on cool mornings, wears a striking coat of Lido red wool with a fur-edged cape collar. The Bonds have returned to Palm Beach after being absent for one winter, and find the resort more delightful than ever. They are occupying a suite at the New Palm Beach Hotel and expect to remain here until the first of April. From here they will go to their home at Easthampton, L. I.

* * * *

Members of the very young set are among the most ardent devotees of Sea Spray Beach, and among those noted running around gaily among the bright back rests, and along the spectators' gallery at the pool, were "Sonny" Giblin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Giblin, who is at the Brazilian Court Hotel, and David and Frederica Owen, of Lake Forest, Ill., who are also at the Brazilian Court.

SPORT FISHING

SAILFISH galore, acres of them, swimming southward with just the tails visible above the water, looking like a legion of black spears, was one of the beautiful sights viewed by anglers who recently spent a day in the Gulf Stream in quest of this game member of the finny tribe. Several sportsmen have returned each day with sizeable prizes and are going out several days a week while the good fishing lasts. According to skippers at the Poinciana basin, a shifting wind, changing to the north, always brings in the sailfish and for several days following, there is plenty of sport awaiting those who go out.

Kite fishing, so popular on the coast of California, is finding favor here, with several members of the resort colony trying it the past few days.

A large four-cornered kite is used with the bait line attached to it by means of a clothes-pin or snap. The movement of the kite in the wind gives the bait in the water at the end of the line a most realistic action, like a live shiner, minnow or other small fish. This attracts the sailfish more readily and when it strikes, the pin is released, freeing the bait line and giving the angler full play on the game fish.

* * * *

One of the largest sailfish caught thus far this season is credited to Miss Louise Iselin, guest of Mrs. Harrison Williams. The prize "sail" which was landed recently by Miss Iselin from the "Orca," piloted by Capt. Herman Gray, measured 8 feet and 2 inches, and weighed 74 pounds.

The other members of the sport-fishing party were Mrs. Harrison Williams and Mr. Milton W. Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duff Frazier, out on the "Diane," their private boat, with Capt. Walt Githens, brought in two fine sailfish, Mr. Frazier's measuring 7 feet, 9½ inches, and Mrs. Frazier's measuring 7 feet, 5 inches. It was Mrs. Frazier's first "sail" and weighing well over 50 pounds, gave her a hard fight, but under the expert direction of Mr. Frazier she landed it skillfully.

Mr. John F. Harris and Mr. John L. Clawson had a pleasant afternoon fishing on the "Little Chelsea," owned by Mr. Harris. Mr. Clawson landed a hefty "sail" after a most spirited battle.

Mr. Harry Rosenfeld, out on the "Miss Sally," with Captain Fizell, made the record for the day, bringing in four sailfish, all of them sizeable.

With ideal fishing conditions prevailing, a number of anglers had a successful day recently out in the Gulf Stream, and three entries were made in the annual fishing contest of the Sailfish Club of Florida.

Dr. D. S. Inglessi, well-known resort angler, landed a sailfish measuring 7 feet, 7 inches, which he entered in the length class.

Mr. James Emory, who was out with Dr. Inglessi, also entered one 7 feet, 4 inches for length. Both fish were caught on light tackle and put up a spirited fight before being landed.

Mr. William Vexy entered a sizeable bluefish, measuring 21 inches, caught on light tackle.

Mr. Alexander T. Galloway, of New York, house guest of Mr. F. A. Shaughnessy at Villa Selcia on Clarke Avenue, entered the class of successful anglers in the Gulf Stream recently by landing a fighting sailfish, measuring 7 feet. An hour of real work was required before Mr. Galloway brought in the prize. He was a guest of Mr. W. S. Lee on his boat, the "Margo."

Grand Duke Dmitri, of Paris, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Ryan, Jr., at the Otto Kahn cottage, "Oheka," landed one of the largest sailfish of the season when he brought in a beautiful specimen weighing 75 pounds and measuring 8 feet and 11½ inches.

Mr. Reginald Brooks, of Peruvian Avenue, had an exciting time recently when he landed about the largest barracuda caught here in some time, weighing 42 pounds. Not content with his, however, he also brought in a sailfish measuring 7 feet, 5 inches.

Mr. H. C. Woodruff landed three large sailfish as the result of a day's fishing trip. He was out on the "Sunny," manned by Capt. Jimmy Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott Leeds and daughter, Miss Margaret Leeds, of North Lake Trail, caught six sailfish while out in the Gulf Stream on board their boat, "Margo." Mr. Leeds landed two; Mrs. Leeds, one, and Miss Leeds made the record for the family, bringing three to gaff. All fish were more than 7 feet in length.

Mr. Milton Holden, Miss Sarah Jane Sanford and others had an exciting day's sport while out on the "Orca" with Capt. Herman Gray. They brought in two sailfish.

With sailfish the thickest ever seen in these waters, several anglers returned with record catches as a result of a day's fishing in the Gulf Stream off Palm Beach.

Mr. Henry R. Rea, out on his own cruiser, landed 11 sailfish, getting one with every cast made. Mr. William F. Favorite, out on "Big Boy," nearly duplicated Mr. Rea's record by bringing in nine.

SELLING IN SPLENDOR

THIRTY YEARS ago one of the pioneers of the Palm Beach winter colony had to send to a New York shop for a pair of shoes. If a catastrophe tomorrow deprived a Palm Beach winter resident of everything but her pajamas, she could be outfitted, completely and properly, in a few hours by the shops here and be several weeks ahead of the styles current elsewhere at that. There are more swagger shops and a greater diversification of offerings of the highest quality in Palm Beach during the winter season than in any other seasonal resort in the world.

In a mile and a half between the Beaux Arts Building and Worth Avenue a very substantial fortune could be spent in a day in the three shopping centers for full value received in everything from the needs of the household to a rare bit of tapestry, an old master or a piece of antique for the drawing room and to a foreign motor, including everything for every kind of wear and all the necessities and luxurious imagined necessities of serious or frivolous life here, to say nothing of jewels and other items of personal ornamentation.

Stock conservatively estimated to represent a minimum of ten million dollars in sales value is carried during the season by the shops here exclusive of more than two million dollars worth of pearl and diamond necklaces and other pieces of jewelry which are sent down from New York or over from Paris for inspection and possible sale to those of the colony who are keen collectors of rare pieces.

In addition to such special offers by recognized dealers it is quite generally known that jewels at least purporting to be from the Russian imperial collection have been offered here during the past two seasons by agents, some titled, for private sale through social channels.

Palm Beach shops are not only first in showing spring and summer gowns and costume styles months ahead of the season but also offer antiques, usually small pieces and jewelry which are sent here from Europe, Egypt and the Orient before they are offered in northern shops or to the museums.

New styles accepted by society here during the winter set the pace for Newport, Southampton and other resorts for the summer while many of the gowns shown in this American style center are never duplicated elsewhere and stand out as exclusive models until the fall. Many other items of women's wear from bathing suits and beach pajamas to evening wraps enjoy the same distinction.

This extraordinary priority of style together with the ingenious way in which novel and charmingly enticing ideas in many lines are offered by the shops here make those shops particularly attractive as well as convenient to winter residents who look forward to the joys of shopping here almost as much as they look forward with pleasurable anticipation to weeks or months in the balmy climate.

Other alluring features of the shops here are that they not only suggest the Rue de la Paix, Rue St. Honore or Boulevard de Capuchin of Paris or London's Bond Street or the shops of Nice, Cannes, Vienna, Monte Carlo, Cairo, Rio or Buenos Aires but they are more attractive with their housings in picturesque buildings, their patio garden surroundings in some cases, their immaculateness and their concentration in three groups so that instead of having to hunt diligently for what may be wanted just about anything can be found within a few steps in any one of the shopping centers of Palm Beach or at least within a drive of a few blocks.

Window and counter displays which have become distinctly artistic have added another important phase to shopping in that instead of telling the whole story of the shop's stock in a sentence, as it were, they pique the imagination and curiosity and make shopping more of a treasure hunt than a mere supplying of urgent wants.

In foreign shops, even of the best sort, there are few customers who frequent the same places year after year and as a result the salesmanship inevitably predicated upon the thought that one or two sales are about all that can be expected to the average visitor and behind the suave attention of the sales force there is little if any thought of making friends for the shop.

In Palm Beach shops the sales atmosphere is entirely and pleasantly different. There are sales people in the shops here who have served and sold the same customers for from five to fifteen years and they have sold the same customers year after year because they are most carefully selected for their sales ability and their personalities but even more particularly because they are able to make friends for the shops employing them.

Because virtually the same winter residents come here year after year the shops that have made friends are the favorite ones and it is not at all unusual for a customer to drop into a shop and ask at once for her or his favorite sales person nor is the sale that follows a stiff formality but rather a friendly meeting with the commercial phase incidental to a mutual appreciation.

Women like to shop and men have to do it occasionally and with everything available and cost almost a negligible factor shopping in Palm Beach is made easy. Charge accounts of northern shops are continued in their Palm Beach branches and the detail of arranging credits is done away with while deliveries are made within the hour is desired.

To estimate the amounts spent in the shops here during the winter is difficult but in view of the fact that a shop once established in favor never fails to open for the next season indicates that society finds plenty of time to shop here and is satisfied with that shopping.

Shopping is done leisurely. There are no bargain day rushes and no high pressure salesmanship. The sales force is at hand to serve when asked to serve and you may saunter about a shop and browse over its treasures until you show a real interest in something before you will be approached by one of the sales force after a pleasant greeting at your entrance.

One manager of a large shop here said recently that his sales force really did not sell but merely explained and answered questions and that the customers sold themselves. To a considerable extent that is probably true in that it is noticeable that in the shops here one is seldom asked to buy.

The marts of the world supply the needs of the Palm Beach shopper. It may be a jewel from South Africa, a bit of fabric from Paris, jade from China, a bit of sculpture from Athens or from Rome or something from almost any part of the world but if Palm Beach is likely to want it, it will be found in the shops here.

RESIDENCE OF JOHN SHEPARD, JR., "CASA DEL PASTOR," 127 DUNBAR ROAD

METROPOLITAN SOCIETY NOTES

WHILE June may be the popular and traditional month for weddings, December and January seem to be preferred for engagement announcements, and many important ones were made in New York during the past six weeks. However, from London comes the announcement of a betrothal that links two countries, and the first engagement of major importance in the new year to arouse the interest of both New York and London social circles. It was that of Miss Vivien Antonia Bligh St. George, granddaughter of the late Mr. George F. Baker, and Mr. Alexander Frank Stanley-Clarke, of London.

Miss St. George is a daughter of Mrs. Howard Bligh St. George, a daughter of the late Mr. Baker, who died last spring, leaving a large fortune. Her father is related to Sir John St. George, Baronet of Sutton, Surrey, England.

A brother of the bride-to-be, George Baker St. George, married the former Katherine Delano Price Collier, and divides his time between New York and his country home in Tuxedo Park. Another brother died in the war.

Mrs. William Goadby Loew, of 56 East Ninety-third Street, is an aunt of Miss St. George, and George F. Baker, Jr., is her uncle. Her older sister is the wife of Capt. D. W. Gunston, of England, member of Parliament.

Two years ago Miss St. George was a debutante, and she was among the young women presented at the Court of St. James' in June, 1930. The home of the St. Georges is Coombe House, near Kingston, Surrey, England, an establishment which they took over about 16 years ago, following the drowning of the former occupants, Dr. and Mrs. Pearson, in the sinking of the Lusitania.

Near by is the famous Coombe Hill golf course, where the late Mr. Baker used to astonish the players by his great energy during his frequent visits.

The St. George family is one of the oldest in England and traces its descent from Baldwin St. George, companion-in-arms of William the Conqueror.

Mr. Stanley-Clarke is a son of the late Lieut. Col. A. E. Stanley-Clarke of the Scots Guards, and of Mrs. Stanley-Clarke, of Brookside House, Avening, Gloucestershire, England.

* * * *

Mrs. Price Collier, of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., a prominent member of the winter colony in Palm Beach, entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Baker St. George, Miss St. George's brother and his wife, at her villa, Spray Cottage, on Breakers Row, last season.

* * * *

Another announcement of great interest to the Palm Beach winter colony was that of Miss Electra Webb, granddaughter of Mrs. William Seward Webb, Sr., of Mirador on Dunbar Road, to Mr. Dunbar Wright Bostwick, of New York. It was made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson Webb, in New York, late in December.

Miss Webb is a descendant of Samuel Blatchley Webb, an aid to Gen. Israel Putnam, aide-de-camp to Gen. George Washington, and one of the founders of the Society of Cincinnati. Miss Webb also is a descendant of Jacob L. Cram, a leading merchant in New York before the civil war, and a great-granddaughter of Gen. James Watson Webb, journalist, diplomat and soldier. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. W. Seward Webb, of this city and Shelburne, Vt., and the late Dr. Webb, and through her grandmother is a descendant of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt. She is a grandniece of Mrs. Henry White, widow of the one-time Ambassador to France, Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly and Frederick W. Vanderbilt.

Through her mother, who was Miss Electra Havemeyer, Miss Webb is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer, whose collection of paintings and art objects, at their death, was turned over to the Metropolitan Museum of Art by their children. The late Mr. Havemeyer was one of the main organizers of the American Sugar Refining Company.

Miss Webb is a niece of Horace Havemeyer and Mrs. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen and sister of Miss Lila Vanderbilt Webb, a debutante of the season; Samuel B. and James Watson Webb, Jr. Her father is the well-known polo player. She attended the Chapin School, this city, and Foxcroft School in Virginia. She was introduced to society three years ago and is a member of the Junior League and the Colony Club.

Mr. Bostwick is a son of Mrs. Fitch Gilbert, of New York and Gilbertsville, N. Y., and the late Mr. Albert C. Bostwick. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jabez A. Bostwick. The late Mr. Bostwick was one of the early officers of the Standard Oil Company. He is a great-grandson of the late Smith R. Ford, a prominent merchant of New York in his day. On the maternal side he is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Stokes and a nephew of Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark. Albert C. Bostwick and George H. Bostwick, one of America's leading amateur jockeys, who this season has won four victories on the English turf, are brothers of Mr. Bostwick and Mrs. Robert V. McKim is his sister.

He attended St. Paul's School and is in his senior year at Yale. Mr. Bostwick is a member of Scroll and Keys Society. For three years Mr. Bostwick has been a regular member of the Yale hockey team. He belongs to the Meadow Brook and Racquet and Tennis Club of New York.

The marriage is to take place next June.

* * * *

Of interest to their Palm Beach friends is the news of the proposed South Sea cruise, soon to be taken by Commodore Vincent Astor and Mr. William Rhinelanders Stewart. They are leaving on Wednesday January 20 aboard the former's yacht, "Nourmahal," for a second penguin hunt, heading first for the Galapagos Islands, before veering off for Tahiti. The entire list of friends who will accompany Commodore Astor on the cruise aboard the flagship of the New York Yacht Club has not been made, but among others besides Mr. Stewart will be Capt. Alastair McIntosh and his wife, who is a daughter of the Honorable Mrs. Alfred Anson, of New York and London.

Last year, members of the cruise, which took from March until May, included Kermit Roosevelt, Robert Huntington, Suydam Cutting, Dr. Eugene Pool, of the New York Hospital; Clarence Hay, of the American Museum of Natural History; James P. Chapin, Elwin Sanborn, H. K. Svenson, Dr. Townsend and Wilfred Bronson.

The results of the Astor expedition last year did not consist of natural history specimens alone. Photographs and notes offer an illuminating record of the voyage. This trip, while made primarily for penguins, will undoubtedly bring forth much more interesting data.

PATIO AT "EL MIRASOL" EDWARD T. STOTESBURY HOME, NORTH OCEAN BOULEVARD

TASTES AND TOILETTES

NINETEEN-THIRTY-TWO will be remembered in days to come as the year the girl in the cotton gown was "the belle of the ball!" It's the new dance sport frock that has done the trick. Cut on conventional and formal evening lines, these little frocks of cotton and linen materials have captured the heart of the front rank debutantes. When pique stepped from the tennis court into the ballroom, it changed its name to cord du laine, but its wide-wale remained the same. Smartly simple and untrimmed, one cool color from its wearer's bare brown shoulders to her hidden ankles, these dresses have a way of attracting a lot of attention. All the new style notes of formal evening gowns give them chic—molded silhouette, square or oval necklines, everything but frills.

Bright colors and pastel shades are equally favored in these dance sport frocks. White is very good indeed. Accessories match the color of the gown, and a lovely youngster in a white cotton pique gown, with shoes, beads, bracelets, gloves, and handkerchief all in white is a vision of Youth.

Velveteen and corduroy evening coats accompany these frocks—gay, vivid coats in bright colors. Any color contrast is likely to be seen, but black is favored with white or yellow. These coats are cut on swagger lines, in the newer three-quarter length.

* * * *

At Patio Lamaze on a gala night, Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson wore a gown of large-flowered chiffon in misty blue and rose beneath a hiplength coat of darker blue velvet. Mrs. Harrison Williams wore a long, slim gown of black chiffon and a short jacket of brilliant silver sequins, that came just to the waistline, where it was tied closely. The long sleeves were melon-shaped. Miss Sarah Jane Sanford wore a beige lace ensemble, the loose elbow sleeves of the jacket cuffed with snowbeige fox.

* * * *

Also noted at Patio Lamaze was Mrs. Joseph Fahys, whose beautifully modeled head was set off by her coiffeur a la Chinois. Her black hair was drawn smoothly down over her ears from a center part, rolled at the nape of the neck and held by two large ivory pins. Her gown was of ivory satin, the short sleeves of the jacket banded with sable. Mrs. Karl Dolge wore white satin with a pearl and silver bead garniture around the low décolletage.

* * * *

Mrs. Robert W. Stewart-Richardson was noted at the Sea Spray Beach Club wearing a suit of white pique-knit with a collarless neckline finished with revers, and a frilled blouse. She carried a red patent leather handbag matching her red belt. The brimmed hat was also of pique-knit.

* * * *

Mrs. Maurice Fatio likes to wear a smart coat of white corduroy, loose-fitting, with a scarf collar tied closely about her throat. Her shoes are white kid one-strap sandals.

* * * *

Harbingers of advance styles, new sleeve treatments, interesting use of fur, and really startling color combinations, were seen at the brilliant first night audience which filled the Palm Beach Playhouse at the opening performance of "Let Us Be Gay." Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, the former Miss Muriel McCormick, and founder of the Playhouse, was radiant in a gown of ice blue satin made in a high waisted fashion with a twisted sash that tied in a bow at the left side. A flame velvet coat trimmed with grey fox made a highly effective contrast.

Emerald green was noticeable at the opening of the play last week, adding effectiveness to the black and white gowns which were highly favored. Mrs. Frederic Foster Carey's emerald colored dress was made interesting with shirring at the waistline on the side and the low cut front. Over it a velvet evening wrap of gold and black was worn.

* * * *

Mrs. Hobart Endicott Warren of Phipps Plaza looked charming at the opening performance of "Let Us Be Gay," wearing a black frock and jacket trimmed with rhinestones in diamond designs. The dress of flat crepe was made with a cowl neckline, and the bolero jacket was of chiffon velvet.

* * * *

Black continues to find favor among fashionables for evening attire. Mrs. Herbert Replogle, of New York, who is spending the season at the New Palm Beach Hotel, was noted in the Spanish dining room recently, wearing a flattering gown of inky chiffon that floated gracefully in the back with a slight suggestion of a train. A hip length black velvet jacket was worn with this evening frock.

* * * *

Mrs. Loring Q. White, of Everglades Avenue, attended a dinner party at the Breakers the other night, and wore a lovely white angel skin lace dinner gown. The back décolletage was edged with a scalloped design and the skirt molded closely to the knees where it flared into a circular scalloped design. Crimson faille slippers added a contrasting note.

* * * *

Mrs. Edward Valier (Polly Merritt) was dancing at the Breakers recently attired in a lovely madonna blue satin gown. A front cowl neckline and a seamed hip-yoke were details, while the accompanying blue satin coat had a scarf which tied into a soft bow at the neckline, and deep cuffs of grey fox.

* * * *

Mrs. Frank Kinsman, of the Breakers appeared at dinner the other night attired in a striking black chiffon dinner dress. Very wide dolman sleeves were lavishly embroidered in crystals and sequins, the same silvery motif repeated on her black satin slippers. Her wrap of black chiffon velvet was collared in luxurious blue fox.

* * * *

Gowned in emerald green satin, Mrs. George Luke Mesker was a striking figure at the Playhouse opening. The companionate hip-length wrap was unusually beautiful with a deep cape of mink, the same rich fur used on the cuffs and bordering the bottom of the coat.

* * * *

Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis chose for her costume, a shimmering pale cream satin gown, with which she wore a short-sleeved jacket of tangerine velvet.

* * * *

Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, of Casa Alejandro in Vita Serena, was among those who selected green for the opening of the Palm Beach Playhouse. Rhinestone shoulder straps added an interesting note to the gown, and a beaver collar trimmed her cape of matching green velvet.

Here's a new idea—the dance sports frock of Liberty print! Little frills in suspender fashion make an interesting back. From Best and Co.

This tricky beach costume is being shown at Macy's Little South Shop. The outfit consists of a cotton workman's handkerchief halter, white flannel beret, cabana flannel trousers, cabana flannel zipper bag, braided cord patent leather buckle belt and white sailcloth shoes. It depicts the latest in beach attire.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

DELIGHTFULLY informal atmosphere prevails at Sunday afternoon entertainments, which is especially noted at the Seminole Golf Club where members of the elite from Palm Beach frequently are seen during the luncheon hour. In the past fortnight, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Jr., who are spending the season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, at Villa Oheka, were hosts to his brother-in-law and sister, Maj. and Mrs. John C. O. Marriott, and Grand Duke Dmitri and his wife, Princess Anna Ilynski.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Johnson, of Via Bellaria, entertained at the Seminole Golf Club recently, having as their luncheon guests Mrs. Alexander A. McKay and her house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Mitchell-Henry, of London, and Mr. and Mrs. William M. Treadwell, of Paris and New York.

* * * *

Interesting arrivals during the past fortnight include Miss Barbara Phipps, who came down from New York to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, at Heamaw on the ocean front, accompanied by Miss Virginia Thaw, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw, 3d. Mr. Thaw recently departed for his ranch in Arizona. The Misses Sonia and Audrey Phipps, younger daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Phipps, have been here since the holiday period.

* * * *

One of the interesting dinner parties of the past fortnight was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams, whose house guests were Miss Louise Iselin, Mr. Thomas Potter and Mr. Milton W. Holden. Others who attended were Grand Duke Dmitri, of Russia, and his wife, Princess Anna Ilynski; Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Jr., Maj. John C. O. Marriott and Mrs. Marriott.

* * * *

Grand Duke Dmitri and Princess Anna Ilynski, who were members of the house party entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, are now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams.

* * * *

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont and Mrs. Louis Jacques Balsan, of Paris, France, mother and sister of Mr. Harold Stirling Vanderbilt, are expected to occupy his ocean-front estate at Lantana later this month. Mr. Vanderbilt, who has returned to the north after spending the holiday season here, visited Mrs. Belmont and Mrs. Balsan while in Europe this fall.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Smithers, who spent part of the summer abroad, arrived recently with their daughter, Miss Mabel C. Smithers, at Pelican Point, their home on South Ocean Boulevard at Delray. Mr. and Mrs. Smithers pass much of their time while in the north at Dunrobin, their estate at Locust Valley, L. I.

* * * *

Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, of Vita Serena, at the ocean front, were among those who motored to the Seminole Golf Club recently for luncheon. Others noted there were Mr. Charles A. Munn with his daughters, the Misses Mary and Frances Drexel Munn, and Brigadier-General Critchley, who is visiting Mr. Munn at Amado; Mr. and Mrs. John C.

King, of the New Palm Beach Hotel; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, of Via del Mar; Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, of Phipps Plaza; Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy, also of Phipps Plaza, with Mr. John P. Wemple, of Atlantic Avenue; and Dr. and Mrs. Edmund LeRoy Dow, of Golf View Road.

* * * *

Among interesting dinner parties of the past fortnight, was an affair given by Mr. and Mrs. George Luke Mesker, of New York, who are at La Fontana, their ocean-front residence, for the season.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer, of New York, who are at Sea Side Cottage on the Breakers Walk with Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boardman, of Boston and Mascanomo, Manchester, Mass., entertained 12 guests at dinner recently.

* * * *

Mrs. Henry R. Rea, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Farmhill, her summer establishment at Sewickley, Pa., has returned to Lagomar, the magnificent villa facing the ocean which is her winter home. Her grandchildren, Oliver and Michael Rea, are also here.

* * * *

Mrs. Dodge Sloane, who was at Concha Marina earlier in the season, is expected back soon from New York. When Mrs. Sloane returned from Europe this summer she visited her plantation in Virginia to supervise the installation of telephones and electric lights which were brought in from a great distance by wire.

* * * *

Among returning cottage owners lately was Mrs. George DeWitt, of New York, who is again at Keewaydin on Sunset Avenue for the season. Mrs. DeWitt maintains a summer home that faces Lake Agawam in Southampton, L. I.

* * * *

Mr. Joseph E. Widener, who divides his time among Lynnewood Hall at Elkins, Pa.; the Savoy-Plaza in New York; Beachmound in Newport, and his ocean-front villa here, has returned to Palm Beach, accompanied by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener, 2nd. Mr. Widener is the sponsor of the Hialeah race track at Miami, which attracts many of the winter colony here. He is also president of the Westchester Racing Association, which gave him a testimonial dinner at the Biltmore Hotel in New York last fall. The affair was in recognition of the leader's support in elevating the standards of racing in New York and Florida.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. James Noyes Wallace are interesting members of the New York contingent who are occupying their villa on Ocean Boulevard at Gulfstream. They spent the summer abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace are well known in the Palm Beach winter colony and are members of the Bath and Tennis Club and the Gulfstream Golf Club.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Procter, of New York and Orleton Farm, Stockbridge, Mass., are interesting villa owners who returned during the past fortnight. They are at their home on Banyan Road with their daughters, the Misses Hope and Beatrice S. Procter. Mr. and Mrs. Procter are well known in the resident colony, and belong to the Bath and Tennis and Everglades Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick, of Chicago, have opened their new Via Bellaria home by the lake, which is an outstanding addition to the villa colony. In previous years Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick stayed at Whitehall. They are members of the Everglades Club and have a wide circle of friends in the cottage colony. The recently completed residence has a directoire exterior and was designed by Treanor and Fatio, architects.

A large living room off the entrance hall has a huge bay window facing Lake Worth. On the south side of this room, and off the dining room, is the patio with stone flagging and steps leading to the terrace below.

One of the interesting features in the entrance hall is the gracefully winding stairway which will have twisted glass spindles.

Four master bedrooms will occupy the second floor. Mr. Chadwick's will be furnished in the Spanish manner, while his wife's will be decorated according to modernistic designs.

* * * *

Bienestar, the ocean-front villa of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Wheeler at Grace Trail, was opened during the past fortnight. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler are well known in the resident colony and belong to that large contingent of New Yorkers who summer at Locust Valley on Long Island. The name of the estate where they pass the warm months is Dellwood. They belong to the Gulf Stream, Everglades and Bath and Tennis Clubs.

* * * *

Mrs. Charles Lewis Harding, of Dedham, Mass., opened Chiora on South Ocean Boulevard for two weeks, and will return to the villa later in the season, following a brief sojourn in the north. Mrs. Harding frequently has a large house party, often entertaining her friends at the Everglades Club.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes, of Oak Hall, Niagara Falls,

Canada, who returned early in the season to their Barton Avenue villa, spent the summer abroad. Their attractive children, Nancy, Sydney, Shirley and William, are popular members of the very young set. Mr. and Mrs. Oakes belong to the Everglades Club, where they entertain frequently during the height of the season, and are also members of the Boca Raton Club.

* * * *

One of the interesting luncheon parties of the past fortnight, was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones, of Newport, R. I., at their Sea Breeze Avenue villa. Those who attended were Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Le Grand Bouton Cannon; and Mr. Edward Lowber Welsh. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon are making an extended visit at Southways, Mrs. Frelinghuysen's home on Barton Avenue.

* * * *

Mr. Addison Mizner gave a dinner at his apartment in Via Mizner for Mr. and Mrs. McKim Hollins. Mrs. Hollins, the former Ysabel Chase, is Mr. Mizner's niece. Also at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Field Feitner, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche and their house guest, Mrs. Joshua Cosden.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West gave a tea at Villa Tramonto, their home in Vita Serena, having as their guests Mrs. Robert M. Stewart-Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Roy MacNicol.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Foster Carey, of Belwalden, Tuxedo Park, N. Y., are among many returning cottage owners who have opened their homes recently. Mr. and Mrs. Carey are again at Villa Vinca on Sea Spray Avenue. She is actively engaged in beautification work in the resort, and each year lends much help to the Flower Show held by the Garden Club of Palm Beach at the Hotel Royal Poinciana.

This aerial photograph of the central portion of Palm Beach shows the great hotels of the resort. At the extreme right, on the lake-front, stands Whitehall; the long white-roofed structure is the Royal Poinciana, largest frame hotel in the world. To the left is the Hotel Ambassador, with the towers of the New Palm Beach Hotel visible over its center portion; at the extreme left is the Mayflower. The magnificent Breakers dominates the ocean front.

SOCIETY OF ARTS

IONEER among musical organizations in Palm Beach for nearly a decade, the Society of Arts has sponsored a series of concerts by artists of world renown. The ninth season will begin on Monday evening, February 1, when the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra will appear at the Paramount Theatre. In keeping with the policy of the Society of Arts, the symphony concert is open to the public. For several seasons past the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra has given two concerts in the series of five, one on their way to their annual engagement in Havana, and one on their return. This year the orchestra will not make a trip to Cuba and consequently appear only once in Society of Arts' series. The other four concerts will be for subscribers and their guests only and will be held in the great hall of the Everglades Club.

Two weeks after the first concert, on February 15, John Charles Thomas, baritone, will appear in recital. Efrem Zimbalist, violinist, will be the artist at the third concert on February 22d, followed on February 29th by Myra Hess, pianist. Claudio Muzio, soprano, will appear at the final concert of the series, March 7th.

The program as announced is one of great interest and includes several artists familiar to Society of Arts audiences. John Charles Thomas appeared several years ago with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, taking the place of Emilio de Gogorza, who was suddenly taken ill. Efrem Zimbalist appeared two years ago. Miss Hess and Mme. Muzio have both been scheduled in former series but have been unable to fill their engagements. Their appearance this year is anticipated with great pleasure.

The concert of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra at the Paramount Theatre will undoubtedly throng that auditorium with music lovers from the Palm Beaches and entire east coast, as this organization is held in high esteem. Its previous appearances have been a source of great enjoyment to many lovers of music whose opportunities of hearing the great symphony orchestras are limited. The orchestra is conducted by Eugene Ormandy, successor to Henri Verbrugghen, the dynamic conductor familiar to Palm Beach audiences, who was forced by illness to resign the post he had filled for seven years. Ormandy, the new conductor, has become a sensation during the short space of a few months. First as guest conductor of the famous Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, again by his remarkable successes as musical head of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and finally by his stupendous performances with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, both before and since his appointment as conductor. The young man, barely in his thirties, is gifted with one of the most phenomenal memories in the history of music. He never uses a score, never misses a cue, he knows how to invest his interpretations with that indescribable quality that inspires his audiences to unrestrained enthusiasm, he is a past master in the high art of obtaining the finest results from his men, who adore him, and he is a revelation of dynamic energy.

John Charles Thomas, who appears at the first concert at the Everglades Club, needs no introduction to Life readers. The genial personality of this great artist is as much a part of Palm Beach as the sunshine. His magnificent voice, his genuine artistry, and his interpretive genius have placed him on a eminence shared by few singers of his generation.

He was born in a little Pennsylvania town, the son of a Methodist minister. Beginning his career in light opera, his beautiful voice and fine acting soon won him stardom. But though his name was emblazoned in lights on Broadway and he was one of the highest paid stars in this field, he had his mind fixed on pursuing the more serious forms of his art.

For the past six years he has divided his time between concert and grand opera. Through his distinguished position in Brussels as leading baritone of the Royal Opera House, he was invited to appear at the Royal Opera, Covent Gardens, London. Offers from Berlin and Vienna followed and he is now one of the most sought after singers at European opera houses. He is one of the few American artists who are accepted unreservedly abroad. He prefers, however, to spend the major part of each year in his own country, where his recitals have won him wide popularity.

The season of 1931-1932 finds him scheduled to give an extensive concert tour in addition to making guest appearances with the Chicago Civic Opera Company and the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company. Recently he sang "Scarpia" in La Tosca with the latter organization.

Efrem Zimbalist, one of the most famous masters of the violin, made his last appearance here in the Society of Arts series two years ago and with such success that his return was suggested. He has won recognition not only as one of the great violinists but has also achieved distinction as a composer. Aside from his operetta, "Honeydew," he has composed a "Suite in Old Form" for violin and piano; "Three Slavic Dances;" "Fantasy on the Motives of Rimsky-Korsakoff's 'Coq d'Or,'" a Sonata for violin and piano in G Minor, which he played in Carnegie Hall, New York, a few seasons ago, and many others. His most recently work is the symphonic poem, "Daphnis and Chloe," which was completed last summer. It was played recently at Carnegie Hall by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski conducting, and was extremely well received. The audience would not permit the program to proceed until the distinguished violinist-composer arose and bowed in recognition of the tribute.

Although Russian by birth Zimbalist is in any respects an American artist. He is an American citizen, makes his winter home in New York City and his summer home in Connecticut and has two children born in this country.

Zimbalist was born in Rostov-on-Don, on April 9, 1889. His first teacher was his father, who was an orchestra leader. Although an active child, fond of sports and fun, Zimbalist had an absolute passion for music. It was this insatiable desire to master music in all its forms that decided his father in sending him in the autumn of 1903 to the Imperial Conservatory in St. Petersburg, where he entered the class of Professor Leopold Auer and became the forerunner of the famous coterie of violinists—Elman, Heifetz, Seidel—who came after him.

Zimbalist was graduated from the Conservatory, the winner of the gold medal and the Rubenstein scholarship of 12,000 rubles. On November 7, 1907, he made his Berlin debut, playing the Brahms Concerto. His reputation was at once established. Two months later he made his first and triumphant London appearance from which he went on a tour of the music centers of Europe.

His American debut was made on October 27, 1911, with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. On this occasion Zimbalist played the Glazounow Concerto in A Minor for the first time in America. He was immediately hailed as an artist of great merit. Since then his popularity and fame have increased until he stands today at the top of the musical ladder. He has played in almost every large city in the world, from San Francisco to Tokio, and has appeared frequently with every symphony orchestra of importance.

Myra Hess, the phenomenal English pianist, who appears in recital in the 1932 series of the Society of Arts, is the acknowledged leader among woman pianist and among the most distinguished of living exponents of piano music. Making her debut in New York, January 17, 1922, Miss Hess immediately commanded attention by reason of the super-excellence of her message. She was accounted one of the high-spots of the season and classed among the immortally great. She inspires her audiences by her thorough musicianship, beautiful tone, versatile interpretation, impeccable technic and charming personality.

Miss Hess gave her first public recital in London in 1908, and with such marked success that she was engaged to play at important orchestral concerts at Royal Albert and Queen's Halls during that same year. Since then, her career has been a series of uninterrupted triumphs in Europe while her complete capture of America is now a matter of musical history.

Not since the days of Sophie Menter and Teresa Carreno had such a spontaneous and superlative art been demonstrated on the concert platform by a woman.

Closing the series of concerts is Claudio Muzio, soprano, about whose personality, beauty and marvelous voice the most extravagant praises have been uttered. One of the most popular members of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, her appearances always attract huge throngs. In recital she retains the magnetic qualities of voice and personality that characterize her opera roles. Her voice is of great range, the deeper tones rich and strong, the high notes liquid gold. Muzio has returned from a season of opera at the famous La Scala, where even those habitués of opera were electrified by her Tosca, Aida, and Madeliene in "Andreas Chenier."

Mr. Edward T. Stotesbury is president of the Society of Arts which includes in its membership the most prominent members of Palm Beach social circles; Mr. John S. Pillsbury is vice-president; Mr. Henry Seligman, secretary and treasurer. These officers also serve on the board of directors, which also includes Mr. Chester C. Bolton, Mr. John F. Harris and Mr. John S. Phipps. Miss Georgena Girvin is in charge of arrangements for the concerts. Among members of the Society of Arts are: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford V. Brokaw, Mrs. Louis F. S. Bader, Mrs. Earle P. Charlton, Dr. and Mrs. Leland E. Cofer, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dillman, Mrs. Frederick Dwight, Mrs. James P. Donahue, Mrs. John E. Dietz, Mrs. Elden C. AMONG THE PALMS

HE ROYAL POINCIANA opened last Friday, adding new impetus to Palm Beach season. In former years, the season began and ended with the opening and closing of the Poinciana's doors. During the past decade, however, the season has lengthened appreciably and the season of the Breakers Hotel marks its official beginning and end. Yet the ten-weeks' season of the Royal Poinciana marks the height of the winter's activities, in which the daily tea-dances at the Cocoanut Grove play an important part.

The broad porches of the hotel with their rows of gaily painted rocking chairs resemble the decks of an ocean liner and every morning finds many of the guests enjoying the fresh air from this comfortable vantage ground. Here can always be found a quiet, sunny corner, with a vista of the beautiful tropical gardens of the hotel or of the blue waters of Lake Worth, dancing in the bright sunshine.

The Romany Chorus have their headquarters this year in the ballroom of the hotel, through the courtesy of Mr. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, manager, and every Tuesday night gypsy melodies will resound through the south wing as the Romanys rehearse for their concert in February.

The Royal Poinciana has on its register the names of prominent residents of many American cities who return each season to its hospitable walls. Practically all of the "regulars" are returning this season and there are many new names on the reservation list. Among guests who will arrive during the coming fortnight are Mr. and Mrs. George L. Buckman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Beal, Mr. M. J. Casey, Mr. A. F. Cronhardt, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Dordan, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Durand, Mr. M. J. Frankel, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hopp, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Haenlein, Mr. Arthur L. Kerker, Mr. Matthew F. Kelly, Mr. John A. McCarthy, Mrs. Sara Belle Powers, Mrs. F. J. Rogers, Mrs. Elizabeth Schott, Mr. Sam A. Scribner, Mr. Neil Twoomey and party, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wadsworth, and Mrs. B. B. White, all of New York.

Also, Mr. Valentine Braun, Newark, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. William L. Blanchard, Newark, N. J.; Mr. John G. Conner, Trenton, N. J.; Miss M. E. Clift, Mystic, Conn.; Mr. M. A. Carroll, Oshkosh, Wis.; Miss May Callahan, Harrison, N. J.; Mr. Samuel J. Carr, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. Easton, South Orange, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Graham, Chestnut Hill, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hayes, Peabody, Mass.; Mrs. J. D. Kennedy, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. C. S. Kirkland, Boston, Mass.; Mr. H. R. McRae, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Denna Ogsden, Greensburg, Pa.; Rev. John W. Quirk, Taunton, Mass.; Gen. J. Ernest Smith, Wilmington, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. William Seyfert, Reading, Pa.; Mrs. Charles R. Sherlock, Mrs. Mary Bingham Plunkett, Greenwich, Conn.; Mrs. Joseph A. Smith, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. George C. Shevlin, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. J. Villepigue, Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wiltsie, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. George Wright, Miss Elizabeth Wright, Boston, Mass.

The Breakers is on the threshold of mid-season activities and the lobbies and lounges of this famous hotel provide scenes of interest and diversion as guests gather during the day and evening.

Among the entertainment features offered by the hotel are the Sunday evening concerts, the afternoon tea-dances and nightly dancing in the grand loggia, or the sea-side terrace. The Howard Lanin Concert Orchestra is under the direction of Leon Zeitzew, formerly of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, while the dance orchestra is led by Sherry Magee, who has appeared with the Ben Bernie and George Olsen orchestras.

* * * *

Col. Robert R. McCormick, of Chicago, was a visitor at the Breakers last week. He returned to the Windy City in his Sikorsky amphibian but is expected in Palm Beach again in February. Colonel McCormick is the editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune. While here he inspected his properties south of the resort, which he purchased several years ago, and also attended the All-American Air Races held in Miami.

* * * *

Mrs. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, of Wyncote, Pa., and Camden, Me., motored up from Miami several days ago and was a luncheon guest at the Breakers. She was accompanied by Mrs. Robert A. Williams, of Milwaukee, and Dr. and Mrs. William L. Sullivan, of Germantown, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis and their guests made the trip south aboard their yacht, "Lyndonia," and will spend several weeks at Miami Beach before journeying to Havana. They are extremely interested in yachting and the "Lyndonia" has been the flagship for years during the famous Camden regatta held in July. Mr. Curtis is head of the Curtis Publishing Company, publishers of the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, Country Gentleman, also the Public Ledger and the New York Evening Post. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have a beautiful estate in Camden, where their summers are spent, and they are frequent visitors at the Hotel Sam-O-Set at Rockland Breakwater.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Garmany, of Farmington, Conn., were among the early January arrivals at the Breakers, where they are spending their fourth season. They have visited Florida, however, for many years, formerly staying at the Royal Palm Hotel in Miami, and upon the closing of that hotel, decided to make the Breakers their winter home. Mr. and Mrs. Garmany spent several weeks in Savannah prior to their arrival in Palm Beach. Motoring is their favorite pastime and they can be seen on sunny afternoons leaving the Breakers portico, bound for one of the numerous delightful trips around the island.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. Bill, of Springfield, Mass., prominent winter visitors, are again spending the season at the Breakers. They came south quite early and before the hotel opening were the house guests of Mrs. James H. Kennedy at Kenlewai on South Ocean Boulevard. Among the resort clubs, they belong to the Everglades, Oasis and Old Guard Society.

* * * *

Mrs. Douglas W. Mabee, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., returned in December to spend another season at the Breakers, arriving in a private car. She was accompanied by her son, Mr. D. W. Mabee, who has since returned to Saratoga Springs. Her daughter, Mrs. Ranulf Compton, of New Haven, Conn., is now at the Breakers, where she will spend several weeks. Mr. Douglas Compton, a student at Yale University, spent the Christmas holidays with his family in Palm Beach.

* * * *

Mr. William Henry Harrison, of New York, for many years prominently identified with the Palm Beach winter colony, is again spending the winter months at the Breakers. His clubs include Bath and Tennis and Everglades in Palm Beach, also Racquet and Tennis, Turf and Field, Automobile, The Pilgrims, Garden City Golf and National.

* * * *

Among the season guests at the Breakers are Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hinde, of Toledo, who are entering upon their seventh winter in Palm Beach. Mr. Hinde is a golf enthusiast and spends a great deal of time on the Everglades course. He is also a member of the Old Guard Society.

* * * *

Mrs. Frank W. Kinsman, of Elmira, N. Y., and the Hotel Plaza, New York, is spending her first season at the Breakers. She came south accompanied by her sister, Miss Ida Ellard, also of Elmira. Last winter they were at the Flamingo Hotel at Miami Beach. During the summer months, Mrs. Kinsman and Miss Ellard were guests at the Sam-O-Set Hotel, Rockland Breakwaters, Me.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Wannop, of Kingston, N. Y., were interesting visitors at the Breakers last week, who stopped en route to Nassau. Mr. Wannop is manager of the New Colonial and Royal Victoria Hotels at Nassau, and also of the Grand Union at Saratoga Springs. They remained in Kingston in order that their twin sons, Ward and Wilbur, who attend the Suffield School, might pass the holiday vacation with them. Mr. and Mrs. Wannop also spent several days in Miami before leaving for the island resort.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, of New York and Saratoga Springs, were the first arrivals at the Breakers to make the trip south on the "Florida Special," reaching Palm Beach in less than 28 hours from New York. The Florida Special began its forty-fifth consecutive season and its birthday was celebrated by the announcement of a world record schedule of 29 hours and 40 minutes for the 1,388-mile trip between New York and Miami. Furthermore, it was the first train to ever leave New York in the mid-afternoon and reach Palm Beach the following day. Back in January, 1887, when the Florida Special was inaugurated, Florida was only a name connoting alligators and mangrove flats. A few venture-some spirits had discovered that its fruits, flowers and superb winter climate and sunshine offered wonderful opportunities for development. Among these was the late Henry M. Flagler, who, after learning that the Atlantic Coast Line intended to inaugurate a through tourist train between New York and Florida, decided that a fine winter hotel would be justified.

The Florida Special was the train and the famous Ponce de Leon at St. Augustine was the hotel. The hotel opened in January, 1887, two days after the Florida Special left New York with Mr. Flagler's guests, off for the christening of his Arabian Nights Palace. The venture proved to be successful and the results have brought untold millions to Florida.

Mr. G. Gordon LeV. Fisher, of Scarsdale, N. Y., is a season guest at the New Palm Beach Hotel. He was accompanied south by his mother, Mrs. George J. Fisher; and sister, Miss E. May Richter; his father, Dr. Fisher, was also a visitor at this resort early in the season, when he conferred with Mr. F. C. McKenzie, executive of the Palm Beach County Scout Council. Dr. Fisher is deputy chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America. The Fishers visited at the Lake Placid Club before arriving at this resort.

* * * *

Mr. Thomas A. Clarke, owner of the New Palm Beach Hotel and his guests, Monsignor Edward J. McGoldrick, Miss Lee Clarke and Miss Mary Griffin, motored to Miami to attend the All-American Air Races. Miss Clarke and Miss Griffin have since returned to Marymount College, in Westchester.

* * * *

Mr. John B. Ryerson, noted golfer, is an interesting guest at the New Palm Beach Hotel. He came down from his home in Cooperstown, N. Y., to spend several weeks playing on Florida's famous golf courses. Incidentally, Mr. Ryerson is practicing with an entirely new set of steel golf clubs which he expects will greatly aid his game. Next week he will enter the Biltmore Invitation matches and the Glenn Curtis Trophy tournament in Miami, both of which contests he won last year. He will also play over the new golf course on a man-made island in Biscayne Bay, site of the Indian Creek Club. This club was conceived by members of the Bath Club and every hill and trap was pumped in by dredges. Mr. Ryerson has been absent from this resort since 1927 and was greatly impressed with the improved Poinciana course. He expects to return next month to enter the South Florida championship to be held at the Palm Beach Golf Club, February 8 to 12.

PALM BEACH CLUB ACTIVITIES

THE Colony-Ambassador Bath Club, a new membership organization directed by Mr. Arthur C. Hand of the Colony Club, opened on Friday, January 15. The club occupies the former J. Leonard Replogle estate which was purchased by the Hotel Ambassador two years ago and remodeled into a bathing beach and casino for the use of their guests. Situated at the north end of Breakers Walk, and fronting on a splendid strip of beach, the club is especially well located.

Luncheon was served on the opening day with Ernie Holst and his Colony Club orchestra playing their most tuneful and inspiring melodies. The white tables on the terrace, the blue pool sparkling in the sun, and the attractive exterior of the clubhouse made a pleasing picture of Palm Beach life.

The clubhouse contains a dining room for use in windy or inclement weather, spacious rooms for backgammon and bridge, and a number of suites on the upper floor. At the rear are the locker rooms and cabanas for the use of members and their guests.

The Colony Club in the Beaux Arts gardens will open for the season on Wednesday evening, January 20. Ernie Holst and his orchestra will play for dancing every evening and the customary gala Wednesday and Saturday gala nights will be marked with special entertainment features and decorations. Arthur Brown has returned to sing again at the club.

Mid-winter finds many prominent northerners established in the comfortable quarters of the Everglades Club for their annual season stay. Mrs. Charles I. Hudson, of Westbrook Farm, Syosset, L. I., returned early in the season to her usual maisonette. Mrs. Hudson has been wintering in Palm Beach for many years, and is well known among members of the permanent colony. It was her brother-in-law, Mr. Philip Hiss, architect, who designed the church of Bethesda-by-the-Sea, one of the outstanding edifices in the resort.

Judge Harry Ross Hyde and Mrs. Hyde, of Ridgeway, Pa., who usually make their headquarters at the Breakers, are expected this month at the Everglades Club.

* * * *

Mr. Henry MacDonald, of the Yale Club in New York, is among those who will make the Everglades Club their headquarters this winter. Mr. MacDonald is expected to arrive from the north this week.

* * * *

The mid-west colony in the resort will be augmented this week by the arrival at the Everglades Club of Mr. and Mrs. James Greenleaf Alexander, of Lake Forest, Ill. They have many friends here, particularly among the Breakers contingent, having stopped at that palatial hotel in past seasons. They are members of the Bath and Tennis and also of the Seminole Golf Club.

* * * *

The Beach Club, one of the oldest organizations of Palm Beach, opened its attractive restaurant on Saturday, January 16, and many of the members were present at the first dinner. The reading rooms of the club were opened on January 8.

* * * *

Among the delightful entertainments of the past week was the luncheon in the Orange Garden by Mrs. Frederick Dwight, of New York, who is making her annual season stay at the Breakers. Guests of Mrs. Dwight's were Mrs. Elden C. DeWitt, Mrs. Jerome D. Gedney, Mrs. Zenas Sears, Mrs. Charles M. Brett and Mrs. James H. Kennedy.

Cocoanut palms and tropical shrubs give a South Sea atmosphere to the grounds of the Royal Poinciana Hotel.

Mr. William Ruland, of Wells Road, who was assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McIntyre, of Hamilton, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Pickering left later for Sarasota, while their daughter is remaining here. Guests were seated at a horseshoe-shaped table ornamented with a sunken Italian garden and a variety of cut flowers including snap-dragons and gladioli.

The influx of seasonal guests arriving next week at the Everglades will include Mr. and Mrs. Horton C. Rorick, of Toledo, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Rorick regularly occupy maisonette No. 7 at the club, and will be welcomed by their many friends on returning.

* * * *

Mrs. Elisha C. Tower, of the Hotel Savoy Plaza in New York, and her daughter, Mrs. George C. Stieff, will occupy the same apartment in Lavender Villa which they had two years ago.

* * * *

Among the Easthampton colony of New Yorkers who have lately returned to the resort are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appleton who are residing at the Everglades Club. Their summer home, Nid de Papillon, on Further Lane, is one of the interesting villas in the Long Island settlement. Mr. Appleton plays a conspicuous part in the horse shows which enliven the warm months on the island's south shore. They have been at Aiken, S. C., and are making a tour of the state.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lorimer Worden, of New York, have engaged an apartment in Blue Villa at Everglades Club.

* * * *

Mrs. Arthur H. Osborn, of Spring Lake, N. J., who usually winters at Port Sewall, is expected this week at the Everglades Club, where she has reserved an apartment.

* * * *

The Florida Embassy Club re-opened for its third season on Saturday, January 16, with a dinner-dance for members and their guests. Situated on the lake front at the entrance to the South Bridge, the tropical surroundings and beautiful building of the club immediately attract favorable attention from all visitors to the resort.

The opening dinner-dance was a gala affair, with Johnny Johnson and his orchestra playing for dancing. Canopies of lights were hung over the terraces surrounding the dance floor and blue and green lights were hung in the masses of tropical shrubbery. Among members of the winter colony who made reservations for the affair were Mr. Thomas O. Haskins and Mr. Lawrence P. Tower, who are staying at the Oasis Club; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, Mrs. Edgar F. Luckenbach, Mr. and Mrs. John M. L. Rutherford and others.

The Bath and Tennis Club, one of the most popular rendezvous for cottagers during the early part of the day, opened informally for the season on January 1, and on the 20th of this month the first luncheon will be served. The cuisine this year will be under the direction of George Lamaze, whose Patio Lamaze on County Road, and Park Avenue in New York, have won the favor of the haute monde in both places. A new sandwich bar has been erected on the beach, where meals will be served.

* * * *

Mr. Edward F. Hutton, president; Mr. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., and Mr. Jay F. Carlisle, vice-presidents; and Mr. R. O. Middleton, secretary.

The handsome clubhouse and splendid grounds surrounding the Seminole Golf Club attract Palm Beachers frequently during the winter, particularly on Sundays, when the custom of motoring to the club for luncheon is followed by members. The club opened January 1 with a buffet luncheon, and since then there has been interesting play over its two 18-hole championship courses.

Officers of the Seminole Golf Club are Messrs. Edward F. Hutton, president; Jay F. Carlisle, Thomas L. Chadbourne and Edward T. Stotesbury, vice-presidents; Martin Sweeny, secretary and treasurer. Governors include Maj. Barclay H. Warburton, Messrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., William K. Vanderbilt, Quentin F. Feitner, J. Gordon Douglas, Edward F. Hutton, Hunter S. Marston, Thomas L. Chadbourne, Frank L. Crocker, Edward T. Stotesbury, William F. Baxter, Eben M. Byers, Warner L. Jones, John C. King, J. F. Carlisle, James I. Bush and Milton W. Holden.

LIVELY POLO AT PHIPPS FIELDS

REGULAR polo matches at Phipps Fields, Gulfstream, have been the focal point for many resort members interested in this lively sport and appreciating the fine points in horsemanship. Among the players seen in action recently at Phipps Fields, are included J.

S. Phipps, owner of the fields and veteran member of the Phipps family team; H. C. Phipps, who has engaged in several matches thus far this season; Michael Phipps, outstanding member of the Yale polo team, and Hubert Phipps, who has rivalled his brothers in stellar play these last few weeks.

Leonard K. Firestone and his brother, Raymond Firestone, mainstays for the past few seasons on the Princeton polo team, both having been honored with the captaincy of the Tiger fours, have won the praise and admiration of the gallery in recent matches because of their excellent teamwork. William Post, III, also of Princeton and member of the Roslyn team, Long Island, gave a flashing performance in a recent match as teammate of the Firestone brothers.

Godfrey Preece, of Westbury, L. I., and Gulfstream, known the world over for his rare judgment in choice of polo ponies, together with his son, Stewart, are to be seen in play in most of the matches. James Cox Brady, Jr., of New York, has also distinguished himself, playing excellent polo both on the offense and defense.

In the fastest polo match of the season played at Phipps Fields recently, the Palm Beach Yellows and the Gulfstream Whites divided honors in an eight-chukker match with a final score of 13 to 13.

On the Palm Beach Yellows were Laddy Sanford, Hubert Phipps, Leonard and Raymond Firestone. The Whites were represented by J. S. Phipps, H. C. Phipps, James Cox Brady, Jr., Michael Phipps and Stewart Preece who alternated with J. S. Phipps.

Hubert Phipps, for the Yellows, and Michael Phipps, for the Whites, each starred for their respective teams and also divided honors making six goals each. Both members of the Phipps family rode like demons throughout the match, with Hubert being the star of the day. Raymond Firestone seemed to be everywhere in the match and did some excellent work for the Yellows, scoring four goals. Leonard Firestone also made three tallies. The Firestone brothers teamed wonderfully together, with Leonard placing the ball for Raymond and for Hubert Phipps, time after time.

One of the best shots of the day was made in the fourth chukker by Hubert Phipps, who rode down on the ball, at right angles to the goal, scooped it up in a desperate attempt with the ball striking the side of the goal post and bounding in. Both Stewart Preece and Raymond Firestone made some beautiful runs with the ball, scoring on several occasions. Stewart Preece made three tallies for the Whites as did James Cox Brady, Jr., who played matchless defensive game. The other tally for the Whites was made by H. C. Phipps.

The final chukker opened 11 to 11, but Stewart Preece got out in front and with a long run placed the ball for a goal. Brady then got the next goal for the Whites, making it 13 to 11 in the Whites' favor. Hubert Phipps, in a sudden flash, got under the ball and with a beautiful high shot brought the Yellow tally up one.

No sooner had Charlie Peerless, as referee, thrown out the ball than Raymond Firestone pounced upon it and shouting to Leonard, his teammate and brother, whirled it away and made for the goal. Getting at right angles to it he knocked it across to Leonard, who made the tally, evening the score. Both teams were jockeying for a favorable break when the bell rang, ending the match and a day of perfect play.

The Palm Beach Blues, in a fast and furious match played recently at Phipps Fields, Gulfstream, won out over the Palm Beach Whites by a score of 8 to 3.

Included on the Blues were H. C. Phipps, Laddy Sanford, Hubert Phipps and Terry Gibson. On Whites, J. S. Phipps, Godfrey Preece, Stewart Preece and Tommy Warren.

With Laddy Sanford playing like a streak and teamed with Hubert Phipps, who has been showing in flashing play this season, the Blues took the lead in the early chukkers and kept it to the end. H. C. Phipps was excellent on defense and was materially aided by the fine play of Terry Gibson. Laddy Sanford made four goals, Hubert Phipps three, and H. C. Phipps one.

J. S. Phipps and Stewart Preece made things lively for the Blues but were unable to cut down the lead they established, even though Godfrey Preece and Tommy Warren, their teammates, gave them substantial support. J. S. Phipps made two of the tallies and Stewart Preece one.

WITH one of the most representative assemblages in the history of metropolitan Miami resortdom present, the sixth season of the Miami Biltmore Hotel was ushered in with a brilliant dinner dance Saturday night. The palatial hotel this season is affiliated for the first time with the Roney Plaza Hotel at Miami Beach. The opening dinner dance, which invariably gives considerable impetus to the Greater Miami season, will be followed by an almost continuous program of activities including tea dances, bridge tournaments, exhibition swimming meets and children's parties.

While the Miami Biltmore Hotel opening centered interest, activities at the Miami Biltmore Country Club, unit of the Florida Year-Round Clubs, came in for their share of attention, with the amateur invitation golf tournament holding the boards. This event on the club's 36-hole lay-out is drawing many well known figures in the amateur golf world and is proving to be one of the most successful affairs of the early season.

Another high light of the week was the outing of the Coral Gables Century Club at the Key Largo Anglers Club, another unit of the new Florida Year-Round Clubs. The outing was featured by a fish fry, aquatic sports and dancing.

The Miami Biltmore Country Club, one of the units in the new Florida Year-Round Clubs, sponsored by Henry L. Doherty, president of the Cities Service Company, and Newton B. T. Roney, Miami Beach business leader, will be the scene of a continuous program of major sports activity this season.

Initial activities started January 3 when the first hunt breakfast to be staged in Florida was given at the club to dedicate 10 miles of new bridle paths. These make available for members of the club more than 35 miles of sod paths in Coral Gables and between 25 and 30 miles of wooded trails outside the city. In addition to the new sod paths, hurdles and fences will test the mettle of riders, and interest of club members in this sport promises to make it outstanding.

Nine major golf tournaments will be staged this season on the club's two 18-hole golf courses, which leading professionals of two continents have characterized as among the finest in the world. In addition to the two regular courses there is an 18-hole pony golf course, which, lighted at night, makes this sport possible any hour.

Newly resurfaced clay courts are ready for wielders of the tennis racquet and a large pool and sun beach, with the same equipment for younger guests, will provide those who like their recreation less strenuous, with plenty of diversion.

Under the plan of the Florida Year-Round Clubs, which offers the privileges of three clubs for one membership fee, it is expected that even closer bonds will be established between winter visitors and residents of Palm Beach and Greater Miami. Included with the Biltmore Country Club in the new institution are the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club at Miami Beach and the Key Largo Anglers Club at Key Largo. J. C. Punderford is managing secretary of the Miami Biltmore Country Club.

One of the traditionally brilliant events of the Greater Miami winter season was the opening of the Miami Biltmore Hotel with a large dinner dance the night of January 16.

This event has, for a number of years, marked the formal ushering in of the Coral Gables-Miami season and the list of those entertaining is always synonomous with smart society. Many members of the Palm Beach winter colony were guests of Miami and Miami Beach hostesses for the affair, which eclipsed those of other years.

The Miami Biltmore, one of the beautiful edifices of its kind in the world, will be the winter home of a number of notable people this season. Mr. Henry L. Doherty, president of the Cities Service Company, will make his home there while in Florida. The famous Giralda tower of the Biltmore, comprising three floors, has been converted into a home for Mr. Doherty.

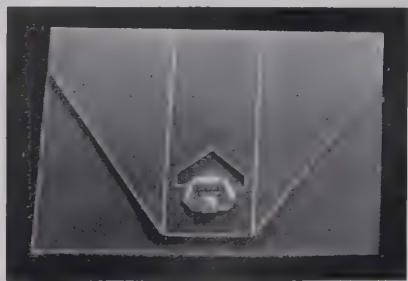

An innovation of the Biltmore this season is a children's playroom, elaborately equipped with every possible toy and play device for the younger guests. This room, which is a veritable fairyland, is the result of the management's belief that many families will find in the picturesquely beautiful surroundings of the Miami Biltmore the ideal winter home during their stay in Miami.

This year, for the first time, the Miami Biltmore is affiliated with the Roney Plaza Hotel at Miami Beach and is under the direction of Newton B. T. Roney, president of the new company.

WITH THE GOLFERS

WITH many golfers arriving daily and taking advantage of the excellent weather conditions to play a round of 18 or 36 holes on the various courses of the island resort, interest is becoming manifest in tournament play scheduled for this month. The Lake Worth tournament, January 25-29, is the outstanding golfing event on the January calendar to be held on that popular resort course, the Palm Beach Golf club.

According to Mr. E. Thompson Starr, secretary of the Palm Beach Golf and Tennis club, there will undoubtedly be a very good field in the championship division.

Tommy Goodwin, Billy Langford, O. L. Brailey, Blaine Zuver, Albert Hakes, Edward V. Quinn, H. E. Ferguson, Elmer L. Jordan, Dr. F. K. Ream, Ralph Sweat, Michael Sholtz, Fred H. Ward and H. J. Horner, are a few of the regulars signed up for the season eligible to compete in the coming event. It is also quite probable that Arthur "Ducky" Yates, champion of last year, and Jack Butler, noted Florida amateur, will also be on hand to show some fine playing.

Mr. Starr has already picked out an imposing array of prizes which are on display in the dining lounge of the Breakers.

The winner's prize consists of a sterling silver folding traveling clock and the trophy for the runner up is a beautifully designed fruit bowl of sterling. Then there are prizes for the winner and runner up in each of the four divisions. There are also the consolation eight in the championship division and the gold medal fob for player with the low qualifying score. All prizes are of a practical nature and will be a welcome addition to any household.

PALM BEACH GOLF CLUB

Daily play has been very popular at the Palm Beach Golf club with resort members dotting the course in twosomes, threesomes or larger groups.

All seem well pleased with the new arrangement of the course and are concentrating on golf before the annual tournament play gets under way.

Golfers noted on the course recently include: Mr. Herbert Pulitzer and Miss Grace Amory, of Seaside cottage, who made the round of 18 holes; Mr. Otto H. Kahn and Major John Marriott; Mr. Arthur Hammerstein, Mr. R. A. Kennedy and Mr. George E. Hart played a threesome, and another noted was that of Mr. C. M. Brett, Mr. H. J. Hinde and Mr. J. H. Horner. Others on the course were, Mr. Randolph Watkins, Mr. Henry Seligman, Mr. Leon Hartman, Mr. H. T. Pemberton, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sweat, Mr. George Lynn, Mr. Arthur Brown, and Mr. Edward V. Quinn.

Also Mr. W. Ehrentraut, Mr. John C. King, Mr. Frank E. Sutton, Dr. and Mrs. F. K. Ream, Mrs. Nettie E. Livermore, Mr. Archibald McNeil, Mr. B. H. Kroger, Mr. Clarence Hall, Mrs. Hubert Phipps and Mrs. James Cox Brady, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry McSweeney, Atlantic City; Mr. George Ahrens and Mr. Leon Hartwell, all recent arrivals at the Breakers have become season members of the club.

OLD GUARD SOCIETY

A large number of members of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers has arrived and is out for daily play to get in trim for tournaments to be held later in the season. Definite dates of the matches have not been set as yet but are expected to be announced most any day.

The annual dinner of the Old Guard Society will be given February 16 at 7:30 o'clock at the Breakers hotel. This is always the scene of much levity on the part of the members, who indulge in rare after-dinner repartee on their fellow club members.

Present officers of the Old Guard Society are, Bernard H. Kroger, president; George H. Keim, vice president; Clarence Hall, secretary and treasurer, Frank P. Wilson, assistant secretary. Present board of governors is Phil H. Sawyer, Charles S. Woolworth, Dr. Edward Martin and David L. Luke.

Following is the membership of the Old Guard Society: George Altmeyer, McKeesport, Pa.; Ward Ames Jr., Duluth, Minn.; Thomas H. Ball, Philadelphia, Pa.; Albert M. Banker, Johnstown, N. Y.; John K. MIAMI BEACH

MEMBERS of Palm Beach society are evincing keen interest in the announcement of Florida's newest and most comprehensive recreational organization, the Florida Year-Round Clubs, sponsored by Henry L. Doherty, widely-known public utilities owner, and N. B. T. Roney, of Miami Beach building fame. According to Mr. Roney, the idea of the Florida Year-Round clubs was born in the conviction of the founders that a club institution to fill the play requisites of Florida visitors and residents must accomplish what no other club has been able to do. That is, to incorporate facilities, 12 months in the year, for the enjoyment of all of Florida's major recreations, especially sun and surf bathing, golf, tennis and fishing.

Thus the Florida Year-Round Clubs embrace the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club at Miami Beach, the Miami Biltmore Country Club at Coral Gables and a new fishing camp de luxe to be known as the Key Largo Anglers Club, at Key Largo. Under the plan conceived by Mr. Doherty and Mr. Roney, each unit is to function as a separate and complete institution but each will have the same members, enjoying for the same membership fee the full privileges of the three-clubs-in-one. Mr. Roney said there is no question of promotion, of future assessments nor of prohibitive dues. The plan calls only for careful selection of members and a reasonable annual membership fee.

"To make south Florida interesting not only to the winter visitors who will use the facilities of the clubs only part of the year, but also to the year-round resident, by making available full facilities for the enjoyment of virtually every healthful outdoor sport and the corresponding social activities," Mr. Roney said, "is the object of the Florida Year-Round Clubs."

Col. James A. Blair, Jr., member of the leading clubs of New York and Palm Beach, is the newest addition to Miami

Beach's social life. Colonel Blair has returned to pass the season at the Roney Plaza Hotel, after a holiday vacation with his father, Mr. James A. Blair, in Augusta, Ga., and short visits in New York and Palm Beach.

Two of Boston's most prominent debutantes, Miss Jane Bancroft and Miss Helen Homans, and the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, are passing an extending visit at the Roney Plaza Hotel at Miami Beach.

Jane was introduced to formal society at a dance in the Hotel Somerset in Boston on December 2, and Helen's coming-out took place at the Norfolk Country Club in November. Helen is chairman of debutantes of that most exclusive social organization, the Vincent Club of Boston. Jane is sub-chairman of the Junior League debutantes of Boston. Both young ladies are taking an important part in philanthropic work in the old Massachusetts city. Both also are fine athletes, being especially interested in swimming and riding.

Miss Louisa Candler and Miss Kathryn Redwine, with the former's mother, Mrs. C. H. Candler, are a charming threesome from Atlanta, passing some time at the Roney Plaza Hotel at Miami Beach. Louisa and Kathryn are among the most attractive of the south's sub-debs.

* * * *

Mr. Joseph E. Widener and his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. B. Widener, are among the Palm Beach social contingent who have adopted the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club as their headquarters while in the Miami district. Mr. Widener, as president of the Miami Jockey Club, will have frequent occasion to go to Miami and Miami Beach this winter.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. John William Ryan, of New York, and their attractive children, Patricia Elizabeth, Cornelius Michael and John Patrick, who have a winter home at Miami Beach, again are to be seen at the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club, of which they have been members for several seasons.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Benedum, of Pittsburgh, are expected soon to pass the remainder of the season at the Roney Plaza Hotel at Miami Beach.

* * * *

Series of events planned at the Roney Plaza Cabana Club for the season includes a "Boots and Saddles" party on January 15; Venetian fete on January 19; water carnival, February 12; masque ball, February 22, and the annual pajama party, March 15.

* * * *

Miss Anne Askew Davies, of Palm Beach, was the attractive honor guest recently at a luncheon in the Roney Plaza Cabana Club when Mrs. Harry Hector entertained. Among the guests were Miss Dorothy Jean Ryan, of Dana Hall; Miss Mary Marshall Price, of Masters' School, Dobbs Ferry; Miss Jean Robineau and Miss Janet Burbank, of the National Cathedral School, Washington; Miss Jane Yeomans, of Hartford, Conn.; and Miss Betty Spare, of Philadelphia.

THE new PALM BEACH HOTEL

Resort Hotel
World

Your suite in the NEW PALM BEACH HOTEL is an intimate creation—you are thus impressed as you are ushered into it. You may prefer the ultra equipped rooms, with two individual private baths, in full rhythm of modern motif—or you may fancy some earlier period with its arabesques.

Come, enjoy a winter of health and pleasure in an atmosphere more ideal than you ever supposed could exist in any resort.

SWIMMING POOLS

BUILT—

"All Ready To Wear"
 So To Speak

You look at this pool and say:

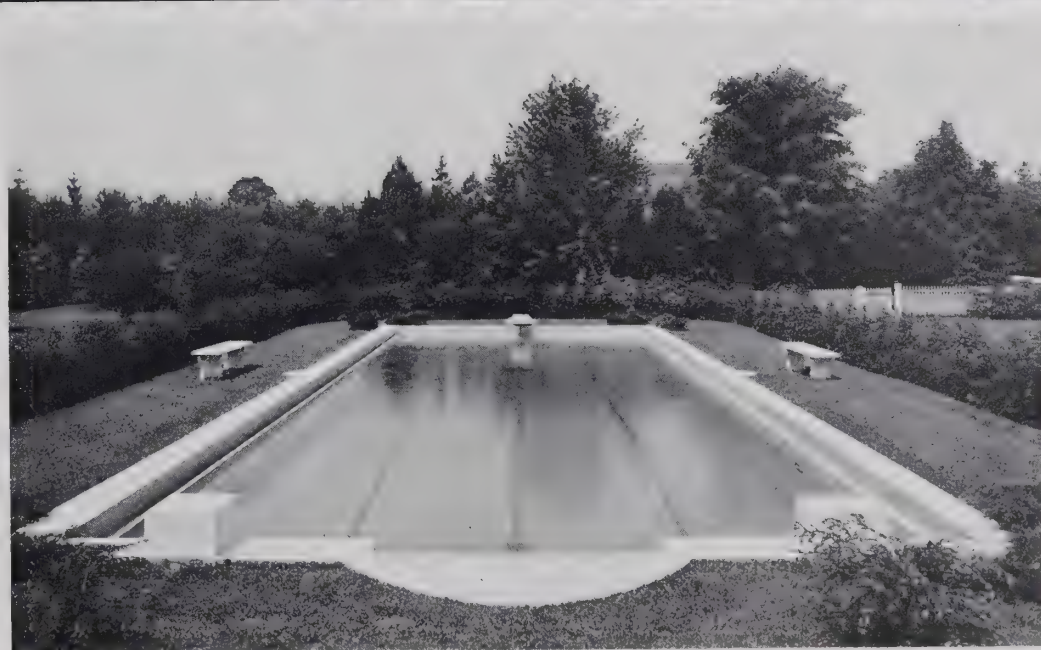

"If I could be sure of having one all complete like this one, ready for use, without any botherments to me, I'd order a pool tomorrow."

To which allow us to reply:

That's exactly what we can make happen for you. In truth, it is exactly what we have been doing for many a year.

"That's all very well," you reply, "but for whom have you built pools, and are they thoroughly satisfied?"

Replying to which: Only too glad to send you a list of customers, along with our catalog showing many of the pools.

Whether elaborate or simple, pools require skillful making. We not only build your pool, but equip it complete with a water-heating system even to filtered and sterilized water if you wish. If near the seashore, it can be salt water. Glad to send you a list of our customers.

PALM BEACH COUNTRY CLUB

The Palm Beach Country Club, which opened January 15, has been host to golfers from all points in the island resort. The course is in the best condition ever and Gordon Smith, secretary, is busy putting on the final touches for season play.

Alex Ritchie is seen on the course daily teaching members the finer points of the royal and ancient game.

First tournament play will be the Women's Championship of Florida, February 15-19.

EVERGLADES GOLF CLUB

The popular Everglades Club course has lately been the scene of much active golf with members taking advantage of the good weather offered to knock the little white pellet over the round of 18 holes.

Among those noted teeing off recently were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herendeen, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Brokaw, Mr. H. N. Spalding, Mr. R. W. Brawn, Mr. Nathan D. Bill, Miss Margaret Crowley, Mrs. J. H. Kennedy, Mr. Frederick Herendeen, Mr. S. D. Morris, Mr. Bernard H. Kroger and Mr. Frederick Ward.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Q. White, Mr. George G. McMurry, Mrs. William Guy Noll, Mr. G. Horton Glover, Mr. Thomas Haskins and Mr. Frederick Johnson.

MIAMI BILTMORE hotel

CORAL GABLES, MIAMI, FLORIDA

N. B. T. Roney
PRESIDENT

London Office: Savoy Hotel. Paris Office: 3 Rue Auber

Miami Biltmore Country Club
adjoining the Hotel

Under new ownership and new policies . . . with its many improvements . . . the special arrangements thru new affiliations for guests' golfing, fishing, tennis, bathing and other sports, the Biltmore will be a colorful center of the southern resort season. Although the Biltmore is the world's most sumptuous resort hotel, built without regard for cost during the "peak" season of all Florida's history, its accommodations are now available at popular rates . . . American and European plan.

RONEY PLAZA hotel

MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA

Wm. G. McMeekin, Managing Director

Open from Thanksgiving Day

Palm Gardens

Innovations this year include reductions in room rates and a la carte dining service . . . club breakfasts at sixty cents to a dollar and the Cabana Club Luncheon at a dollar fifty, without sacrificing in the least the traditional European service and niceties of America's finest ocean-front hotel. Pool and surf bathing, without extra charge, and all the pleasures of the Roney Plaza's palm gardens, promenades and beach are privileges of every guest.

Beautiful Hair

LEND A CHARM and DISTINCTION not obtainable in any other way. There is no better evidence of culture and refinement. Lucky Tiger frees your scalp of dandruff, overcomes sluggish blood circulation, and gives to the hair a new life and lustre.

AFTER SEA BATHING

Use Lucky Tiger Freely!

THERE'S where you will get your real thrill. Lucky Tiger is marvelous for the hair and scalp. It means more life and more energy. Being a germicide, it goes to the seat of scalp trouble. Those miserable itchings are replaced with tingles as pleasing as the beautiful moonlight and the sparkles of the stars.

LUCKY TIGER

Lucky Tiger has proven its merit over nearly two score years. It is used by millions. It easily has the largest distribution of any similar preparation in the world. Exhaustive bacteriological tests have proven both the safety and germicidal efficiency of Lucky Tiger.

NASSAU

WITH dignity and pomp and ceremony Nassau welcomed its new Governor of the Bahamas. This new governor is Captain, the Hon. Bede Edmund Hugh Clifford, C. B., C. M. G., M. V. O., and he has an American wife, formerly Miss Alice Gundry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Gundry, of Cleveland, Ohio. They have two small daughters, Anne and Pandora, aged three and two years. The arrival of His Excellency was witnessed by thousands who gathered in Rawson Square.

The Hon. Charles Dundas, O. B. E., Colonial Secretary, who has been Acting Administrator since Governor Orr left the colony last June, went out on the tender to meet His Excellency, attended by his A. D. C., Captain Holland.

Members of the Executive Council and their wives were present at Prince George's wharf when the Governor and Mrs. Clifford landed, and after an inspection of the Guard of Honour of the Bahamas Police, they were presented to the new official and his family. Included among the welcoming party was Mr. Fred D. Fisher, the American Consul, and Mrs. Fisher.

En route to the Council Chamber, His Excellency stopped to inspect the Second Bahamas Troop of Boy Scouts and companies of Girl Guides.

The scene at the Council Chamber was an interesting one. The Governor in the full uniform of a Colonial Governor, mounted the dias and stood under a red canopy, facing a hollow square in the center of which the members of the Executive Council, headed by its president, the Hon. Dr. G. H. Johnson, stood around a long table.

At the left were assembled the members of the House of Assembly, and the Speaker, the Hon. Harcourt Malcolm, who had been preceded to the chamber by the official carrying the golden mace, the emblem of authority.

A few distinguished guests occupied seats at the right and immediately in front of His Excellency forming the other side of the square was a row of high backed chairs occupied by Mrs. Clifford and the wives of the members of the Executive Council, and the wife of the Speaker of the Assembly, according to their rank. Behind these chairs were a score of other invited guests.

Mr. C. J. Whebell, Provost Marshall, read the commission appointing his Excellency as Governor of the Bahamas, after which the Acting Chief Justice, Guy Tracey Watts, administered the oath of allegiance and oath of office.

The assemblage stood while Governor Clifford made a most pleasing address, and thanked the people of Nassau for the gracious welcome they had extended to him and Mrs. Clifford.

The ceremonies over, Governor and Mrs. Clifford were driven to Government House, which has been entirely rebuilt and refurnished for their occupancy.

His Excellency has a fine record of achievement behind him and Mrs. Clifford is a charming young American woman who looked exceedingly smart on her first appearance in Nassau. She wore an oyster white silk and wool diagonal mesh, well tailored, white hat, white shoes, gloves and bag. The only touch of color in her costume was a wide beige belt.

Governor Clifford's A. D. C. is Lieut. Commander E. Edmondston.

Churchill, accompanied by the Very Rev., the Dean of Nassau; the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Bernard, Prefect Apostolic of the Bahamas; the Rev. Canon Herbert George, Vicar Capitular of the Diocese of Nassau; the Rev. Andrew Douglas, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Mr. George Pilcher, of the Royal Empire Society, and many others.

On Monday evening, Lady Williams-Taylor of London, who was a fellow passenger on the Britannic, entertained Governor and Mrs. Clifford at a small and informal dinner at the Porcupine Club. Among the other guests were Miss Diana Churchill, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Munson, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Dolley, Col. Harold Blanchard and Mr. Harold Strebeigh.

Not only Nassau residents but American visitors as well have enjoyed the two public addresses given by Mr. George Pilcher, Secretary of the Royal Empire Society, who has been in Nassau for the past week.

* * * *

One was given by the Royal Empire Society, which was an invitation audiece, and the other open to the public at which time Mr. Pilcher gave a most illuminating talk on the question of the disturbances in India.

Mr. Pilcher was also the guest of honor at a luncheon last week at the Royal Victoria by the Royal Empire Society, arranged by its Nassau representative, the Hon. Harcourt Malcolm.

Arriving on the Volemdam, Monday, and guests of the Royal Victoria, were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wagstaff 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Brown, New York; Dr. and Mrs. John W. Dinsmore, Manhasset, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Abbott, Andover, Mass.; the former mayor of Yonkers, Mr. John J. Fogarty, and Mrs. Fogarty.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wagstaff, 3rd, who were married at St. Bartholomews' Church in New York on January 7, arrived on the Volemdam Monday and are at the Royal Victoria. Mrs. Wagstaff was Miss Kathleen Hastings Curtis.

* * * *

On the same day, Mr. C. W. Wannop, manager of the New Colonial and Royal Victoria, and Mrs. Wannop arrived on the Munargo.

* * * *

Others here are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Harris, of Irvington, N. J.; Miss Muriel Sully, of New York and London; Mr. John B. McKinney, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Fawcett, Glenwood Landing, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Winston Healy, Evanston, Ill.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Munson and Mrs. Munson's niece, Miss Margaret Mallory, are at the Royal Victoria for a 10-day stay and will return in February.

* * * *

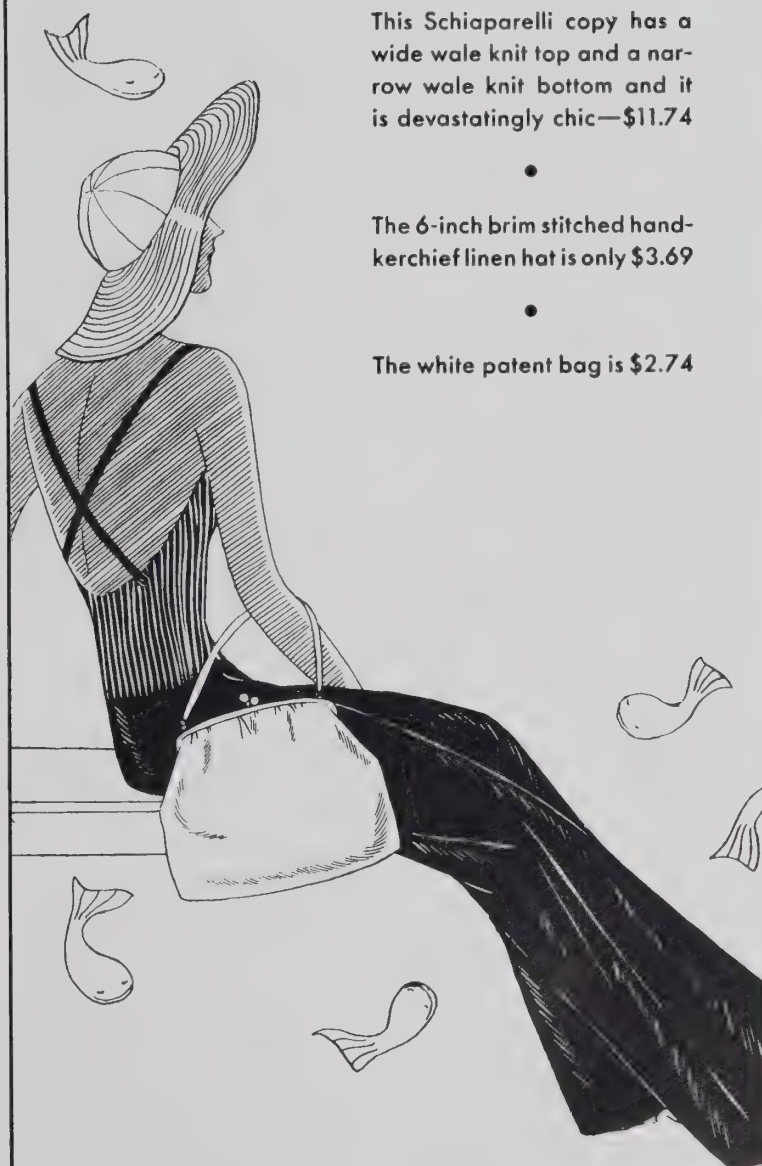

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Davies, of New York, have taken Old Fort on Western Bay Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood Johnson, of Princeton, N. J., have leased Glenwood on East Hill Street, near Government House, for a period of six winters, beginning with next season.

Glenwood is a typical Nassauvian home with wide jealousied piazzas overlooking a large and exquisite tropical walled garden.

Again, Cadillac has made motoring more completely delightful than it has ever been before. Starting with the beautiful new LaSalle, and ranging upward to the inimitable Cadillac V-16—Cadillac offers, literally, a new type of performance. Actually, you seem to float, rather than ride. The motor is quiet almost to the point of absolute silence. The gears—low, second and high—are almost completely noiseless. You free wheel at the touch of a button—and shift without touching the clutch. You accelerate with incredible swiftness. You steer the car, and stop it, with the most delightful ease. In fact, it's the most entrancing performance since motor car history began. Will you confirm this with a La Salle—today? LaSalle prices start at only $2395, f.o.b. Detroit.

ON SUNNY PALM BEACH SANDS

CABANA ROW at the Poinciana-Breakers beach grows more attractive daily as owners of these delightful little houses gather to spend the fashionable bathing hour. Awninged verandas tastefully furnished in wicker of varied hues prove an inviting retreat after lounging in the sunshine, also for visitors who prefer the pleasing panoramic vista to participating in beach activities. Sapphire skies smile happily and the long stretch of glinting sands is filled with gay groups basking in the sunlight, enjoying one of the most perfect recreations found the world over. The Poinciana-Breakers beach has for many years been a magnet for Palm Beach winter visitors and a trip to the internationally-famous Casino is a daily custom.

Members of the cabana colony include Mr. and Mrs. Eben Ellison, of Newton, Mass., and Mr. William Ellison, season guests at the Breakers. They are visited frequently by friends from the cottage colony, including Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holbrook, Mr. Theodore C. Hollander and Mrs. Zenas Sears.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Mitchell and their attractive daughter, Miss Nancy Mitchell, of St. Louis and the Breakers, are to be found daily at their cabana enjoying the bathing and sunshine. Mrs. Mitchell appeared recently in a smart two-piece chartreuse ensemble, with a golden beige blouse. Her wide brimmed hat of natural ballibuntl was effectively trimmed around the crown with a feather band in two shades of green. Miss Mitchell looks very attractive in a white one-piece swimming suit with a braided belt of red and white. An accompanying coat of red and white terry cloth and red and white slippers completed the ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Richard MacRae, of Boston, season guests at the Royal Poinciana, have a cabana. Mr. MacRae is a polo enthusiast and plays frequently at Phipps Field at Gulfstream.

Col. and Mrs. Frederick Weller, of Larchmont and the Breakers, are to be found daily on the shaded porch of their cabana, and are often joined by Mr. Henry T. Sloane and Mr. William Henry Harrison, prominent members of the winter colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Bragg and their lovely little daughter, Polly, spend hours lounging in the sunshine directly in front of their cabana. Polly is one of Instructor Norelius' most promising swimming pupils. Mrs. Bragg wears a becoming two-piece swimming suit which has a white ribbed backless top and beige shorts buttoned at the sides.

Next door, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, of Forest Hills, L. I., and the Breakers, have a cabana where they spend hours each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McIntyre, of Hamilton, Ontario, who are spending the winter at the Vineta Hotel, have cabana number 7 and give many delightful parties for their friends in both the hotel and cottage colonies. Mrs. McIntyre frequently appears in attractive silk beach pajamas of gay green, black and blue flowered design on a white background, worn with a beach hat of natural straw banded in the flowered material.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Lauder and their little daughters, Barbara and Nancy Jane, of New York and the Breakers, spend hours every day enjoying the sunshine and bathing. The children have a cabana adjoining that of their parents and are rapidly acquiring a golden-hued sun-tan. The Lauders' guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oakfort, of Larchmont, N. Y., are delighting in their first Palm Beach season and are at the beach daily.

At the far end of the beach, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kolb, of Clarke Avenue, have cabanas and they were the first of the winter colony to reserve them. They often stay all day on the beach, and have picnic luncheons served on the shaded verandas.

* * * *

The past fortnight has found a steadily increasing number of winter residents joining the Sea Spray Beach Club and the new-comers soon become captivated by the pleasant, informal atmosphere that prevails. Joining the old-timers, they quickly form the habit of spending morning hours at Sea Spray, finding interesting diversion in the social gatherings, as well as the physical benefits afforded by the elements. A plunge into the sea, whether it be turbulent or calm, followed by complete relaxation in the sunshine, is an auspicious beginning for the day's program. There is always a fascinating panorama for the visitor, because against the shifting background of sea and sky is the engaging spectacle of the resort's youngest members getting their full share of fun. Sea Spray is one of the spots on the island where boys and girls, even below the sub-debutante age, are provided for with as much consideration and care as their fashionable elders, and this factor of having the entire family welcome makes the beach at noontime one of the most charming spots in the colony.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Drake Smith, of Rye, N. Y., who are visiting Mrs. La Grave Harrison at her Sea Spray Avenue home, are among those who have lately taken memberships at the Sea Spray Beach Club. Mrs. Smith was noted on the sands recently, wearing a becoming costume of white pique knit trousers and buttoned jacket with bright red sandals forming a dramatic note.

* * * *

Maj. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard (the former Miss Muriel McCormick), of Lone Tree Farm, Middleton, Conn., also have joined Sea Spray during the past fortnight. They are passing the season at Carlitos on Jungle Road.

* * * *

* * * *

Mr. Edward Lowber Welsh, of South Lake Trail, comes down almost daily for his morning dip and exchange of greetings with his many friends.

* * * *

Mrs. William Henry Williams, of New York, who is occupying Mrs. Reginald Brooks' villa on Royal Palm Way for the season, joined Sea Spray soon after her arrival in the cottage colony.

* * * *

Mrs. Henry B. Dearborn, of Chilean Avenue, comes down frequently with her daughter, Miss Ann Dearborn, and Dr. and Mrs. William Worcester, of Worth Avenue, are also noted on fine mornings.

Indispensable for

THE LIPSTICK ENSEMBLE

* In the new Elizabeth Arden Lipstick Ensemble there is a shade to harmonize with every costume in your resort wardrobe.

FOR YOUR BEACH CLOTHES you need the vivid accent of Chariot or Coquette to set off your slack-and-sweater or pyjamas.

FOR DAYTIME AND SPORTS, lovely Printemps and Viola are essential, for you surely have many costumes in pastel shades and in blues.

FOR THE EVENING, Victoire or Carmenita will add a striking note to your ensemble, if your gown is in black or a jewel tone. With light gowns, use Printemps...it will blend beautifully.

* So you see how indispensable the Lipstick Ensemble is to a happy holiday! You will find it in an attractive black and silver box, at the Arden Salon, $7.50. Of course you can buy the lipsticks individually, if you prefer, at $1.50 each.

* Regular treatments at Miss Arden's Salon will guard your skin against coarsening and insure the uniformity of your tan. Perhaps you have decided against tan. Then have special bleaching treatments and keep your cream-gardenia delicacy with Miss Arden's expert aid. Please telephone for an appointment Palm Beach 8924...Miami Beach 5-2830.

Current Events Lectures

AN of wide experience in the analysis of world affairs will speak before the members of the Current Events lecture course this winter and the program, as arranged by Mrs. John R. Bryden, director of the course is replete with interest. The first lecture will be given on Wednesday afternoon, February 3, at Lagomar, the residence of Mrs. Henry R. Rea. The speaker will be Sir Norman Angell, noted British author, and his subject will be "Germany and the European Collapse."

Sir Norman Angell was born in England and received his education in France and Switzerland. His most noted book, "The Great Illusion," a study of the futility of war, has been translated into 25 languages. Of this writer it has been said: "He is the prince of expositors . . . impatient of mystery and inconclusion. We see him as a twentieth century encyclopaedist, preparing us and informing us of the great changes which must undoubtedly face our communities in the coming years."

Mr. Chester Harvey Rowell will give the second lecture of the series, February 10, at the residence of Mr. Addison Mizner, on "Manchuria, the Balkans of Asia." Mr. Rowell graduated from the University of Michigan, afterwards going to Europe for post-graduate work at the universities of Halle, Berlin, Paris and Rome. Mr. Rowell has just returned from Manchuria and speaks with authority on his interesting subject.

On Wednesday, February 17, Mr. James G. McDonald, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association, will speak on "The Present International Outlook—Economic and Political." This lecture will be given at Villa Flora, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearson. Mr. McDonald has gone from crisis to crisis in Europe and has conferred with Laval, Chang Kai-Shek, Masaryk, Venizelas, Mussolini, Briand, Ramsay MacDonald and others who are making world history today.

The fourth lecture of the series will be given on Wednesday, February 24, at La Fontana, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Luke Mesker. The Hon. Joseph Montague Kenworthy, R. N., has chosen for his subject, "Will Civilization Crash?" Commander Kenworthy is the eldest son of Lord Strabolgi, heir to an ancient title that dates back to the Scottish kings. He has seen naval service in China, the East Indies, and Africa and commanded H. M. S. Bullfinch for the first 18 months of the war. Later he became chief of staff at Gibraltar. He is a student of naval strategy, and is a very convincing and eloquent speaker.

A debate between Hon. Millard E. Tydings and Col. Fitzhugh Lee Minnegerode on the subject, "Resolved: That Dictatorship is the most efficient form of government," will be given at El Mirasol, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Wednesday, March 2. Senator Tydings is a member of the following committees: District of Columbia, Interstate Commerce, Naval Affairs, Public Buildings and Grounds, Territories and Insular Affairs. Colonel Minnegerode is a native of Virginia. He served his country with valor in the World War and has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, the American Distinguished Service Cross, the French Legion of Honor and two Croix de Guerre.

The final lecture will be given on March 9, and its plans have not been entirely completed. The director has been for some time trying to engage Herr von Kuehlmann, but his coming to America is still uncertain. Announcement will be made later concerning the closing lecture of the series.

News of the Skyways

ANY strange shipments have been made by air during the past weeks by the American and Caribbean clippers, giant seaplanes of the Pan-American Airways—goldfish to Costa Rica, iguanas from Central America, queen bees to Dutch Guiana, diamonds to New York, bricks of gold ore from Nicaragua, parasites such as orchids from Colombia, women's hats and motion pictures to Rio—and the most romantic cargo of the air thus far, the two kisses, sent from Miami to Havana. They were Max and Mina Kiss, a Brooklyn business man and his wife on a winter vacation.

* * * *

Aviation officials believe that Miami is now undoubtedly headquarters for the world's busiest international airline. Figures just released by Pan-American Airways for the year 1931 show that 8,390 passengers were carried by air between Miami and Havana alone, with an equal number northbound on the same line. This represents an increase of more than 49 per cent over traffic on this line during the previous year.

* * * *

For many years the London-Paris line of Imperial Airways was the scene of the world's heaviest international sky traffic, but it is believed that Miami and the Cuban capital now hold the record. A total of 12,906 travelers took the air from Miami during 1931 on the various schedules of Pan-American Airways to Cuba, Haiti, Jamaica, West Indies, Mexico, Central and South America. This number represents an increase in air traffic of more than 56 per cent over the previous year.

* * * *

The international seaplane base at Dinner Key this season has a capacity of 7,000 air passengers per month, departing and arriving. This is due largely to the operation to Havana of the American Clipper flying boats, the world's largest commercial transport planes.

* * * *

Among noted patrons attracted recently to the Clipper service between Miami and Havana were Mr. Ernest R. Jahncke, assistant secretary of the Navy, who traveled in the American Clipper to Havana accompanied by his wife, son and daughter. His son, Stanton, is field clerk in the Miami operations office at Dinner Key. Mr. Frank A. Arnold, vice president of the National Broadcasting Company, of New York, took the trip with Mr. Jesse Jay, owner of station WIOD of Miami.

Proving that there are two sides to everything—this frock uses its lovely fabric alternately crepey side out and inside out! The many tucks are sometimes the usual way, sometimes inverted. A fascinating color accent occurs in the soft crushed girdle—periwinkle and cerise with the chartreuse.

TASTES AND TOILETTES

HE long skirt holds the most equivocal position in today's fashions—it is loved in the evening and despised in the morning light. Even the half-long skirt is looked upon askance; women seem to be afraid that Fashion will send it creeping down to their ankles in spite of their protests. And Paris is again vigorously chopping off daytime hems and shortening her sports frocks. Perhaps woman is taking a leaf out of man's fashion book, man who reveals his more or less shapely limbs when in pursuit of sports like golf or fishing or hunting, and who modestly covers them up when in evening attire.

* * * *

Audiences at the opening performances of the Palm Beach Playhouse are brilliant in a literal sense, as well as metaphorically, for the women of fashion who attend come attired in wraps of glittering gold brocade, in gowns with sparkling jeweled shoulder straps, and gleaming bead trimmings. Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, of La Solano on Ocean Boulevard, was noted on a first night in a geranium chiffon frock made distinctive by four-inch-wide shoulder straps of bugle beads. Pearls were worn and long coral earrings. Mrs. Reynolds' wrap matched in color her vivid dress.

* * * *

Mrs. Clarke Hollander, who is visiting Mr. Theodore C. Hollander at Villa Muriel on El Vedado Lane, was charmingly costumed in a turquoise blue lace evening gown at the opening night of "Philip Goes Forth." A long sleeved jacket of the same material was made effective with ermine cuffs.

* * * *

* * * *

Eggshell crepe was chosen by Mrs. Francis A. Shaughnessy for the opening performance of "Philip Goes Forth," that was made along simple lines and cut low in the back. Mrs. Shaughnessy was one of the large number who favored pearls for a necklace.

* * * *

A hip-length jacket of geranium velvet over a flowered crepe evening frock was the interesting costume selected by Mrs. Frederic Foster Carey, of Villa Vinca on Sea Spray Avenue.

* * * *

One of the most striking costumes noted at the opening performance at the Playhouse last week, was that worn by Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr., of Barton Avenue. Her handsome evening gown was covered with a black chiffon velvet wrap that had a white fox edged cape.

* * * *

Mrs. George Luke Mesker, of La Fontana, threw a cape of snowy ermine, fringed with little black tails, over a low-backed Nile green crepe evening gown at a first night performance of the play.

* * * *

An electric blue chiffon evening gown was worn by Mrs. Hobart Endicott Warren at a first night performance, the sheen of her gown caught and reflected in her sparkling crystal necklace and earrings.

Mrs. Ranulf Compton, of the Breakers, appeared the other evening in a lovely madonna blue peau d'ange lace dinner gown. A softly draped cowl neckline and circular panels were details. Interesting suede and satin sandals of matching tone were worn.

* * * *

At the Embassy Club opening, Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, of the Breakers, was attired in a lovely heliotrope lace gown fashioned with a deep square neckline in front and back, worn with a hip-length wrap of purple velvet edged with ermine. An antique necklace and earrings of amethyst were outstanding details of her ensemble.

* * * *

On the same evening, Mrs. Samuel A. Mitchell, of St. Louis and the Breakers, chose for her costume a diaphanous black chiffon frock with a symmetrical treatment of glittering sequins on the hip-yoke and bodice. A long velvet wrap had a voluminous standing collar of ermine. Her daughter, Miss Nancy Mitchell, looked charming in a cardinal red flat crepe dinner dress, details of which were a deep cowl neckline, rhinestone straps and belt which was linked, chain fashion, almost to her knees. Sandals of matching color with rhinestone heels were worn.

* * * *

Mrs. Frank Kolb, of Clarke Avenue, wore a stunning gown of white crepe romaine with a halter neck treatment of sequins. Circular panels made the skirt gracefully full and her wrap was a lovely fitted white velvet coat with a fluffy white fox collar.

* * * *

Mrs. Benjamin F. Hopkins, of Cleveland, looked very smart in her white peau d'ange dance frock which fitted closely to the knees, where a circular fullness began. An extremely low square decolletage neckline and tangerine velvet twisted girdle and matching slippers were noteworthy details.

* * * *

Black flat crepe was chosen by Mrs. John M. L. Rutherford, whose distinctive blonde beauty and dusky sun-tan made her the cynosure of many eyes. Small looped diamond ornaments caught the shoulder straps in front and back.

* * * *

Mr. Thomas E. Bragg, a charming member of the New York colony at the Breakers, wears black frequently and the other evening appeared in a cobweb lace gown with a scalloped edging at the back V decolletage and tiny capelet sleeves.

* * * *

Mrs. Edwin S. Larsen, of Brazilian Avenue, lunched the other day at the Breakers and wore a frock of cloud pink with small brown and white printed floral pattern, with an accompanying coat of pink basket weave jersey. A small brimmed brown felt hat with a pink feathered trim at the side, and brown bag, gloves and slippers were worn.

* * * *

Mrs. Frederick Weller, of Larchmont, came over from her yacht, "True Love," to her cabana recently wearing a smart white satin spectator sports frock with crystal buttons fastening all the way down the front. A wide amande green milan hat and green and white slippers completed her costume.

METROPOLITAN SOCIETY NOTES

RS. EDWARD F. HUTTON, of Mar-a-Lago, on South Ocean Boulevard, and the executive committee of the Charity Carnival of 1932, gave a tea in New York recently at the Hutton residence, 2 East Ninety-second Street. It was given for the members of the arrangements committee for the annual benefit for the Judson Health Center, which will be held May 3 in Madison Square Garden. Mrs. Arthur B. Claflin, formerly of Palm Beach, is honorary chairman of the carnival.

Among the guests were Dr. Eleanor A. Campbell, Mrs. Eugene W. Ong, Lila Agnew Stewart, Mrs. George Rose, Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mrs. T. Raymond St. John, Mrs. Colby M. Chester, Mrs. Hunter S. Marston, Lady Gosford, Mrs. Archibald G. McIlwaine, Mrs. Elisha Walker, Mrs. Howard Brokaw, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Mrs. Joseph K. Ridder, Mrs. Herbert Shipman, Mrs. Samuel Rea, Mrs. Paul Pryibil, Mrs. Douglas Elliman, Mrs. Josef Urban, Mrs. Charles E. F. McCann, Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, Mrs. William F. Carey, Mrs. Grover A. Whalen, Mrs. Robert de Vecchi, Mrs. William F. Atkins and Mrs. Andrew Shiland.

Mr. Grover A. Whalen addressed the committee and announced that the forthcoming pageant, "Adventure," which will be a feature of the carnival, will surpass preceding pageants. Headquarters for the directors will be opened next month in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt gave a dinner recently at her New York residence, later taking her guests to the first of the series of eight Sert Dances in the Sert Room of the Waldorf-Astoria, to aid the New York Infirmary for Women and Children.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is one of the committee of prominent women who are assisting Mrs. Edwin Main Post, Jr., in arranging this series of supper-dances which will be held each Thursday evening during January and February.

Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham, who is serving as treasurer of the committee, gave a dinner on January 14, preceding the second of the dances. Others who are entertaining at dinner on Thursday evening are Mrs. William Goadby Loew, Mrs. Post, Mrs. Loew Burrill, Mrs. Harold E. Talbott, Jr., Mrs. Morton L. Schwartz and Mrs. Richard B. W. Hall.

News of the secret marriage of Miss Jeanne Meagher to Robert McK. Herndon on December 12, will be of interest here, where she visited in previous years. Miss Antoinette Johnson, who has recently arrived at the home of her father, Mr. Frederick Johnson, on Via Bellaria, was present at the ceremony.

The recent bride, daughter of Mrs. James H. Snowden, was introduced to society on Thanksgiving Day and two weeks later, without the knowledge of members of her family, she was wed to Mr. Herndon, who is the son of Mrs. Dixon Boardman, in the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Yonkers.

The new Mrs. Herndon is a daughter of Mrs. Snowden by her former marriage to Ward C. Meagher. Mr. Herndon's father is Hugh Herndon, New York. His brother, Hugh Herndon, Jr., who has been visiting in Nassau, won wide attention last year when he made a flight around the world with Clyde Pangborn.

Unique among events in society inasmuch as it can only take place once in four years, the third Leap Year Ball has been arranged, naturally, for February 29 in the Ritz-Carlton.

Patrons of this Leap Year assembly include George Temple Bowdoin, Lewis Gawtry, Frederick W. Longfellow, R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., John Rutherford, I. N. Phelps Stokes and Dr. D. Hunter McAlpin. Most of the patrons were also sponsors for one or both of the previous Leap Year assemblies in 1924 and 1928.

From a list of more than one thousand names of young men, married and single, who have attended recent dances, has been selected five hundred to whom invitations will be sent. There, however, will appear at the foot of each invitation an announcement that "The committee reserves the right to refuse late subscriptions." Each subscriber is entitled to invite three women as his guests and, as a result, the list of subscribers must be limited to about one hundred and fifty. Subscriptions will be accepted in order of their receipt and any subscriptions received after the limit has been reached will be returned.

Subscription to Leap Year Assemblies is by invitation only. Subscriptions are not transferable and guest cards may be used for the admittance of women only.

The committee for the Third Leap Year Assembly includes John Irving Cooper, Frederic Gallatin Hoppin, John Minturn LeRoy, Livingston Longfellow, James Russell Lowell, Abbot Low Moffat, Gilbert Colgate, Jr., and Edward Everett Watts, Jr., chairman.

The Leap Year Assemblies are modeled along the lines of the dances for debutantes and older girls, such as the Junior Assemblies, the Knickerbocker Assemblies and the Friday Assemblies, except that, as far as possible, all details are reversed. The subscribers are all men. The guests are all women. Subscribers and guests are received by the patrons and members of the committee (all men). The "stag line" is made up entirely of women.

The Third Leap Year Assembly is to follow the precedent set by the two previous dances in that it is to start at an early hour (subscribers and their guests will be urged to arrive between 9:30 and 10:30). The ball is to end promptly at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Talbott, of New York, were hosts recently at one of the largest of the dinner parties given before the second series of the Sert dances held in the Sert room of the Waldorf-Astoria for the benefit of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children.

In the Talbott party were Mr. and Mrs. Parker Corning, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nelson Slater, Mr. and Mrs. Warner LaV. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Widener, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingston Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Langley, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Carstairs, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. Alan L. Corey, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mrs. E. Marshall Field, Mrs. George Howard, Miss Beatrice Palmer, Mr. Howard Maxwell, Mr. Edward M. McIlvain, Jr., Mr. Lucius Ordway and Mr. Perry Osborn.

A new fabric—white crepe lunata—is here seen with belt, scarf and trim of red or royal. The “pancake” beret appears again, this time in blue. Seen at Best & Company.

Trim and cool-looking in a hand-knitted suit of navy blue, ready for shopping or travel. Note the diagonal stripes on the open work blouse. From Mrs. Franklin.

ST. AUGUSTINE

HE St. Augustine Arts Club in Davenport Park held its first sketch class Thursday under the direction of Miss Hildegard Mueller, of New York. Among those participating were Mrs. Arthur Buckner Barrett, Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson, Misses Helen Cook, Gertrude Calhoun, Elizabeth Leonard, Eloise Moeller, Eve Lunstedt and Catherine Canova, Ralph Hillbom, J. Dexter Phinney, Tyler J. Van Campen, Robert Hamilton, J. M. Caesar, John Pittman and C. H. Heye.

Mrs. Theodore Livesay entertained at a dinner Friday at her home for Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Tyler. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, Miss Mary G. Smethurst, J. Louis Ketterlinus and G. B. Lamar.

Mrs. Walter J. Travis, widow of the former amateur golf champion, has sent a gold medal to Thomas E. Byron, manager of the St. Augustine links. The medal was one Mr. Travis won in the preliminary round of the Garden City Golf Club invitation tournament of 1903. The committee of the national championship of golf club champions tournament to be played here February 1-6 will present the medal to the winner. The chief prize for the tournament is the Walter J. Travis memorial cup.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rogge, of Dayton, Ohio, who were married recently, have arrived by motor at the Ponce de Leon. The bride, formerly Miss Dorothy Roehm, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roehm, of Dayton.

Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, of New York, started her weekly bridge luncheons Tuesday at her Spanish villa. Guests included Mrs. Theodore M. Livesay, Mrs. George W. Jackson, Mrs. Cyril C. Spades, Mrs. Henry N. Rodenbaugh, Mrs. Fred A. Henderich and Miss Amey E. MacMillan.

Mrs. Howard P. Cornell, of Providence, and Miss A. I. Meigs, of Philadelphia, have arrived at the Ponce de Leon for the the season. Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Hoyt, of New York, who came by motor from southern Florida, where they passed the holidays, are staying at the Ponce de Leon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Fownes, of Pittsburgh, gave a luncheon at the hotel Tuesday for Mrs. Rebecca Fillay and Miss Anna Boyd. The party motored from the Fownes' winter home at Winter Park. Mrs. J. A. McLennan and Mr. John McLennan, of Philadelphia, who were accompanied by Mrs. W. H. McBridge and Mrs. Gordon Doss, also had luncheon at the Ponce de Leon.

Mr. E. T. McGovern entertained aboard his boat, "Sedaps," Tuesday for Miss Catherine Bogart, of New York, and Mr. Edward Conners. They fished later at the inlet and went bathing in the lagoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntosh Jaycox, of Philadelphia, returned Tuesday for their annual visit. They played golf at the St. Augustine Links and had tea there.

* * * *

Mr. William R. Kenan, Jr., president of the Florida East Coast Hotel Company, and Mrs. Kenan arrived on the Miamian Saturday morning from their home in Lockport, N. Y., to occupy their suite at the Ponce de Leon. On the way down they made a brief stop at New York City, where they visited friends.

* * * *

and winter colony entertaining at teas and luncheons. Of interest was a tea given on Friday by Miss Mary L. Meigs, of Waterbury, Conn., for Mrs. G. H. Clowes, Mrs. W. A. Nickerson, also of Waterbury; Miss Margaret M. Grannis and Miss Theresa Drummond, of Pine Orchard, Conn.

A delightful luncheon was given there by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Newell, Jr., of Toledo, Ohio, whose guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Booker and Mrs. G. W. Booker, of South Jacksonville. The men in the party later played golf. Mr. and Mrs. Newell are spending the winter at their charming home, Granada, at Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sullivan, of Bronxville, N. Y., also had luncheon at the clubhouse. Mr. Sullivan played a round of golf.

* * * *

The beautiful pool in the Alcazar Casino, under the direction of John Walton, is a popular meeting place for swimming parties formed by hotel guests, winter colony and all-year residents. The past week there has been much activity there, and among those enjoying the pool are Mrs. M. A. Nickerson, of Waterbury, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. H. Dunston Smith, Jr., of West Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Alice Robinson, of Sayville, L. I., N. Y.; G. P. Connelly and son-in-law, D. F. Sheehan, of Beverly Farms, Mass.; Miss Ethel Grey Rogers, of Greensboro, N. C.; Miss Esther Mears, of Philadelphia; Miss Betty Lee Price, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Arthur Kellogg, of Stone Mountain, Ga.; W. A. Thornton, of Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Philip Leach, of New York City; Miss Sally Friedman, of Dover, N. J., and Gustave Katz, of Hackettstown, N. J.

St. Augustine folk who frequent the pool include the Misses Clarinda Jackson, Jean Rodenbaugh, Winifred Hill, Peggy Turtle, Rita Snyder, Elizabeth Korst, Loraine Shepherd, Martha McLeod, Evelyn Lock, Winna Goode and Helen C. Beyer; also Charles E. Young, Sr., Mrs. A. W. Pope, J. T. MacDowell, Charles Turtle, George Jackson, Jr., and Edwin MacDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tinsman, of Huntington, N. Y., who are guests at the Ponce de Leon, have returned from San Antonio, Texas.

* * * *

Mrs. Beverly D. Causey and Mrs. J. C. R. Foster were luncheon guests Sunday at the Tangerine Tea Room at Mandarin, on the St. Johns river. Also entertaining there was Mrs. William B. Robinson, of Sayville, N. Y.

* * * *

Mrs. Milton W. Kirk, of New York, has Miss Helen Amelia Danese, singer, as a week-end guest at the Cordova.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoffman were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard R. Howe at the Ponce de Leon, Sunday. Others entertaining included Mrs. Robert MacDonald, whose guests were Mrs. Cornelia Bradford, Mrs. Samuel Bradford and daughter, Miss Eleanor Bradford, and Miss Ethelwyn F. Moffatt, of Cumberland.

* * * *

Recent arrivals at the Cordova are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Parsons, Mrs. Peter J. Gibbons and son, Austin Flint Gibbons; Miss Emma Brown, Mr. W. T. Brown and Mr. August Weil, of New York.

MEET OUR YOUNGER GENERATION

IT STARTED in front of the bank when the 10-year-old son of a so-called tin can tourist threw a stone that hit the French bulldog pet of a smaller winter colony boy. It ended on the grass plot in Phipps Plaza when the tourist youngster apologized to the French bulldog. The bulldog's dignity and solemn serenity were ruffled, the tourist lad looked as if he had tackled a buzz saw and the Palm Beach boy was mussed up as to clothes and hair but uninjured except for a few skinned knuckles.

In the less than five minutes that the affair lasted one boy had learned that fine raiment and manners do not make a "sissy"—as he had thought—and the other boy had enjoyed—and then regretted—an interesting set-to.

There are a number of youngsters of the Palm Beach winter colony who could have duplicated the dog owner's performance, including some girls, because boxing is one of the many sports that these children are taught as a part of their rather thorough athletic training.

The youngest generation of the colony—from 15 months to 16 years—may miss the fun some children enjoy of making mud pies, digging secret pirate caves and finding treasures in the process or climbing trees and possibly sneaking a captured stray dog into the house or playing "hookey" and adventuring into strange neighborhoods, "keeping store" for the benefit of passing strangers or going to the candy store with an earned dime to treat the "gang," but they do spend most of their time out-of-doors and have plenty of fun, even if that fun is rather carefully regulated.

Their daily routine is less flexible than that of their elders but they are a happy crew. They have their intimates, their group interests, their cliques for play and parties, their hobbies and pets and above all their athletics ranging from badminton to boxing, all out-of-doors as are many of their study periods. In bathing suits whether in the pools at the various private clubs for swimming lessons or for fun, boxing, wrestling, jumping or playing baseball, football, soccer or indulging in track events they get the benefit of the sun and glow with health and sun tan. About the only sports they favor that call for more formal dress are golf and tennis with occasionally a try at archery.

Before the close of the season Sally Hall, 16-months-old daughter of Charles M. Hall, will probably have gained the distinction of being the youngest swimmer in Palm Beach. She can already float and go through the motions of swimming—with approved form—and is a veritable duck. Younger by a month but equally enthusiastic is Billy Oakes who squirms out of his nurse's arms and would jump in the pool if permitted the chance. He insists that he shall have a ride across the pool and back again each day on the shoulders of the instructor. If he is taken to the vicinity of the pool in street clothes he tries to take them off but he is not the only "fish" of the Oakes family, as Nancy, seven; Sidney, four, and Shirley are all perfectly at home in the water, while Nancy is champion in her class in calisthenics.

Johnny Weismuller, Helene Madison and the chap who won the Wrigley ice-water long distance race are lucky that they are not young enough to come into competition with Vincent Scullen, Jr., who at three and a half years swam the Sea Spray pool from end to end 15 times for a record of 1,500 feet without a stop, using a variety of strokes.

Most of Palm Beach's youngest generation take to the water as eagerly as their immediate elders—the younger generation from 17 to 22—take to dancing. For instance, Charlotte, 12; Bobs, 7, and little sister Miriam Morrison never miss a day in the pool despite the temperature unless it rains and if "Kinks" Dolge, five, and what he considers his "kid brother," Peter, merely four years old; Annette and Wiley Reynolds, 12 and 13, respectively, and Marie and Hood Bassett, similarly aged, as well as Alice, Joan and 4-year-old "Buzz" Wyeth and the Farrell children—two girls, Ritchie, 14, and Fairfax, 12—are not in the water with their 10-year-old brother and constant escort, Joel, then there is something wrong, for all of these children are "regulars" either in the pools or in the ocean when it is calm.

Herbert Pulitzer has a promising entry in the "under two-year" class in his 19-months-old son, Peter, who is just as fearless in the water as his 3-year-old big sister, Patsy, while Alfred G. Kay's three clever children, Warren ("Bill"), Audrey and Anita, are most promising swimming pupils.

For winter swimming enthusiasm Catherine Wait, the 11-year-old daughter of Luther Wait, of Saratoga, probably takes the palm. Because there are no swimming facilities to her liking where she spends the summer months, Catherine has elected to study during the usual summer vacation time so that she may have all her time while here for swimming and she fairly lives in a bathing suit from the time she arrives in Palm Beach until she leaves. Frank and Clarissa Jean Davies also spend many happy hours on the beach.

Many of the children, while not neglecting their swimming, devote as much time as possible to other sports and one of the chief of these is boxing, and some very creditable bouts are put up by the girls as well as the boys, although in the annual public boxing bouts it is only the small boys who are seen in action. Emeline Moody is one girl who objects to this arrangement. She is 12 and wants to box on the boys' team, to which, by the way, she would be a valuable addition. She is a crack boxer with a puzzling shift and an effective habit of feinting her opponent into a vulnerable pose when she drives home a stiff left that usually does damage.

Patsy Clifford, the little girl with the twinkling dimples, baby stare and quick, disarming smile, is only three and a half but there are few boys of her age who care to face her with the gloves on. She looks shy and embarrassed but when her opponent rushes her she uncovers a counter punching ability and trickiness at in-fighting that is uncanny.

Richard Kelly has as fast a right cross as any paper-weight of five years in the colony and when he faces Carol Hammerstein, daughter of Arthur Hammerstein, who is six months his elder and is a good straight puncher with either hand and from almost any angle, there is plenty of action well worth watching. Richard is also good at baseball and football.

Frederic Gwynne, who goes in for football, soccer and track events, is another five-and-a-half-year-old boxer who can give a good account of himself. His right uppercut is a good thing for the other youngsters to stay away from. It is fast and accurate.

The three-and-a-half-year-old twin sons of Elmer Rich, of Chicago, Franklin and Kenneth, are clever and boxed recently for a motion picture reel cameraman. Before the bout started the instructor told them to remember their uppercuts.

"Oh, yes," said one, "we eat them."

"You eat uppercuts?" replied the instructor, surprised.

"Yes," chimed in the other twin, "we often eat apricots for breakfast and we like them."

Not to be outdone by the twins, Vincent Scullen, Jr., and his pal, "Sonny" Giblin, Jr., staged an impromptu bout, knockdowns and all, for the cameraman. They are the same age as the twins and there is a good prospect of a couple of bouts later in the season between one of the twins and Vincent with the other twin pitted against "Sonny." "Sonny," by the way, is in serious training for an effort to better his little pal's record of 1,500 feet in a swimming endurance contest.

Marta Sweatt likes to catch the fish she emulates in the water and this season, out in the Gulf Stream, she hooked and landed almost without help a fair sized sailfish which her father is having mounted for her. Marta is 12 and can handle a rod and reel like a veteran and hopes some day to be permitted to navigate her father's fishing boat.

Robert and Kenneth Alexander, eight and six, respectively, are also boating enthusiasts as is Robert Southworth, who is 14. These boys prefer sail boats but the luckiest of the boat crowd is 15-year-old Gurnee Munn, Jr., who told his mother quite casually that he would enjoy a motor boat during the two-week Christmas vacation from school that he planned to spend here. Nothing simpler. When Junior arrived he found a 30-foot fast motor boat tied up at a mooring buoy in the lake, ready for his use after having been hurriedly bought in New York and shipped down on a flat car. He immediately installed a radio outfit on the boat and spent most of his vacation aboard the craft, which he ran himself with a mechanic at hand in case of emergency.

Robert Alexander is also a swimmer of parts and strokes. One day he watched the high school swimming team members being coached and demanded of their coach, who was also his swimming instructor, that he, Robert, be placed on that team. When told that most of the team swimmers were almost twice his age and that he had a lot of work to do in the water before he would be in their class, he wanted, seriously, to know whether the instructor thought that he could qualify if he worked hard for a month.

The Reynolds children have learned to put their weight in their boxing blows and golf strokes and a friendly bout between either Annette or Wiley Reynolds and Hood Bassett is well worth watching.

Clyde Roche, who at 12 has the most extensive vocabulary of any child in the winter colony, has a pet rabbit that can do tricks but he considers that quite unimportant compared to his authoristic ambitions. He has advanced as far as the possession of a typewriter and a den of his own but so far has refused to submit any manuscripts, of which he is suspected, to his writing parents.

Another potential member of the Three Arts is Leela Quinn, who at five has a strong leaning towards drawing and painting.

AMONG THE PALMS

R. AND MRS. EBEN ELLISON, and his brother, Mr. William Ellison, of Newton, Mass., are enjoying their usual winter sojourn at the Breakers. Motoring south, the Ellisons stopped at Ormond Beach for a few days before coming to Palm Beach. Members of their family who will join them here for a visit include Mr. and Mrs. William Ellison. He has come down in February for several winters, but it will be Mrs. Ellison's first visit. She is the former Miss Isabelle Lothrop, of Brookline, and the wedding took place in September. Mrs. William Ferris, Jr. (Harriet Ellison), of Newton, is expected to arrive early in February to visit her parents. She is well known in the resort's golfing circles, and the winner of many tournaments. The Ellisons have taken a cabana at the Poinciana-Breakers beach and spend the morning hours there.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Bragg and their lovely little daughter, Polly, came down from New York several days ago and are at the Breakers for the season. When visiting the resort previously, the Braggs made their Palm Beach home at Whitehall and last winter paid a lengthy visit to Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Bragg have taken a cabana at the Poinciana-Breakers beach, and little Polly is to be found there daily, playing in the sunshine. She is a splendid swimmer and is at the pool daily improving her stroke and diving under the tutelage of Instructor Norelius. Mr. Bragg is prominent in New York financial circles.

* * * *

Mr. William P. Finley, of Brooklyn, is at the New Palm Beach for his annual stay. He is a member of the Old Friendship Club which was organized in the Palm Beach Hotel on the lake front many years ago, and he is one of the most beloved guests in the hotel colony. Last summer he passed most of his time at Jamesport, L. I. Mr. Finley is a regular visitor at the Poinciana-Breakers beach.

* * * *

An interesting foursome who for years have wintered at the Hotel Mayflower includes Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Breckenridge and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Perkins, of New York, who arrived in Palm Beach early in January. The Breckenridges gave the initial bridge party of the season at the hotel and their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Havill, Mrs. E. N. Hartnett and Mr. Horace Pemberton.

* * * *

Many winter visitors have chosen the Vineta Hotel for their Palm Beach home. Mrs. Benjamin F. Hopkins, of Cleveland, is spending her second season there. She was formerly a member of the cottage colony and is popular in that group. Her sons, Benjamin, Jr., and Jack, are expected down from Cleveland to spend the Easter vacation in this resort.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McIntyre, of Hamilton, Ontario, who for many years were seasonal guests at the Royal Poinciana, are now located at the Hotel Vineta. They have been lengthening their visit here yearly and arrived this season early in December and plan to remain until May. The McIntyres have a cabana at the Poinciana-Breakers beach and entertain there frequently for their friends in the cottage and hotel colonies.

Mr. William J. Southam, of Hamilton, Ontario, owner of the Hamilton Spectator, who has been wintering at the Vineta Hotel for several years, is again a guest there for the season.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Rauh, of New York, joined the season colony at the Breakers last week, returning for their sixth consecutive winter at this famous hotel. They are extremely fond of both surf bathing and golf and are seen daily on the golf courses and at the beach.

* * * *

Mrs. H. H. Windsor, of Chicago, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. E. B. Thompson, arrived in Palm Beach last week and are again occupying their suite at the Breakers for the winter. They have been members of the winter colony here for years and spend the summer months at the Hotel Sam-O-Set at Rockland Breakwater, Me. Mrs. Windsor's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Windsor, Jr., and their two children have taken a house this season on El Brillo way.

Whitehall opened for the season on January 15 and will again have among its season guests representative members of socially prominent families who return each season to this palatial hotel, of which Mr. Martin Sweeny, of the Berkshire, New York, is managing director.

Justly famous in both America and Europe as one of the most beautiful and luxurious residential centers of Palm Beach, Whitehall provides sumptuous accommodations for the winter visitors to this resort. In addition to its superb suites on the lake front there is also a magnificent 11-room pent house, from the terrace of which there is a marvelous view of Palm Beach from ocean to lake.

Whitehall was formerly the private residence of the late Henry M. Flagler, whose genius and vision transformed Palm Beach into the garden spot of the world. Noted as an art connoisseur and collector, the owner brought to Whitehall the choicest specimens of his collection which were acquired during many years of world-wide travel. Here they are assembled in a setting worthy of their priceless value and beauty.

The guests and visitors at Whitehall have the unique privilege of enjoying these treasures which have been left intact, even to the owner's personal suite, now known as the "Flagler suite." The marble entrance hall, a room of superb dimension, exquisite murals, tapestries and various objets d'art form an environment that is not equalled in any luxury hotel throughout the entire world.

The Hon. Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war under President Wilson, has returned to Whitehall for the season and is occupying his usual suite. Other early arrivals are P. H. B. Frelinghuysen and son, H. O. H. Frelinghuysen, of Morristown, N. J., who will be at the Whitehall until the completion of their new Palm Beach residence.

Senor Juan Riano and Roderick Terry, who are identified with the Newport summer colony, are at Whitehall for the season. Other important arrivals are Gen. E. P. Meany, former advocate-general, and Mrs. Meany, of Paris, France, and the Hotel Plaza, New York. Also Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Martin, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodman, of New York, arrived at Whitehall on Saturday; and returning for their usual all-season visit are Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Tim, who will again occupy the famous "Flagler suite."

Whitehall's distinguished clientele this season will include Gen. and Mrs. Quincy A. Gillmore and their popular daughter, Mrs. R. Norris Williams, II, also Mr. and Mrs. William F. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Kessler, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoots, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Burrow, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Maltby, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. McQuestion, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noment.

Dr. Seth Gregory will again be a season guest at Whitehall. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lipper will return for their usual visit, also Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Corcoran, of Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker, of Pebble Beach, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., have reserved one of the lake-front suites at Whitehall. They will return from Paris the latter part of the month on the Bremen.

Other regular Whitehall guests are Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler, John J. Raskob, and the Hon. Grover Whalen and Mrs. Whalen.

The opening of the Cocoanut Grove of the Royal Poinciana is a high spot in the Palm Beach season and is always attended by a throng of colonists both young and old. This year the grove is particularly attractive for the palms that surround it are green and luxuriant and the floor has been groomed until it is polished like a mirror, adding zest to the flying feet of the dancers. Jimmy Lanin, who conducts the Howard Lanin Orchestra for dancing in the grove, searched the entire repertoire of modern dance music to find the peppiest and most provocative rhythms for the opening day, and thereafter every afternoon at 5, with the exception of Sunday, the Cocoanut Grove will be a center of life and merriment for the hotel and cottage colony.

The old guard of Poinciana guests returns as unfailingly as the swallows to the warmth and pleasure of southern climes. Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Darnell, of the Holmhurst, Atlantic City, have arrived for their fifteenth season; and other "old-timers" are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carr, of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Elizabeth Schott, of New York City; Mrs. William Powers, also of New York, who has been coming here "many, many years" and to whom Palm Beach means the Poinciana. Mr. and Mrs. William Seyfert, of Reading, Pa., and Mrs. Denna Ogden, of Greensburg, Pa., are the vanguard of guests from the Quaker State. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Goerke, of Newark, N. J., who have been Breakers guests in former years, have arrived at the Poinciana accompanied by Mrs. L. Linton, of Montclair, N. J. As for the Old Guard of Palm Beach Golfers, it is nobly represented by Mr. George Wright, of Boston, "father of American golf," who is responsible for the first golf course in the land of the free, and by Gen. J. Ernest Smith, of Wilmington, Del., who was one of the founders and a member of the first governing board of the Old Guard, and whose erect carriage testifies to the tonic properties of the Scottish game. Mr. Valentine Braun, of Newark, N. J., is a noted golfer who returns every season to the Poinciana, and Mr. H. J. Horner, of New York, plays every day over the Palm Beach Golf Club course.

Members of two West Indies cruises spent an unforgettable day in the resort last week, coming up from their steamers, the Cunarder Caledonia, at Port Everglades, and the Eastern Steamship Company's S. S. Evangeline at Miami, where they were docked on the return trip to New York after a cruise among the romantic islands of the Spanish main. A visit to the Poinciana-Breakers beach, luncheon at the Royal Poinciana and wheel-chair rides to the various points of interest occupied an eventful day before they boarded their special F. E. C. trains back to the steamers. These cruises will be run every two weeks during the winter and the day at Palm Beach is one of the most enjoyable of the entire cruise.

Mrs. William W. Forrester, of Chicago, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. C. H. Randle, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Guy D. Randle, arrived at the Breakers last week to spend the winter months. Mr. Forrester is expected from Chicgo the latter part of this week to join his family. The Forresters have been prominently identified with the Palm Beach colony for years, having visited consecutively for the past 23 seasons and they have a wide circle of friends in the resort. They are members of the Everglades Club and the Old Guard Society. Mrs. Forrester's brother, Mr. Hanson F. Randle, has been down for several weeks at his Seminole Avenue villa.

A SPANISH STREET IN AMERICA

STREET in Spain transported to America," was what one visitor called it, and he had the air of a man much travelled. Many others who have wandered through those narrow ways, known as Via Mizner and Via Parigi, either for curiosity's sake or for relief from the hectic world, have said the same.

There is nothing quite like it anywhere else at the island resort. Opening from Worth Avenue, Via Mizner leads straightway to an open court known as the East patio, typical of old Spain, pauses for a moment and then continues on, twisting a bit, to the point of egress on Peruvian Avenue.

Via Parigi, in much the same temperament, runs parallel with entrance and exit on the same streets as Via Mizner. Both have attractive shops, sequestered here and there, the entrances jutting out at odd angles and making each an interesting exploration, for one never knows after looking through one bon marche, just what will be encountered in the next. However, it is always safe to say that anyone in search of the unusual, in gifts, apparel, furniture, antiques or even a continental restaurant, will surely find it in Via Mizner or Via Parigi.

Concerning the attractiveness and beauty of the two ways, Via Mizner must be given preference, for it is here that one may see nature and man combining to produce the beautiful in that superb manifestation of the truly Spanish, the patio. There are two patios, the one on the right being the open courtyard or public patio and the one on the left, the private patio or little plaza usually for the use of the owner, but now open to visitors.

Buildings of varied heights are clustered together, the center making the patios, all achieving a marked Spanish atmosphere. On the overhanging balconies above are rows of potted plants suspended from the iron grille work and railings or placed along the top of the walls, just as they are in the gardens of Generalife or the Alhambra.

In the courtyard, water from a wall fountain tinkles merrily from a fountain head of the sixteenth century, and overshadowing it is a large unusual tree known as the ponderous fig, very rare even here. Crotons, ferns and other types of tropical foliage, all potted, form a colorful background, while bougainvillea and lantana clamber over the walls and cover the grilled railings and awning braces, continuing over onto the tile roof.

In other places it would appear a bit garish, but here in south Florida the ever-green foliage with its colorful blooms, and the bright and shining climate, absorb it all.

Many are struck by the naturalness of the entire scene, as though it had existed for centuries, save for the addition of modern improvements, and seek a satisfactory explanation. They find it in the following story:

In 1923, Addison Mizner, dean of Palm Beach architects and craftsman extraordinary, who introduced the Mediterranean architecture to Palm Beach, decided that he would build a residence that would be suitable to live in and that he might also call home as well. So he proceeded, and Via Mizner is the result.

In Spain, where he spent the greater part of his youth, he found that from the largest city to the smallest village or country house, the architectural scheme was for the primary purpose of protection. This country, which has been the scene of more invasions and conflicts than any other country of its size, was really one of defense. First, it was the foreign foe, then the marauding bands led by feudal lords.

Cities and villages were a cluster of buildings with high walls on the exterior and groups of little patios within, with a large central patio or plaza to which all the narrow roads led and where the peasants came to draw water and to hold their festivals. The highest buildings in the town were the churches and residence of the nobleza, or alcaide, the latter lofty in structure and with a lookout at the very top to view the approach of any foe. Entrances to the town had large gates which were closed when attack warranted it.

On a much smaller scale but in accurate detail, this is what we have in Via Mizner and Via Parigi. The large, or East courtyard, in Via Mizner is the plaza, with its fountain, open to all the inhabitants of the little settlement. No. 3 Via Mizner is the entrance to the owner's home and also to the little plaza, one may observe the huge San Juan doors, typical little plaza or private patio of the residencia. Entering the of all Spanish entrances, imported from Spain, with a wicket or small door for pedestrians. Within the little plaza are replicas of the Generalife pots, lion's mouth pots from Granada, tinijas or wine jars, and original fountain heads and other ornaments, giving it a truly Spanish tone.

What are now shops in the two ways were quarters for the nobleman's soldiers, guards, and stables in the old country. Above that, on the next landing, were the servants' quarters; here, apartments and offices. On the premier floor are the quarters for the owner and his guests. Above this, towering over all, is the Miradore, which Mr. Mizner uses for his study, a replica of the Spanish town watch tower.

The walls of the miradore are replaced by windows, giving exactly what the name implies, a view, which is undoubtedly one of the finest of the island resort. One of the most lasting impressions to carry away after a view from this tower is that of the uneven tile roofs below. Sun and rain, handled through the expert hand of nature, has blended the red color of the roof with that of the natural growth of moss and lichens until we have a mass of light and shade, with the dull tint of red beneath. The bright sun shining on it brings out the warmth of the colors and produces an effect never to be forgotten.

This little settlement, or village, if we may take the liberty to term it that, was not planned as a unit when first started. A portion of the residence and offices was built first. As the section grew, more shops and apartments were added. When the ground floor was taken up, other stories were built, accounting for the arches overhead, allowing passage in Via Mizner and Via Parigi but also supporting the quarters above. Shops were even built to suit the tenant's needs. As in the old country, when progress demanded it, more structures were added, each unit in accordance with changing ideas and customs. Customs and ideas changed slowly in Spain and on the continent but they change very rapidly in this country; almost as though a magician's wand had been waved. We may find this true by looking into our fashion books and catalogues on automobiles and house fixtures. Mantillas and open plumbing are still the style in Spain, but ostrich feathers and carriages are no longer in Palm Beach.

So the evolution of the Mizner village in Palm Beach is entirely congruous with that of old Spain, with the extra advantage of all modern improvements and ease of access.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

AN INTERESTING visitor who arrived last week at the home of Mayor and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., was Rev. Henry V. B. Darlington, rector of the Church of Heavenly Rest and Chapel of Beloved Disciple in New York, accompanied by Mrs. Darlington. Dr. Darlington is one of the most forceful orators in metropolitan ecclesiastical circles, and is greatly beloved by his parishoners. His father was Bishop James Henry Darlington. During the war he was assigned chaplain of the Coast Defense, East New York, and was chaplain of the 50th C. A. C., First American Army, A. E. F., France. Other posts he has held include those of being honorary chaplain of Squadron A., chaplain of the Old Guard of New York and chaplain of the New York Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. Dr. and Mrs. Darlington were feted at luncheons and dinner given by Mayor and Mrs. Shepard at Casa del Pastor, their home on Dunbar Road.

Interesting arrivals during the past fortnight were Mr. and Mrs. M. Dorland Doyle, who came down from New York to be with her father Mr. Charles A. Munn, and sisters, the Misses Mary and Frances Drexel Munn, at Casa Amado on the ocean front. Mrs. Baldwin Browne is also a member of the house party. The Doyles are popular members of the younger set here, and have been frequently entertained since their return.

The marriage of the former Miss Pauline Munn, daughter of Mrs. M. Paul Munn, of Philadelphia and Paris, to Mr. Doyle was one of the notable events of the summer season in France.

In accordance with the European custom, a civil ceremony preceded the religious ceremony which attracted a brilliant gathering of international society. The marriage at Villa Isolata, the home of the bride's father at Eze-Sur-Mer, was followed by a large reception at the villa of Mrs. Munn, La Primavera, at St. Jean, Cap Ferrat of Alps Maritime.

The Misses Mary and Frances Drexel Munn were maids of honor and the other attendants were Mrs. F. Homer Smith and Miss Chico Kilvert, daughter of Mrs. B. Cory Kilvert.

James H. R. Cromwell, son of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, was best man for Mr. Doyle and the ushers were Charles A. Munn, Jr., brother of the bride; William Rhineland Stewart, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr.; Joseph Harriman, Homer Smith and Sydney J. Smith.

The late Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer sponsored the bride's debut in Philadelphia and Paris in 1927.

With a varied program of entertainment rapidly unfolding for the winter visitor, indications are that the mid-season will be quite as interesting as any in the past. One of the highlights of the past week was the annual series of concerts given by the New York String Quartet. The first was held at Mirador, the home of Mrs. William Seward Webb, on Dunbar Road. Tea was served prior to the recital.

Later in the week, La Fontana, the Ocean Boulevard home of Mr. and Mrs. George Luke Mesker, was the scene of a musicale and tea which was attended by a brilliant assemblage of cottage residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman invited a large number of friends to attend a buffet supper at Casa Mia, their Sunset Avenue home, at which the quartet gave a program that was enthusiastically received.

* * * *

A recent dinner party that assembled an interesting group of the resort's prominent members, was that given by Mr. Edward Lowber Welsh at his home on South Lake Trail, in honor of Maj. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, and Dr. and Mrs. E. Terry Smith, of Hartford, Conn., who spent a few days visiting Major and Mrs. Hubbard. In addition to the honor guests, those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Mr. and Mrs. George C. White, Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Bouton Cannon; Mrs. William Seward Webb, Mr. William Henry Harrison and Mr. Charles Cushing.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, who spent several days shooting at Okeetee, their plantation in South Carolina, have returned to Heamaw, their home on North Palm Beach Avenue. Their daughter, Miss Barbara Phipps, and her house guest, Miss Virginia Thaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw III, have gone north after making a fortnight's visit here, but will return later in the season.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Simon, who were here earlier in the season, have returned from New York, where they went for the holidays, and are occupying Villa Bleu, Mrs. A. Howes Torrey's attractive blue and white residence facing the sea. Mr. and Mrs. Simon have a wide circle of friends in the colony, having wintered here many seasons, sometimes staying at the Breakers, and during one winter occupying the Seger house.

* * * *

Mrs. George G. DeWitt entertained at luncheon at Kee-waydin, having as her guests Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Mr. and Mrs. George C. White, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Waterman and their house guest, Mrs. Frank Thayer.

Mr. John Sanford and his daughter, Miss Sarah Jane Sanford, gave a luncheon at Villa Marina, where they have as their house guest, Countess Edith di Zoppola. Mr. Stephen (Laddie) Sanford, who was here earlier in the year, has departed for Los Angeles, Calif. Among those who attended the recent luncheon party were Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Maj. and Mrs. John C. O. Marriott, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche and their house guest, Mrs. Joshua Cosden.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingston Clarkson, of New York, are visiting Mrs. Dodge Sloane at Villa Marina on South Ocean Boulevard.

Mrs. Peyton J. Van Rensselaer, of New York and Wayne, Pa., has returned to Casa Rosado del Lago, her attractive villa facing Lake Worth. Mrs. Van Rensselaer, the former Miss Lilian Washburn Newlin, has as her house guests, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ver Planck Newlin, and sister, Miss Edith C. Newlin.

* * * *

An interesting small affair of the past two weeks was a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. John Cary Spring at Wewoka cottage. Guests included the members of their house party, Mrs. Mary Montgomery Brackett; the Hon. Huntley Spaulding, former governor of New Hampshire; Mr. P. W. Whittemore, who is Mr. Spring's brother-in-law; and also the Rt. Rev. Nathaniel Seymour Thomas and Mrs. Thomas with their house guest, Mrs. William Guy Noll; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sweatt.

* * * *

Spending their first season with the cottage group of residents, although well known in the resort which they have visited for several seasons as Breakers guests, are Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Windsor, Jr., of Chicago, who are occupying the Gail G. Grant villa on El Brillo Way, near the lake. Their two sons, Henry H. Windsor, 3d, and William Todhunter Windsor, are also here. Mrs. Henry H. Windsor, Sr., is at the Breakers for the season. The younger Mrs. Windsor, famous in the operatic world as Louise Hunter, is expecting her mother, Mrs. Ella Hunter, of Middleton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. John Eliot Warner, of Winnetka, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherman, of Evanston, Ill., to join the house party. Mrs. Sherman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, of Chicago, and a niece of former Ambassador Charles G. Dawes.

Approach of the mid-season finds more and more of the handsome villas being opened as northerners come down for their annual sojourn in the land of sunshine. Among members of the recent fortnight's influx were Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Stehli, of New York and Locust Valley, L. I. Their home, Villa Bellaria, is the scene of interesting entertainments during the winter, as the Stehls have a wide circle of friends in the resort. They belong to the Bath and Tennis and Everglades Clubs.

Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, of Vita Serena, who have been entertaining Mr. Milton W. Holden, will have as their house guest next month, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst.

* * * *

The Misses Carolyn M. Stevens and Julia L. White, of New York, are spending the season with their aunt, Mrs. Willey Lyon Kingsley, at La Billucia on the ocean front.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan P. Kirby, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., have added to the interest of resort life by opening their handsome villa on the ocean front at Via Del Mar, which they call Casa Soleada. The Kirbys summered at Glen Summit Springs, Mountain Top, Pa. Allan P. Kirby, Jr., is an addition to the family this year. His sisters and brother, Grace Jessie, Ann Sutherland and Fred M. Kirby, 2nd, are also here. Mr. and Mrs. Kirby are members of the Everglades, Gulfstream Golf and Boca Raton Clubs.

* * * *

Capt. John Wanamaker, who is spending the season at Miami, came up on his speed boat, the "Obie," last week, to visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn, at Louwana.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Van Alen, of Roslyn, L. I., are visiting his mother, Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen, at Shingle Shack on Brazilian Avenue.

MIAMI BEACH

MIAMI BEACH'S annual polo season is on, and from now until April 1, a regular schedule of three games weekly—on Tuesdays, Thursday and Saturdays—will be maintained. More than 30 players are here to compete in the games this season. Among the veterans here, J. C. Andrew, of Lafayette, Ind., is making his twelfth start. Fred Tejan, the Portchester, N. Y., rider, is another veteran in Miami, and will be a prominent figure in the winter's competition. Among the newcomers are Fred Hoover, Portchester, N. Y.; Cyril Carr, Rumson, N. J.; and Walter Schiffer, Mount Kisco, N. Y. This trio is playing their first season here, but are rated high among the younger players of the country. Carr, with a three-goal rating, returns to Miami for his first visit in 11 years. Stanley Taylor and William McMath, both of Portchester, are starting their second season of play in this sector. Ed Romfh, a local rider, is beginning his third season of play here. Other riders who will compete in the games here include: Fred Post, William Post, III, Williston, N. Y.; Robert H. Hassler, Aiken, S. C.; John Hertz, Robert S. Bullock, Cary, Ill.; Charles Glore, Earl Reynolds, Chicago; Chester Kroger, Cincinnati; Capt. Buster Wharton, Cecil Childers, Arlington, Texas; J. H. Whitney, Meadowbrook, L. I.; Harry Reid, Jr., Scarsdale, N. Y.; Robert B. Law, Syosset, L. I.; Theodore Law, Greenwich, N. Y.; John Hanes, Portchester, N. Y.; A. C. It's sunshine time for Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Dane, Jr., honeymooning at the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club, Miami Beach. Their marriage was a social event of January 9 at Brookline, Mass. The bride is the former Miss Barbara Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sohler Welch of Boston.

The Key Largo Anglers Club, unit of the Florida Year-Round Clubs, noted fishing club in the midst of the Florida keys, was the scene of the Century Club's annual outing. The Century Club is a leading social organization for men and women of the Miami and Coral Gables area. The thrill of fishing in deep waters abounding with such game fish as marlin, tarpon, sailfish, barracuda, dolphin, wahoo and amberjack, made the all-day affair one of the most pleasurable in the history of the Century Club. Guests assembled on yachts and by boat and automobile. "The Vagabond," an express cruiser operated by the Florida Year-Round Clubs between the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club and the Key Largo Anglers Club, transported a large group. Others went in aerocars recently placed in service by the Year-Round Club between Key Largo, Coral Gables and Miami Beach. An old-fashioned fish fry at noon was the feature event of the day.

Mrs. Hadwin C. Barney, of Minneapolis, grand president of Kappa Kappa Gamma national sorority, was guest of honor at a luncheon party given Wednesday at the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club, Miami Beach, by local members of the sorority. Other visiting members in the party included Miss Clara O. Pierce, grand executive secretary; Miss Martha Hatfield, Miss Mary Edelen and Mrs. Jack Meeks, all of Columbus, Ohio.

MIAMI

HE picturesque links of the Miami Biltmore Country Club have been colorful with the smart outfits worn by many feminine players during the past week. Golf apparently is replacing bridge in the affections of a considerable portion of feminine society here and this interest gains impetus from the Miami Biltmore Women's Championship tournament, now in progress. Mrs. Paul Leviton, of London, England, is on the Miami Biltmore course almost daily and is always a conspicuous figure because of her smart outfits. Playing with Mr. Leviton the other morning, she wore one of the chic new seersucker frocks in blue and white. A small white felt hat completed the outfit.

Playing with Commander Cleland Davis this week, Mrs. Floyd Y. Keeler, of New Haven, Conn., wore a tailored suit in rough white silk with tam and accessories in sailor blue.

Another interesting outfit was that of Mrs. William Gramley, of Miami, who wore a knitted suit of tile red, with white wool beret. Mrs. Gramley played with Mrs. W. H. Sanborn, also of Miami.

Mrs. Stephen B. Gibbs, of Miami, played the Miami Biltmore course the other morning clad in a smart outfit of white and king's blue jersey. The white overblouse was closed with the new silver clasps and the king's blue skirt was smartly tailored. Her beret matched the blouse.

The fortnightly Scotch foursomes inaugurated at the club shortly after New Year's have been proving unusually popular and feminine golfers have been well represented in the list of entries.

Among prominent members of the other sex playing the Miami Biltmore course was T. Phillips Perkins, former British amateur champion, who had high praise for it, declaring it one of the sportiest he has played in America. Gus Novotny, former University of Illinois athletic star, also has been frequently on the links this season.

E. A. Moore, of New York, spent several days here on his way to Honolulu to play the 36-hole Biltmore lay-out. Mr. Moore has been spending his winters here for several years and is well known in the resort colony.

Seeking the fabulous Fountain of Youth whose miraculous waters should yield a perpetual springtide of life, Ponce de Leon, on an Easter morning long ago, discovered the magic peninsular of Florida; and then it was that valorous conquistadors followed the glittering trail of the West Indies and linked this new land of tropical luxuriance and riotous color with the Spanish Main.

Now, four hundred and nineteen years later, millions have flocked to the southern tip of this tropical paradise to find everlasting spring and to recapture the spirit and health of youth, to reap the benefits of a rejuvenating and curative sun. And this year the visitors to Miami have the added advantage of making convenient cruises to the exotic West Indies, of touring the Spanish Main like conquistadors of old.

Until this year it has been hardly feasible for the winter visitor here to extend his trip to the West Indies and then return to Miami. Now, however, for the first time in travel history, the American railroads are selling West Indies cruise tickets from interior points in the south and west, with liberal stop-over privileges in Miami. The railroads and the eastern steamship lines are co-operating in the plan.

Here at Miami, before embarking on a tour of the West Indies, one first comes in contact with that glamorous chapter of conquest in American history. Here can be found the grim remains of old Spanish fortresses and fortifications that played important parts in the opening up of this paradise of sunlight sought by the Spanish dons, the English privateers and the French.

Then, never leaving the balm of sunlight that floods the Spanish main all the way from the lesser isles to Florida, one visits Nassau, in the Bahamas group; Kingston, on the island of Jamaica, where Capt. Henry Morgan retired when his loot had grown large enough to make him wealthy and respectable; Havana, the Paris of the Western hemisphere, the pleasure city that glitters with casinos, night life, horse-racing, jai-alai, and Spanish color.

PALM BEACH CLUB ACTIVITIES

THE COLONY CLUB in the Beaux Arts Gardens opened last week, amidst scenes of brilliance surpassing any of former years, with a dinner dance, followed by supper, which taxed to capacity the grounds of the club, and the east loggia and water-gardens were utilized for the over-flow. Mr. Arthur C. Hand, president of the club, greeted his guests for the fourth successive season, and Ernie Holst and his Colony Club Orchestra again furnished their incomparable music for dancing. The scene which greeted guests on the arrival was one of rarest beauty. The ingenious lighting effects transformed stately palms into slender shafts of gold and jade, purple and orange and ebony, while beneath the waving fronds sparkled myriads of vari-colored lights.

In the water gardens the cascade splashed merrily while the pools reflected the brilliance of the scene. Over all the waxing moon spilt its silver glory, to make the ensemble a picture of intoxicating beauty.

Ernie Holst and his Colony Club Orchestra, augmented considerably over last season, rendered a program of dance music generally conceded to be the finest of Mr. Holst's career. Arthur Brown, tenor, who has headed the list of Colony Club entertainers for several seasons, renewed his popularity with his rendition of "You're My Everything" and "Oo, That Kiss," from "The Laugh Parade" and "Of Thee I Sing" from the show of the same name. His numbers were encored repeatedly.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, of Villa Oheka on North Ocean Boulevard, were among the many hosts at the opening dinner. Included among their guests were Prince and Princess Vasili, Maj. and Mrs. John C. O. Marriott, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wolff Kahn.

In Charles A. Munn's party were Mr. and Mrs. M. Dorland Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin Brown, Miss Sarah Jane Sanford, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Noel Munn and Joseph Hergesheimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams' party of six included Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, Miss Louise M. Iselin and Thomas Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. L. Rutherford included among their guests Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Ames, of Boston, and Commander Joseph Lynch, U. S. N.

Among the guests of Mrs. William Woods Plankinton were Miss Elsie Plankinton, Thomas Haskins and Lawrence P. Tower.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche were noted with Mrs. Joshua Cosden and Douglas Paige. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Major had a party of four. Other smaller parties included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thomas, Mrs. Henry Dearborn, Mrs. Walter A. Giblin and C. D. Wagstaff.

Mrs. William W. Forrester, of Chicago and the Breakers, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kolb, Mrs. Guy Randle, Mrs. Phyllis Brooks, Mr. James Ellison, Mr. James Sheehan and Mr. Hanson F. Randle.

Others noted among hosts or guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein, who had a party of nine; A. S. Thacher with a party of four; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Woodworth, Mrs. Samuel Cole, Martin Osborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith were with Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hall. In Miss Doris Hofheimer's party were Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn, Mrs. Benjamin Hopkins and George Lynn.

In Mrs. Joseph Moran's party were Mrs. Dorothy Kimball Wallace, Mrs. Catherine M. Legget, Arthur Yates, Capt. Byron Tate, Edward Lavin and others.

Interest is steadily increasing in the Everglades Club duplicate contract bridge tournament which is being conducted by Mr. Lewis M. Ansley. Members of the club and their friends participating in this event, which holds a weekly session on Saturday afternoons, include Mrs. James H. Kennedy, Mrs. Frederick Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hall, Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. Nathan D. Bill, Miss Margaret Crowley, Mrs. Oscar G. Davies, Mrs. Charles M. Hayes, Mrs. Charles Herendeen, Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Mrs. Avy B. Smith, Mrs. John J. White, Judge Allan B. Endicott and Mrs. Endicott.

The Thursday night dinner dances at the Everglades Club are attracting important gatherings as the season advances, and on moonlight nights a lovelier spot than the Orange Gardens is difficult to imagine. Mrs. E. Gray Pendleton of Reverie entertained ten guests there during the past week.

* * * *

Mayor and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., who have as their guests at Casa del Pastor on Dunbar Road, the Rev. Henry V. B. Darlington and Mrs. Darlington, were hosts at tea in the Orange Gardens of the Everglades Club lately.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of Morristown, N. J., who registered at Whitehall prior to opening their new home on El Bravo Way, were among prominent resort residents noted dining in the Everglades Club recently.

* * * *

Sanctioned by notable members of the winter colony, the dancing classes conducted by Miss Bonnie May Murray of Southampton and the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, have begun for the third season at the Everglades Club. Later in the season, the annual Costume Party for children in the classes will be held. Among patronesses are Mrs. Mary Duke Biddle, Mrs. Reginald Boardman, Mrs. Clifford Vail Brokaw, Mrs. Thomas L. Chadbourne, Mrs. Thomas R. Cowell, Mrs. William K. Dick, Mrs. Jessie W. Donahue, Mrs. Herbert Farrell, Mrs. G. Horton Glover, Mrs. Herbert C. Greer, Mrs. Richard B. W. Hall, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, Mrs. Allan Price Kirby, Mrs. Gurnee Munn, Mrs. Orson Munn, Mrs. William J. McAneeny, Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Mrs. Evalyn McLean, Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mrs. Ogden Reid, Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, Mrs. Francis A. Shaughnessy, Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mrs. Adam G. Thomson, Mrs. Loring Q. White and Mrs. Horace H. Work.

Mrs. Frank Duff Frazier, of South Ocean Boulevard, gave a tea in the Orange Gardens of the Everglades Club last week for Mrs. Mrs. R. D. Frazier, of Port Washington.

Luncheon parties at the Seminole Club continue to be among the most popular diversions of Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, of New York, who are wintering at the New Palm Beach hotel, were among those who motored to the club last week with guests.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Stehli, of New York, who recently returned to Villa Bellaria on Via Bellaria, gave a luncheon at the Seminole Golf Club last week, having among their guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West, of Villa Tramonto in Vita Serena.

* * * *

Mr. Charles A. Munn, of Casa Amado, entertained at luncheon at the Seminole Golf Club for members of his house party, Mr. and Mrs. M. Dorland Doyle, the Misses Mary and Frances Drexel Munn, Mrs. Baldwin Browne and Mr. Noel Munn.

A unique cause provided the raison d'être for an interesting affair of the past week which was attended by representative group of cottage colonists and hotel guests. The function was a Sportsmen's ball given at the Anglers and Sports Club, and it was for the benefit of a fund to prevent illegal netting of fish in Lake Worth. Mrs. John Charles Thomas, daughter of Mrs. George A. Dobyne of Casa Beata, sponsored the affair, and contributed the music. Mr. Roger Bacon, chairman of the board of governors, donated the use of the clubhouse. Mrs. Thomas gave a buffet supper at home for a large number of her friends who later attended the party. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Work, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sweatt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alleton Cushman, Mr. Theodore C. Hollander and his house guests, Mrs. Zenas

Sears, Mrs. Wilkie B. Hollander and Mrs. Clarke Hollander, and Mr. and Mrs. Dobyne.

Every amusement center, club, hotel and restaurant is now in complete readiness for the demands of a season gradually approaching the height of its activity. One of the inaugurations of the past fortnight was the opening of the restaurant at the Bath and Tennis Club which is being conducted this year by George Lamaze. This club is one of the most exclusive meeting places in the resort, and it is here that members come during the morning hours, not only to swim in the sapphire waters of the pool and sea, and to play on the superb tennis courts at the west side of the club house, but also to enjoy the many other physical exercises for which facilities are provided here. Handball courts, a boxing ring, and even a miniature golf course offer diversion as well as benefit to visitors. This year there are 124 gaily painted cabanas dotting the sands and beneath the curving veranda of the clubhouse is a sandwich bar in bright colors where light refreshments are served. More formal lunching is enjoyed on the porch above, and in the main dining room where a wide vista of the sea adds to the charm of the scene.

Only a few dining places in this country have a tradition, a real air about them, but of all the smart rendezvous in Palm Beach, the longest established and the one with a je ne sais quoi feeling about it, is the Beach Club, where the Green and White Restaurant for luncheon and tea, and the Ivory Room at dinner time, is presided over by Jean Braca.

Jean, who so ably manages more than a hundred bakers, cooks, pastry cooks, waiters, and all the experienced helpers who are needed to see that culinary perfection is achieved, has been coming to the Beach Club for the past 16 years. He has seen it grow from a small and intimate club to the brilliant meeting place it was during the boom days, and now, to the more reserved, more conservative perhaps, but still the favorite restaurant of the resort.

GOLF AND TENNIS

WITH qualifying play under way in the annual Lake Worth tournament on the Palm Beach Golf Club course, which will end Friday of this week, it may be said that the real golf season has begun. Many well known players are busy lowering their score for the round in hopes of taking one of the beautiful prizes offered in the tournament, the first of the winter season at Palm Beach. Among the many players frequenting the Palm Beach Golf Club the past week has been a number of old time members who have returned for another season.

Mr. William M. Wardsworth, of New York, has arrived and made his first visit to the club the other day. He will soon be engaged in daily play over the 18 holes. Mr. William Seyfert, of Reading, Pa., is another veteran of many seasons who makes a daily round. Mr. Ballentine Braun, of Newark, N. J., arrived at the Poinciana for the opening and expects to try out the re-vamped course within the next day or two. Other veterans who may be seen teeing off frequently are Mr. C. A. Klotz and Mr. H. S. Rauh.

Grant and Mr. Michael Sholtz, Mr. William Henry Harrison, Mr. Charles Cady, Mr. Bud Goodwin, Mrs. Nettie Livermore and many others.

PALM BEACH COUNTRY CLUB

The first tournament play of the season at the Palm Beach Country Club will be the famous annual Artists and Writers tournament, to be held from February 5 to 10. The entire tournament will be played here this year and is expected to attract many devotees of the brush and pen as well as a large gallery seeking a glimpse of these world-famous personages.

Mr. E. J. Stehli, of New York, who is down for the season, registered and Mr. Edwin Goodman and Mr. H. S.

Rauh, both of New York, registered for a month's play.

Others noted on the course were Mr. Otto Kahn, Mr. J. L. Tillman, Mr. James Reeves, Mr. Henry Seligman, Mr. C. E. Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miller, Mr. Arthur Hammerstein, Mr. R. A. Kennedy, Mr. G. Hart, Mr. M. J. Tennes, Mr. Stuyvesant LeRoy, Mr. B. B. McCormick, Mr. Harry Rosenfeld, Mr. H. Ehrentraut, Mrs. George Kerr, Mr. A. H. Tillman, and others.

EVERGLADES GOLF CLUB

Members and their guests playing golf on the Everglades Club course recently included Mr. Frederick Ward and Mr. Walter C. Powers, Mr. Nathan D. Bill and Dr. Edmund L. Dow, Mr. Larry Tower and Mr. Thomas O. Haskins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kelly, Jr., Mr. Clifford V. Brokaw and Mr. J. Mrs. J. S. Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Phipps and Mr. George Agutter played an interesting doubles set the other morning. Mr. Armand Deutsch, of Whitehall, participated in a doubles set with Mr. Rudy Noble, Mr. Luther Wait and Mr. George Agutter. Mrs. Edith Cheek is also frequently noted on the court. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sholtz had an interesting set recently.

SAILFISH CLUB FISHING CONTEST

HE annual fishing contest of the Sailfish Club of Florida is now under way. Officers of the Sailfish Club gave out for publication the complete list of trophies and their classification and the entire group pictured here, one of the most attractive ever offered, is on display in the north dining lounge of the Breakers Hotel. The contest ends March 15, with the awarding of trophies in the clubrooms above the Breakers-Poinciana Casino, which is frequently the scene of popular tea dances for members and their guests.

Following is the list of trophies with classification and rules for the contest:

Light Tackle Class—Sailfish, length, President's and Board of Governors' Trophy, large sterling silver fish platter; weight, E. R. Bradley Trophy, sterling silver cup; length, sterling coffee set and tray (4 pieces); weight, pen set; length, sterling shaker (enamel sailfish); weight, sterling silver water pitcher; length, sterling flash; weight, sterling centerpiece.

Rules of fishing contest 1931—senior:

1. All members in good standing are eligible for contest as well as the immediate families of such members who are of age, but not more than two senior trophies may be won by any family.

2. No member, or family of member, is eligible for more than one trophy for the same kind of fish.

3. All fish must be hooked by member and brought to gaff without assistance and under proper tackle regulations. Hand lining prohibited; and a broken rod before gaffing disqualifies the catch.

4. A fish caught on light tackle may be entered in either heavy or light tackle class, but contestant must specify the class he desires when the entry blank is signed.

5. All entries must be weighed or measured by the club's dock master not later than noon the second day after fish is caught and each contestant must sign entry blank furnished at the time.

6. Contest to be open from January 1 to March 15. Junior entries will be eligible after December 15.

7. Light tackle shall consist of a line not exceeding 12 threads and rod with tip not heavier than 16 ounces.

8. Fishing boundaries for contest shall be as follows: South to Hillsboro Light and North to Jupiter Light.

9. The final award of the trophies shall rest with the fish committee, as well as all decisions or any questions raised during the contest.

10. No contestant may withdraw an entry already made.

11. No member of this club may enter the same fish in any other contest.

Junior Prizes—A contest for juniors, exclusively, will be open to members' sons and daughters who are not of age. In this contest the regular rules will govern, except in respect to rules 2 and 3.

The Brainard Lemon Collection

Louisville, Kentucky

Corner cabinet of pure Adam type of very fine mahogany, made in England circa 1780. An outstanding example of the fine cabinet making and skillful designing of the mid-Georgian era.

"It is fortunate for those with interest in antique works of art that they can obtain fine old pieces so cheaply now."

—Charles Messer Stow.

CORAL GABLES, MIAMI, FLORIDA

N. B. T. Roney
 PRESIDENT

London Office: Savoy Hotel. Paris Office: 3 Rue Auber

Miami Biltmore Country Club
adjoining the Hotel

Under new ownership and new policies . . with its many improvements . . the special arrangements thru new affiliations for guests' golfing, fishing, tennis, bathing and other sports, the Biltmore will be a colorful center of the southern resort season. Although the Biltmore is the world's most sumptuous resort hotel, built without regard for cost during the "peak" season of all Florida's history, its accommodations are now available at popular rates . . American and European plan.

RONNEY PLAZA hotel

MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA

Wm. G. McMeekin, Managing Director

Open from Thanksgiving Day

Palm Gardens

Innovations this year include reductions in room rates and a la carte dining service . . . club breakfasts at sixty cents to a dollar and the Cabana Club Luncheon at a dollar fifty, without sacrificing in the least the traditional European service and niceties of America's finest ocean-front hotel. Pool and surf bathing, without extra charge, and all the pleasures of the Roney Plaza's palm gardens, promenades and beach are privileges of every guest.

MORNING becomes ELECTRIC

*if you take JITTERS
the night before!*

FOR Jitters strikes at the root of morning-after ills. Jitters absorbs and expels the poisons that make the hang-over hang. A cleared head, settled stomach and calmed nerves are Jitters' rewards.

Jitters is not a drug—nor a laxative. Jitters is a product of Nature, refined by science into a smooth powder containing millions of harmless little sponges which mop up toxic poisons and expel them. Thus Jitters causes no reaction—has no bad after-effects.

Beautiful Hair

LEND A CHARM and DISTINCTION not obtainable in any other way. There is no better evidence of culture and refinement. Lucky Tiger frees your scalp of dandruff, overcomes sluggish blood circulation, and gives to the hair a new life and lustre.

AFTER SEA BATHING

Use Lucky Tiger Freely!

THERE'S where you will get your real thrill. Lucky Tiger is marvelous for the hair and scalp. It means more life and more energy. Being a germicide, it goes to the seat of scalp trouble. Those miserable itchings are replaced with tingles as pleasing as the beautiful moonlight and the sparkles of the stars.

LUCKY TIGER

Lucky Tiger has proven its merit over nearly two score years. It is used by millions. It easily has the largest distribution of any similar preparation in the world. Exhaustive bacteriological tests have proven both the safety and germicidal efficiency of Lucky Tiger.

EXPAND YOUR FLORIDA VACATION WITH A 2-DAY TRIP ABROAD

See all the West Indies in two days—ride in luxurious 20 and 40 passenger, radio-equipped skyliners with exceeding comfort at 117 miles an hour.

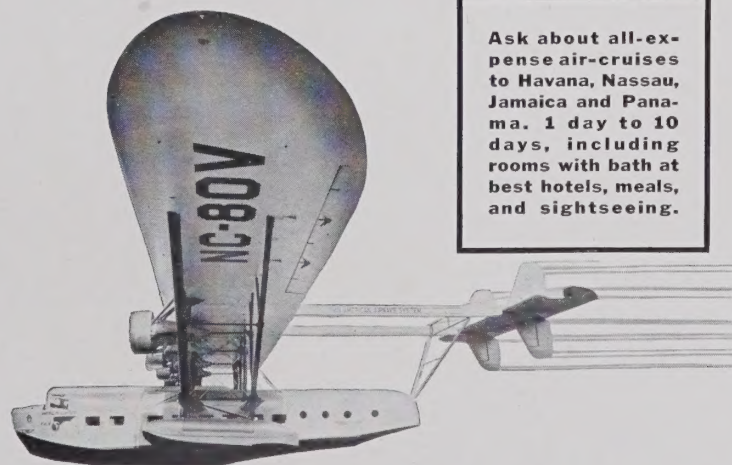

MAKE this the greatest winter trip you ever had. Have real stories to tell the folks back home, the men at the club, about the glorious Spanish Main where pirates used to roam. See all the West Indies in two days since P. A. A. added wings and bullet-speed to the comfort of modern transportation. Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Porto Rico, Virgin Islands, Antigua, Santa Lucia, and Port of Spain, Trinidad. What a trip! And what a way to make it!

New reduced round trip fares, too. Special all-expense cruises to Havana, Nassau, Jamaica and Panama, including rooms with bath at best hotels, meals, and sightseeing.

Plenty of other places to go, too, with equal speed and comfort. Merida, Yucatan, in 7 hours; Jamaica in 7 hours; Mexico City in 47 hours; South America in 1½ days; Panama in 2 days; Bogota, Colombia, in 2½ days; Rio de Janeiro in 6 days; Lima, Peru, in 4 days; Santiago, Chile, in 6 days; Buenos Aires and Montevideo in 7½ days.

It's easy to get more details, to make reservations. Call your hotel porter, see any travel bureau, or phone our Miami office, 44 Biscayne Blvd. (day or night), Miami 2-4188.

Ask about all-expense air-cruises to Havana, Nassau, Jamaica and Panama. 1 day to 10 days, including rooms with bath at best hotels, meals, and sightseeing.

BUILD THEM . . . PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

LITTLE THINGS THAT MAKE A BIG DIFFERENCE IN MOTORING SATISFACTION

We refer particularly to the convenient lockable compartment, built into the instrument board for the safekeeping of cherished odds and ends . . . a vacuum-operated windshield wiper that performs efficiently at any engine speed . . . an adjustable arm rest in the center of the rear seat . . . a new regulator for easily and quickly adjusting the front seat . . . an adjustable interior sun-visor . . . inside door lock . . . ash trays on both sides in the rear, and a cigar lighter convenient to the driver . . . to mention only a few thoughtful appointments. Little things in themselves, perhaps, but notable contributions to the pleasure and satisfaction of motoring when brought together in the smart, new 1932 Buick Eight.
